AN EX-BUND GIRL LINKS LEADERS TO IMMORALITY

Reveals Nazis Paid for Berlin Trip.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18.—A 19 year old girl told the Dies committee on un-American activities today that she and a group of young American men and women were given a propaganda course in Germany last year which included lectures on sex, sterilization and instructions in spreading of racial and religious hatreds in the United States.

Theo. Dinkelacher, bund leader who is accused by girl.

The Nazi leaders told the Americans, she testified, not to attack communism because Naziism was a higher type of communism.

The witness, Miss Helen Vooros of Brooklyn, relating her adventures as a member of the German-American bund's youth movement, also made charges of immorality against middle aged leaders of the bund, who, she said, forced their attentions upon her and her young companions.

Tells of Annoying Girls.

Both in bund camps here and on shipboard when thirty boys and girls were being taken on an excursion to Germany in 1938, did the leaders annoy and even enter the cabins of their girl protégés, Miss Vooros testified.

The German government paid the expense of the training of the bund fledglings, Miss Vooros said. They were taught to propagandize the United States in behalf of Naziism, she testified.

The young people were sent back to this country, she testified, after being taught for six weeks how to inculcate in the youth of the United States the principles of Adolf Hitler. They were instructed, she said, to spread hatred of Jews, Catholics, and Masons but to maintain a neutral attitude towards communists.

Girl Born in Germany.

Miss Vooros was born in Germany of a Greek father and German mother. She came to the United States in 1926, she testified. She joined the South Brooklyn division of the bund's youth movement in May, 1937, eventually becoming leader of her group. She is plump and dark.

The young woman said she finally quit the bund because she was disgusted with immoral conditions in the camps where bund members staged their drills and marches. The older men wouldn't leave the young girls alone, she testified.

"I thought the youth movement in the bund was just like any other organization of girls and boys," she said earnestly. "I worked hard at organizing and finally became a leader."

Enters Girl's Cabin.

At Camp Nordland in New Jersey she first encountered the advances of older men in the bund, she told the committee. She complained to Theodore Dinkelacher, a bund leader, she said, and he asked her, "What's the matter, can't you take it?"

It was Dinkelacher, she testified later, who entered the cabin of a 17 year old girl aboard the S.S. Hamburg when the youthful group was being taken to Germany for instructions in propagandizing. Dinkelacher was discovered but was not punished, she said.

"You have testified to a most astounding state of affairs," commented Chairman Martin Dies [D., Tex.]. "I think we ought to hear some of these other people who might know something about it."

Persuaded to Rejoin.

Miss Vooros said she fled back to her mother from Camp Nordland, but that Ernest Wieda, whom she identified as a South Brooklyn propaganda chief, talked with her mother and she rejoined the group.

In the fall of 1937, she said, when she was 17 years old, she learned that a party of 15 boys and 15 girls were to be taken to Germany free "to receive instructions in Naziism."

She was selected as one of the group, she told the committee. Before sailing, she was given a sealed letter by Frederick Vandenbergh, the bund post leader in South Brooklyn, who, she said, was handed it by Sev-

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

Today, for the tenth time since 1930, Chicago is the musical mecca of the nation. Tonight, for the tenth time, massed thousands will throng Soldiers' field, the city's great lakefront amphitheater, to hear and see the Chicagoland Music Festival—the world's greatest outdoor musical event.

The weather forecast—slightly warmer and partly cloudy—was favorable and indications were that attendance this year will be the largest on record. Events that made past festivals great have been retained—the massed bands, the mighty choruses, and the young singers and instrumentalists who are on the thresholds of careers.

8,000 To Form Spectacle

But there will be much that is new. For the first time in the history of the show, all its 8,000 performers will be brought on to the field in the grand entrance parade.

In addition, there will be the greatest country dance ever performed in a city setting. To lively music of 40 years ago, 1,750 persons will do the intricate ducks and swings of the square dance.

Greatest of all, the vast audience will see and hear the pretty English girl who three weeks ago was an unknown, and who now has crossed the Atlantic ocean and a third of a continent by air to appear before them as Miss Britain. She is Marjorie Farrage, whose pure soprano voice was adjudged the best in all the British Isles in a contest conducted by the London Daily Sketch.

Miss Britain Reaches Chicago.

She arrived from New York yesterday and tonight will be borne into Soldiers' field to sing two songs of her homeland. As her open car enters the south gate of the arena it will be caught and held in the glare of spotlights. While the cheers of massed thousands fill the great stone horseshoe with sound, the car will move slowly toward the platform at the north end, where Miss Farrage will have her triumph.

But this young English girl is not the only one of the major attractions of the tenth festival. Another will be John Carter, sensational young tenor of the Metropolitan Opera company.

And there will be another spectacular entrance amid thunderous applause. This time the car will carry one of the world's best loved composers—Carrie Jacobs Bond.

Composer to Hear Songs.

Mrs. Bond journeyed from her west coast home to be a guest of honor and to thrill at the sight of almost 100,000 people listening to her songs, "The End of a Perfect Day," "I Love You Truly," and "Just Awearyin' for You."

Carter is the great singing star of the festival. His golden tenor voice has moved millions since he became famous a year or two ago.

And, interspersed among these individual great, will be the 8,000 others who make the festival what it is. There will be the massed competing bands of 1,700 pieces, the massed Chicago high school bands of 1,000 pieces, and the Festival Reunion chorus of 3,500 voices.

This will be made up of three choruses—the Negro chorus of 1,000, the University of Illinois Rural chorus

JUMPING OFF PLACE

Illinois' First Free School 100 Years Old

Her eyesight was failing, but Mrs. Philena Stanhope carried her 85 years with grace and dignity. Peering through blurred eyes, she turned to the tall, graying man of 78 beside her.

"Isn't this Allen Johnston?" she asked. And then Mrs. Stanhope's face crinkled into a smile. "Remember when I rapped your knuckles with a ruler for wrong answers in arithmetic?"

Mrs. Stanhope and Johnston were sitting in the Little Woods school, on route 25, two miles north of St. Charles, last night. They were among the throng of Kane county residents gathered to commemorate its 100th anniversary.

Pioneer Has a Vision.

Elgin, Aurora, and St. Charles were tiny mill towns in the Fox river valley when Edward Brewster, a pioneer with vision, opened the Little Woods school in a log cabin two miles north of the present site.

Father Brewster he was called in 1839 when a few farmers' sons struggled through deep snow to get their first book learning from the pedagog. The zeal and persistence of Father Brewster had founded the first free school in Illinois, according to state historical records—the first school in this state supported wholly by public taxes. Previous to that the schools had been supported by payment of tuition.

His log cabin school was still standing as late as 1866. A new frame building then was erected on the present site. In 1928 the present modern two room brick structure, considered a model for rural schools, was built. The enrollment next month will be sixty.

Nine Former Teachers Present.

Nine former teachers were introduced to the audience last night by E. Earl McCoy, county superintendent of schools. Three of them had taught there in the 19th century. Of these Mrs. Stanhope, who lives in Elgin, was the dean.

Mrs. Stanhope, then Philena Switzler, was a girl of 18 when she trudged two miles from the home of her father, Samuel Switzler, to teach the Little Woods school in the winter of 1872-'73. Johnston and Miss Mae Berggren, '75, another guest last night, both residents of St. Charles, were her pupils that year.

Mrs. Stanhope recalled that sixty-seven years ago when she was the school mistress, wood fires kept the little school warm. She summoned her pupils from recess with a hand bell. And when they were unprepared, Mrs. Stanhope added, they felt the sting of a wooden ruler.

TITLED FRENCHMAN IMPRISONED IN DRIVE TO BOOST BIRTH RATE

STRASBOURG, France, Aug. 18.—A titled French dentist, his wife and his sister-in-law today felt the rigors of the national drive for more babies and cleaner morals when a local court sent them to prison for having induced the dentist's daughter, 18 years old, to submit to an abortion.

Baron Reich de Reichenstein Brombach, 54 years old, was sentenced to two years, his wife to eighteen months, and his sister-in-law to a year in prison.

Similar convictions now are being pronounced throughout France in an attempt to stem illegal practices, which reportedly have robbed the country of 450,000 babies annually.

IOWA BUS UPSETS; 1 DEAD; CHICAGO SISTERS DYING

Dubuque, Ia., Aug. 18 [Special].—An unidentified youth was killed, two Chicago women were reported dying, and four others were critically injured tonight when a Waterloo bound passenger bus plunged into a ditch and burned six miles west of Dyersville, Ia.

Two Chicagoans, who suffered fractured skulls, internal injuries, broken legs, and burns, are Miss Olie Strickland, 57 years old, and Miss Lavon Strickland, her sister, who live at 7343 South Lafayette avenue. Miss Olie was taken to a Dubuque hospital and Miss Lavon to a hospital in Manchester. Doctors said neither could survive.

Others injured were Martin Woodhouse, 40, El Paso, Tex.; E. M. Wittwer, 50, Madison, Wis.; Nicholas Blok of Dubuque, eyes burned by acid, and Paul Henkels, 28, Dubuque, the driver, who incurred severe burns and an almost severed arm.

Ford Refuses to Heed NLRB Hiring Order

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 18 [Special].—In a formal refusal to abide by a recent order of the National Labor Relations board to reinstate twenty-four men said to have been discharged for union activity, the Ford Motor company charged today that the board is attempting to deprive Henry Ford of the right of free speech.

The order commanded the company to reinstate the men and also to refrain from disparaging or criticizing labor organizational activity of the United Automobile Workers.

The company's refusal to obey the order paves the way for a hearing before the United States Circuit Court of Appeals on an application of the NLRB for an enforcement decree.

Curb on Free Speech Told.

Louis J. Colombo, Ford attorney, filed the statement with Frank H. Bowen, regional director of the NLRB. The statement was signed by P. E. Martin, Ford Motor company vice president.

"The right of free speech," the company said, "is denied to Ford or the Ford Motor company, although accorded to the advocates of communism or any other ism. It is held [by the NLRB] that even when outside organizers were publicly threatening to bring about lawless sitdown strikes in the company's plant it was a violation of law to criticize or disparage them. The order is unjustified by the facts, not authorized by the statute, and is an invasion of the constitutional right of free speech."

Will Obey Law, Not Board.

In general the company's answer took the position that the Ford Motor company always had and always would comply with the National Labor Relations act, but would not obey the order of the National Labor Relations board.

On disparagement of unions, the answer said the board had placed an incomplete and unfair interpretation upon remarks made by Ford.

"It appears in the record that Ford is of the opinion that employés are better off outside of a union than in one," the answer states. "This is an opinion which would seem to be justified by the history of the well being of the company, which always has been a pioneer in raising wages and improving working conditions. At the same time Ford and the Ford Motor company have always recognized the right of every employé to join a union or not, as he chooses."

Bargaining rights in the Packard Motor Car company plant were won by the C. I. O. automobile workers in a labor board election yesterday. Results of the election, according to Bowen, gave the C. I. O. group 6,090 votes; A. F. of L. auto workers, 1,547, and 637 votes against both organizations.

British and French Envoys Send Note to Von Ribbentrop.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—Sir Nevile Henderson, the British ambassador, and Robert Coulondre, French ambassador, called at the German foreign office today in the names of their governments. Their messages were conveyed to Germany's foreign minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop, who is remaining in Fuschl castle near Berchtesgaden close to Adolf Hitler.

Robert Coulondre.

While no information as to what the ambassadors said was available in the press conferences for foreign correspondents, it was stated that Germany has "taken cognizance of the fact that if the Danzig status quo were violated England and France would automatically stand by Poland after the first shot is fired."

Goebbels Moves Family.

Though Berlin admitted having been informed about the British and French standpoint, the official spokesman stated most emphatically that there has been no contact between Berlin, London and Paris. It also was admitted officially that Count Hans Adolf von Moltke, German ambassador to Poland, was in the German capital and would remain here.

Call It Natural Thing to Do.

Friends of the Goebbels family denied the rumors, asserting that "it is quite natural for Mrs. Goebbels and her children to visit Mrs. Goering and her family."

In some Berlin quarters it was reported that owing to the seriousness of the present situation, the 25th anniversary celebration of the battle of Tannenberg on Aug. 27 would be canceled, but official spokesmen denied the report.

Real Storm Clouds Over Berlin.

Heavy storm clouds hung over the German capital this afternoon and while they obscured the horizon, alarmist rumors circulated at top speed. If you stood on Potsdamerplatz you could hear the small dealer tell his most trusted clients that somebody quite high up had told him "it is just a matter of hours." If you turned to these clients and asked point blank: "Do you really expect war?" they would answer, "why certainly not, but things will move soon."

The striking likeness between the campaign waged against Czecho-Slovakia before its destruction and the present campaign against Poland was demonstrated again in tonight's newspapers.

"Polish authorities are losing control over the incited masses" were the words employed against the Warsaw government.

BRITON DRIVES BOAT 143 M. P. H.; BREAKS RECORD

CONISTON, England, Aug. 19 [Saturday].—(AP)—Sir Malcolm Campbell shattered all existing speed records on water when he roared over Lake Coniston today, in an average time of 141.74 miles an hour for two trips along the measured mile.

Bluebird II, with the old engine which the late Sir Henry Seagrave used seven years ago, hit its top speed on the south run when Campbell was clocked at 142.85. He came back in 140.62.

When Bluebird went past the last buoy, Sir Malcom tore off his goggles and pushed up his thumb to show he felt the record had been broken. The 51 year old sportsman sought to raise his record from 130.93 miles to 150 miles an hour.

BRATISLAVA, Slovakia, Aug. 18 (AP).—The Bratislava radio station announced tonight that "owing to the existing situation" Germany has taken military possession of Slovakia.

The announcement, for reasons unexplained, was made in English—a language which most of Slovakia's 2,600,000 inhabitants do not understand. It was learned from reliable sources that a military agreement which was ratified earlier today between Slovakia and Germany places the little Slovak army of 30,000 and reservists numbering 300,000 under German command.

With this development Germany completed the wiping out of Czecho-Slovakia, a process it started with the acquisition of the Sudetenland in October, 1938, and continued with the seizure of Bohemia and Moravia last March 15. Slovakia, at that time, placed itself under the protection of Germany and received a twenty-five year guarantee of its borders from the Nazis. However, it retained nominal independence. Its capitulation today was interpreted as a complete acknowledgment of German suzerainty over Slovakia.

German Governor to Rule.

Alarming rumors which had circulated through the capital all day seemed verified tonight. These were:

1. A German military governor will assume control in Bratislava.
2. Expanded operations by German troops in Slovak territory near the Polish border.
3. Gen. Ferdinand Csatlos, Slovakia's minister of war, has threatened to resign as a protest against domination of Slovak armed forces.
4. The Slovak national council virtually has surrendered its authority over internal affairs to German leaders.

A Strategic Border.

Slovakia's frontier extends for 200 miles along the southern border of Poland, giving German troops a chance at a wide swinging flank attack on Polish industrial centers in south central Poland should war come. The area of Slovakia is about 14,000 square miles.

The propaganda department said the military pact was secretly negotiated several months ago and that it clearly defined the German military zone by which Germany could defend Slovakia.

Between Cadca and Zilina, about fifteen miles, civilian motor trafic was repeatedly interrupted today by the movement of soldiers. Cadca is on the Polish border in the Jablunka pass south of Teschen.

Large Troop Concentration.

Slovaks estimated that between 30,000 and 50,000 German troops were concentrated in a relatively small area about Zilina and that additional forces had been sent eastward along the frontier.

Public buildings in many villages were used as temporary barracks by the German military command. German technicians were observed stringing telephone lines to the German garrison at Zilina. Some Slovaks have carried on recent agitation for return of territory near Teschen lost to Poland in the settlements last fall that followed Munich.

Called Normal Development.

BERLIN, Aug. 19 [Saturday] (AP).—Quarters close to the foreign office said early today that developments in Slovakia were "following the course mapped out when the country arranged for and received German protection."

Expanding German influence in Slovak military and political affairs apparently was regarded here as a normal development of Slovak-German relations. There was neither official nor even informal confirmation of Slovak radio reports that Germany had taken military possession of Slovakia. A German military mission which is stationed in Bratislava gives technical advice to Slovakia. Military cooperation between the states has been most intimate.

Count Csaky Sees Mussolini.

ROME, Aug. 18 (AP).—Premier Mussolini and his foreign minister, Count Ciano, conferred tonight with Foreign Minister Count Csaky of Hungary. Their talk followed long conversations between Ciano and Csaky and presumably dealt with the part that Hungary, friend of the Rome-

Berlin axis, will play if war breaks upon Europe.

That Ciano and Csaky went to Mussolini was accepted in Italian circles as meaning their conversations had led to something conclusive. The Hungarian arrived suddenly this afternoon by plane from Munich after conversations with the German foreign minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop.

Tension Over Danzig Mounts.

As tension over Danzig mounted Italian newspapers extolled Hungarian loyalty to the axis. Hungarian friendship admittedly would be of great importance if war comes.

Foreign observers said they generally interpreted Csaky's coming to Rome immediately after his German visit as a clear indication Hungary has decided to line up with the axis powers in case of war. The Fascist press reflected this view by quoting Hungarian newspapers to the effect that "Hungary intends to play an ever more important rôle in axis policy."

So unexpected was Csaky's visit that Count Ciano had to cancel appointments with other diplomats. William Phillips, the American ambassador, and the French and Japanese ambassadors were among those who had expected to see Count Ciano tonight. Count Ciano plans to leave for an Albanian tour tomorrow.

Shroud Trip in Mystery.

BUDAPEST, Aug. 18 (AP).—The Hungarian government continued tonight to shroud Foreign Minister Csaky's movements in the strictest secrecy. Count Csaky's visit to Rome was described as a personal pleasure trip, as was his stay in Germany.

But diplomats were sure of one thing—that Csaky in his talks in Germany and Italy reiterated Hungary's friendship for Poland. It can be taken for granted, diplomats said, that Csaky expounded this country's will to remain apart from any action unfriendly to the Warsaw government.

Declarations by Berlin editors that "Hungary is now Germany's comrade in arms and will act with Germany, come what may" were called untrue by a foreign office spokesman. He said there might be a "different story tomorrow."

Danzig Army Parades.

DANZIG, Aug. 18 (AP).—Nazi District Leader Albert Forster, reviewing the first parade of the newly militarized home defense force, declared tonight that "Poland has become the only possible attacker" of Danzig. For this reason, he declared, Danzig's new armaments had become necessary.

"Eight weeks ago there were no weapons in Danzig," he declared before a crowd of 25,000.

"In recent months the political situation has so developed that Danzig is constantly threatened by the country which should protect it [Poland is administrator for the league of nations] and must reckon with the fact that it may be attacked by Poland."

New Regimental Flag.

Forster presented a new regimental flag of red and black, bearing the swastika and Danzig coat of arms, and Commander Joachim Goetze replied:

"We do not want to parade. We want to fight. We want to fight for that which is sacred to us—for German blood and the homeland."

Forster called the armaments the most modern of their kind in the world, apparently referring to a number of anti-aircraft and anti-tank guns. Under her league of nations status Danzig is supposed to be demilitarized territory.

BRITISH SAY 'NO'; PERIL TIENTSIN TALKS WITH JAPS

London Balks at Including Economic Problems.

TOKIO, Aug. 19 [Saturday] (AP).—Informed Japanese sources were pessimistic today over the possibility of resuming British-Japanese negotiations following reports that Great Britain was unwilling to consider policing and economic questions together in discussing a settlement of the Tientsin issue.

The Japanese repeatedly have asserted they would not accept a division of those subjects. Progress has been made toward agreement on the policing question, but there has been a deadlock on the economic issue. The latter is, primarily, Japan's demand that Britain shift her support from the currency of the Chinese central government to Japanese federal reserve notes.

Japanese reiterated that they would not recognize any interest of third powers in the economic issue with Britain.

Stand Viewed as Warning.

LONDON, Aug. 18 (AP).—Great Britain's rejection of Japanese demands to discuss economic questions in China was interpreted in diplomatic circles tonight as an example of firmness whch might have a vital effect on the European situation. The move, these circles said, might serve as a warning to Rome and Berlin that Britain intended to be firm in Europe as well as in the far east.

On the other hand, London diplomats expressed belief the decision would make the situation in the far east extremely difficult. They saw the possibility of a breakdown of the talks on the Tientsin dispute in Tokio.

The government, through Ambassador Sir Robert Leslie Craigie, told Japan that Britain could not even discuss in British-Japanese talks the Japanese demands that the British concession at Tientsin ban Chinese currency and hand over Chinese silver reserves of about $4,000,000.

The British view, as explained by an informed official, is that in further discussions the views of other interested powers, meaning signatories of the nine power and other treaties, must be considered.

Britons Warned to Leave.

TIENTSIN, China, Aug. 18 (AP).—A new warning to all Britons to leave Tientsin promptly was given today in letters mailed to British residents by the China Patriotic Youth association. The letters said that unless Britons left quickly they might lose their lives or property.

GRANT JAPANESE PLANE RIGHT TO FLY ACROSS U. S.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18 (AP).—The civil aeronautics authority granted permission today for a Japanese airplane to fly over Alaska and the continental United States on a round-the-world flight sponsored by the newspapers Osaka Mainichi and Tokio Nichinichi.

The plane, a twin motored transport, will be flown by Sumitoshi Nakao and will carry two passengers and a crew of four.

The route from Nome, Alaska, to Miami, Fla., is by way of Fairbanks, Whitehorse [Canada], Juneau, Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Kansas City, New York, and Washington.

Officials said the permit would allow the flight to be made at any time between now and Sept. 30.

VIVIAN WILCOX.

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 18 [Special]. It was bad enough to gamble, worse to grumble—but it's all very simple now. That's the way Vivian Wilcox, blonde stage and screen dancer, viewed her husband's affairs today in the light of a divorce decree in Superior Judge Myron Westover's court from James L. Wilcox, New York commercial photographer.

Wilcox, said the young wife, who recently ended an engagement with the Earl Carroll show, liked to play cards and bet on the horses. And when he lost—which he did frequently—he became abusive, she added. The complaint set forth that the couple were married in Yuma, Ariz., July 11, 1934, and parted last March 15.

SPAIN TO SURVEY AIR MAIL ROUTE TO SO. AMERICA

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Aug. 18.—Nationalist Spain plans to send some of its airmen on a flight to South America in the next few weeks, it was learned today. The flight will have a twofold objective: To reassert Spain's cultural leadership of her former colonies, and to survey a route for airmail service.

It is understood that former war pilots have been chosen and that four Savoia planes are being outfitted in Seville for the flight, which is set for September or early October.

Maintaining an all Spanish route, they will fly from Seville to Villa Cisneros in the Spanish colony of Rio de Oro, Africa, and then directly over the South Atlantic to Natal, Brazil, a distance of 2,500 miles. Thence they will go to Rio de Janiero and Buenos Aires.

RUMANIA HALTS SHIPMENTS OF OIL TO GERMANY

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Aug. 18.—Rumania has ceased delivering oil to Germany, it was learned today. Under the Rumanian-German commercial agreement, Germany was entitled to a certain quantity of oil for which it could pay the largest part in marks instead of free currencies, which are required of other buyers. Rumanian authorities yesterday ordered the shipments halted while three German tankers waited further consignments in Constanza harbor. No explanation of this step was issued.

Russia Renews Aid to China in Air; Sends 50 Warplanes

HONGKONG, China, Aug. 18 (AP).—Soviet Russian air assistance for China, which for a time last year enabled the Chinese to contest Japanese air supremacy in vital sectors, has been resumed, it was reported today. Informed sources said fifty speedy Russian pursuit planes already are on the line at bases near Chungking, the present Chinese capital. A total of 150 additional Russian planes has reached a Russian reserve training base at Lanchow, Kansu province, northwestern China, it was asserted.

AIR PACT SIGNED; CHICAGO LINK TO EUROPE ASSURED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 18.—The new international aviation agreement negotiated here last week by a joint American-Canadian committee became effective tonight when Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King and Daniel C. Roper, United States minister to Canada, signed the document.

The pact provides authority for the creation of a network of international air lines linking cities on both sides of the border. It lays the foundation for an interchange of aviation services between any city in the United States and any city in Canada. In fact, it is a direct invitation to civil aviation operators to establish such services.

The main points in the agreement call for granting of privileges, on a basis of reciprocity, to air lines of both nations. Those of either nation will be allowed to provide service direct to cities of the other. And the planes of either country will be allowed to fly nonstop over territories of the other in providing such services as between Nome, Alaska, and Seattle, Wash.

Cuts Air Route to Europe.

In particular this agreement provides the groundwork for commencement of direct service from Chicago and the middle west to the Canadian terminals of the trans-Atlantic airways. Such direct services will be 450 miles, or roughly three hours faster than by flying over the Chicago-New York-Canada route now followed.

The pact provides that the privileges accorded by this arrangement shall be available only to air carrier enterprises wholly owned and controled by nationals of Canada and the United States. It also provides that details as to the principle of reciprocity shall be the subject of further negotiation. Operators shall obey the air laws of both nations.

Officials of the Canadian air ministry tonight said that the new agreement was signed with the hope of stimulating and promoting the sound economic development of air transportation between the two countries. Each side has agreed to refrain from imposing restrictions that might be discriminatory to the air carriers of the other. The pact will remain in force for two years and thereafter until terminated on six months' notice.

Reverses Policy.

The entire pact represents a direct reversal of the previous Canadian policy. C. D. Howe, minister of transport for the dominion, has refused in the past to hear applications by several American aviation concerns for rights to fly into Canada. Howe said here today that renewals of these applications will be encouraged.

Companies that have already announced their interest in flying direct routes from Chicago to Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal, and either Botwood, N. F., or Shediac, N. B.—both trans-Atlantic airway stations—are American Airlines, Northwest Airlines, Eastern Airlines, and United Air Lines.

Trans-Canada Airlines—the Canadian government subsidized transport line will be competing for this same route, it is indicated.

Plan Own Meet

Twelve girl pilots will emulate their male colleagues in a series of races and precision exhibitions at the eighth annual air show of the Chicago Girls' Flying club tomorrow afternoon on the Palwaukee airport in Glenview.

All of the young women flyers have earned the money to study flying by work as stenographers, private secretary, cashier, file clerk, or saleswoman. They will be flying planes whose top speed ranges from 70 to 140 miles an hour.

The girls will compete in a 65 mile round trip race to Naperville, a 25 mile pylon race, and what was described as a mysterious novelty race. There will also be stunting, bomb [flour bag] dropping, and spot landing.

YARNELL ARRIVES FROM CHINA ON RETIREMENT EVE

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 18 (AP).—Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, 64, retiring commander of the United States Asiatic fleet, returned to his homeland today on the liner President Coolidge.

The white haired admiral replied "that's for the state department to discuss," to every question concerning the significance of recent Japanese action in China and possible consequences to America.

The admiral returned from three years' service in Chinese waters to report on the current situation and receive the distinguished service medal recently awarded by congress. He was accompanied by Mrs. Yarnell.

POISON ALLEGED WINE; TWO DIE.

Dr. Clarence W. Muehlberger, coroner's toxicologist, reported yesterday that a poisonous anti-freeze solution was in a bottle labeled light wine that caused the death of two persons following a party last Saturday night in a basement flat at 6018 Stony Island avenue. The victims were Mrs. Anna Trepenaki, 52 years old, of that address, and Charles Krebs, 53, 4903 Lake Park avenue.

COST OF AIRPORT HITS 42 MILLION; MAY CLIMB TO 50

Predict WPA Project to Be in Red Years.

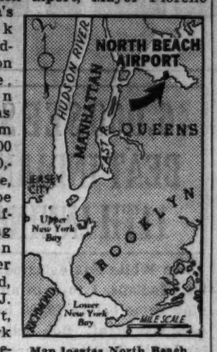
New York, Aug. 18 [Special.]—North Beach airport, Mayor Fiorello La Guardia's pet Work Projects administration scheme, which in 4 years has grown from a $5,000,000 to a $42,000,000 venture, cannot hope to be self-supporting for ten years after it is opened, Andrew J. Corbett, chief clerk of the department of docks, which will operate it, admitted today before the city planning commission.



Map locates North Beach airport.

Officially it was said this spring that the airport would cost no more than $39,000,000. However, capital budgetary requests by the department of docks, which the commission was considering today, make certain that it will cost at least $42,000,000 and indicate that nearly $50,000,000 may be poured into it before it is ready for use.

The department of docks asked the commission to authorize spending $20,000,000 on the airport, as the city's share of its cost, instead of only $16,000,000. It already has spent the $16,000,000.

After admitting that the city could not hope for the aviation project to become self-supporting for at least ten years, Corbett added: "But over a forty year period it's bound to be."

INDIANA "LIFER" ESCAPES PRISON, POLICE ARE TOLD

Jesse Worth, a Vigo county murderer who has been in Indiana state prison since 1925 on a life sentence, was reported to Indiana state police early today to have "walked away." Worth is now 62 years old. The prison did not say whether he was on the prison farm or in the prison proper at the time of his disappearance. He was first missed about 7 p. m. yesterday. State police were not notified until about 1:30 this morning.

SOVIET GIRL ACES FLY FOR VISITING ALLIED GENERALS

MOSCOW, Aug. 18 (AP).—Three girls from a Russian factory presented a special stunting act at the annual air show today. This performance was intended especially for the British and French military missions here for general staff talks.

The girls, described as spare time pilots, performed with three planes in formation. Their breath-taking loops and rolls awed thousands who watched the show at Tushino airport.

Predict Speed on Moscow Pact.

LONDON, Aug. 18 (AP).—Well informed quarters predicted optimistically today final steps would be taken to solve political issues standing in the way of agreement on a Russian-British-French mutual aid pact.

Talk of speedy conclusion of this agreement followed reports that military staff discussions of the three powers in Moscow were proceeding quickly and well.

C. I. O. GIVES IN TO ARMOUR ON CONTRACT PLAN

Withdraws Demands for One National Pact.

The Packinghouse Workers Organizing committee, a C. I. O. affiliate, yesterday withdrew its demand that Armour & Co. sign a collective bargaining agreement on a national scale. Previously the union had threatened a strike in all Armour plants unless such an agreement was reached.

Van A. Bittner, chairman of the PWOC, announced the change of front in the office of Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins in Washington. He said the union would negotiate with the packing firm on a plant by plant basis, provided contracts to be made are put in writing.

"Otherwise," he added, "the strike, already authorized, will be called. The modification of our demands was made as a concession to prevent a strike."

Seeks Peaceful Settlement.

Secretary Perkins, who had conferred earlier in the day with officials of Armour & Co., said she was hopeful a peaceful solution would be reached. She added that the company had expressed willingness to abide by the national labor relations act, and to let its local plant managers negotiate on working conditions and wages with accredited unions.

The Armour representatives, headed by Vice President H. S. Eldred, left for Chicago after the conference with the secretary. Their views on whether contracts would be verbal or written were not disclosed.

However, the company already has agreed to negotiate in plants where the PWOC has been chosen as sole bargaining agent.

"You and your associates are welcome to meet with the local management of each plant at any convenient time you wish," President Robert H. Cabell wrote Bittner on Thursday, "to present any subject for bargaining."

Bittner's announcement of his change of front on the contract plan confirmed a statement to this effect in Cabell's letter.

Contract Is Main Issue.

The demand for a single contract covering all plants in which the workers are dominated by PWOC has been regarded as the most serious obstacle to a peaceful settlement of the dispute. Armour has twenty-nine plants. Elections have been held in eighteen and thirteen of these were won by PWOC. There are no designated bargaining agents in the other plants.

Armour & Co. had maintained that a national contract was impractical. Bittner countered with the argument that local managers were not empowered to negotiate. Secretary Perkins said the company officials assured her the powers needed had been given the managers.

Definite proposals for negotiations were submitted to the company by the secretary of labor and are to be considered over the week-end. Two conciliators of her department, John R. Steelman and John L. Connor, have been assigned to help formulate a settlement.

DON'T USE FORCE AGAINST ARABS, GOLDMAN WARNS

GENEVA, Aug. 18.—A plea to Zionists not to resort to force in Palestine was made today at the Zionist congress here by Rabbi Solomon Goldman of Chicago, head of the American Zionist organization.

Although several left wing speakers had recommended combating Arab terrorism by counter-terrorism, Rabbi Goldman warned the congress: "Only madmen can urge the Jews to measure their strength against the British and the Arabs."

"The Arab economic structure is toppling rapidly," he said. "Arabs have left the country by thousands. The Jewish use of force undoubtedly can add to the chaos. It may bring more destruction, but scarcely an ultimate victory."

Rockford Furniture Union Rescinds Strike Orders

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 18 (AP).—Members of the United Furniture Workers of America, local 707, a C. I. O. affiliate, tonight voted to rescind their authorization for a strike next Monday at nineteen furniture plants. George Stewart, business manager of the union, said the 1,200 members voted to have their bargaining committee resume negotiations with officials of the factories. The union seeks a new contract providing increased wages and a closed shop.

TELLS OF EFFORT TO BRIBE MAN TO BLAST BRIDGES

W. D. Browne.

A statement attributed to John L. Leech, Portland, Ore., house painter, said Police Detective William D. Browne of Portland and an unidentified Oregon man had told him to "name his price" if he would testify Bridges was a communist.

An affidavit by A. C. Bundy, a friend of Leech, also said the detective had hinted Leech might go to jail if he refused to give the information and had told Mrs. Leech, mother of six children, "what nice things could be done with money." Bundy was hidden in Leech's home, he said.

The government seeks to deport Bridges to his native Australia on the charge he is a communist and that the communist party advocates violent overthrow of the government.

The statement and affidavit were identified by Miss Craney Goldman, Los Angeles stenographer.

GARAGE MAN, TWO HELPERS SUE FOR BAN ON PICKETING

Suit for an injunction to restrain stranger picketing by local No. 272 of the Auto Livery Chauffeurs, Taxicab Drivers, and Garage Helpers' union, an American Federation of Labor affiliate, was filed in Superior court yesterday in behalf of Marinus Hvid, owner of a public garage at 3514 North Halsted street, and two employés, Allison Harrell and Charles Gilliam. The bill states that there is no employer-employé dispute in the garage, and that the employés are not members of the union, are satisfied with working conditions, and have been given a free hand in labor affiliations. According to the suit, filed by Attorney Irving J. Siegal, the garage has been picketed twenty-four hours a day since last March.

70 ARE INDICTED AT MINNEAPOLIS AS WPA RIOTERS

Federal Action Based on Violence in Strike.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 18 (AP).—Criminal indictments were returned against an estimated seventy defendants by the federal grand jury here today as an outgrowth of the recent riotous WPA strike in Minneapolis.

Based on strike violence climaxed by the death of two persons and injury of many others, the indictments charge violation of section 28 of the 1939 emergency relief act. That section makes it a felony to prevent federal work relief clients from obtaining their relief benefits.

All secret because none of the defendants is under arrest, the indictments were returned in a report to Federal Judge Robert G. Bell. Work was started immediately issuing bench warants for the arrest of those named.

Score of Witnesses Heard.

The grand jury's action followed an investigation of four weeks, in which scores of witnesses were called. These included many women workers in the Minneapolis WPA sewing project, around which most of the violence occurred; policemen, federal investigators, and others.

The same secrecy which cloaked the investigation, during which newspapermen and the public were barred from the floor of the federal courts building in which the grand jury met, masked the return of the indictments.

Not only were the names of those indicted withheld, but United States Attorney Victor Anderson refused to give out the exact number. Well informed sources, however, said the estimate of seventy was close.

1,000 Pickets in Clash.

Violence first flared in the strike July 10, when about 1,000 pickets thronged around the sewing project and clashed with police escorting workers out of the place. John Gearty, a policeman, died a short time later of a heart attack, after he had scuffled with demonstrators.

The principal clash occurred July 14, when the sewing project was reopened. In the ensuing fight one man was killed, nine persons were shot, and eight others were injured by rocks or temporarily blinded by tear gas.

Mayor George Leach announced his police could no longer be responsible for guarding the projects, and state WPA Administrator Linus Glotzbach retorted by closing all except a few.

The strike was settled July 19 after Gov. Harold E. Stassen, Glotzbach, and leaders of the labor groups had conferred several times. Glotzbach subsequently reopened the closed projects.

DRIVERS' UNION WILL OPEN NEW MEDICAL OFFICE

New and larger quarters for the medical department of the Truck Drivers, Chauffeurs, and Helpers' union, local 705, will be opened this afternoon at 809 Madison street, the union announced yesterday. The department, which includes a director, three assistants, one nurse, and a receptionist, was opened in 1931.

In the eight years of its operation more than 140,000 cases have been diagnosed, about 56,000 cases have received minor surgical attention, and there have been 3,600 hospital cases that required major surgical work.

Services of the department are available to all members in good standing, to their wives, and to their children under 16. There never has been a limit to hospital stay, according to Thomas M. Conley, president, and Patrick J. Lavelle, secretary treasurer of the union. All employers of union members have been invited to the opening.

FALLS TO DEATH WHILE SEEKING ALPINE BLOSSOM

[Copyright: 1939: By the New York Times.]

CHAMBERY, France, Aug. 18.—A young man fell off an Alpine peak to his death today while trying to pick an edelweiss for his sweetheart. The accident occurred in the Savoy Alps, and was one of a series which claimed five lives. Auguste Loubet, 18 years old, was today's victim. He fell 600 feet while scaling one of the peaks in the Petit Chaillol chain.

The same mountain took three more lives when Henri Breuill, 23 years old, Jean-Pierre Berk, 25, and Mlle. Paulette Grodet, 25, tried an ascent from the northern approach. Halfway up they were advised to return, but they continued, tied together by the customary Alpine lifeline. Breuill slipped, dragging his companions into a 1,500 foot fall.

29 AUTO UNION PICKETS SEIZED IN TRUCK CLASH

Twenty-nine members of local 477 of the United Automobile Workers Union of America, an American Federation of Labor affiliate, were locked up in the Shakespeare avenue police station last night after they allegedly attempted to prevent a truck from taking away dies from the Revere Copper and Brass company, 2200 Natchez avenue. The union has been on strike against the company since June.

The men were booked on a charge of unlawful assembly and will appear in Racine avenue court today. Police said they curbed a truck of the American Family Scale company, 1455 Hubbard street, as it was taking out dies for scale bases which had been loaned to the Revere company. Pickets summoned reinforcements from union headquarters at 6401 West Grand avenue when they thought the Revere company's dies were being removed.

A. F. L. SUSPENDS PRINTERS' UNION FOR UNPAID LEVY

Reinstatement to Require Payment of Funds.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 18 (AP).—The International Typographical union was declared automatically suspended from the American Federation of Labor today for failure to pay about $16,000 in special assessments for organization drives.

William Green, A. F. of L. president, said the organization's executive council made the declaration at the close of its annual summer meeting today, but that the printers could obtain automatic reinstatement by paying up the assessment.

The special assessment of 1 cent a member per month was levied by the A. F. of L.'s national convention in 1937 at the height of the rivalry between the A. F. of L. and John L. Lewis' C. I. O.

Payment of the A. F. of L. assessment has been refused, on the ground that it is illegal, by the I. T. U. convention and by a referendum of members.

Seats Will Be Denied.

Green said that unless the payment is made, the printers will be denied seats at the A. F. of L.'s national convention opening in Cincinnati, O., Oct. 4.

The suspension action immediately became one of the principal problems to be taken up at the I. T. U.'s national convention, which opens tomorrow in Fort Worth, Tex. In a statement there, Claude M. Baker, president of the I. T. U., said he had done everything in his power to prevent the suspension but had been unable to do so.

Baker said emphatically the suspension did not in any way imply the I. T. U. would seek to affiliate with the C. I. O.

Actors' Peace Fails.

Efforts of the A. F. of L. council to settle a jurisdictional dispute among actors' unions blew up tonight when President Green announced negotiations would not be resumed until the federation holds its October convention.

The Associated Actors and Artists of America [4-A] had asked the A. F. of L. to force the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employés [I. A. T. S. E.] to revoke the charter it gave to the American Federation of Actors. This charter was granted after the 4-A had expelled the A. F. A., a union of vaudeville and circus performers.

Revocation Ordered.

The A. F. of L. last week ordered the I. A. T. S. E. to revoke the charter, and also proposed that the 4-A take back the A. F. A., headed by Sophie Tucker.

"The representatives of the 4-A," Green announced tonight, "rejected our efforts to bring peace."

"It is indeed ironic," said a statement issued later on behalf of the 4-A, "that when the 4-A for the first time in its twenty-nine year association with the A. F. of L. comes to its parent body for a square deal it gets what is without question an unjust verdict. The executive council's action forces us to consider terminating our relationship with the A. F. of L."

The Inquiring Reporter

The Question.

Do you think automobile insurance should be compulsory?

Where Answered.

The Answers.

Carl F. Adams, Port Huror, Mich., manufacturer—By all means. Most of the damage in automobile accidents is done by drivers who have no financial responsibility. Any person who is financially able to own and operate an automobile is well able to carry insurance, both as a protection for himself and the public.

Florence M. Whitlock, 2100 Lincoln Park West, office manager—Yes, I do. Carrying insurance for an automobile you are driving is not only protection for yourself, but it also protects the other fellow in the event of an accident. Certainly the person who wants to enjoy the pleasures of driving should be compelled to have insurance or not be permitted to drive.

David X. Meyers, 5423 Hyde Park boulevard, garage operator—Absolutely. This is the only way for persons who own cars to protect themselves and others in case of accidents. Too many accidents these days are caused by drivers who are financially irresponsible. Requiring them to carry insurance would keep the irresponsibles off the streets.

Joan Herron, 5532 Kenwood avenue, stenographer—Yes, I think automobile insurance should be compulsory. It would seem that the cost of such insurance would not be any hardship to a person who is able to own an automobile. I should think a driver would want to carry insurance for his own security and protection.

Manuel J. Davis, Washington, D. C., attorney—Every automobile owner should be compelled to carry insurance to protect other motorists and pedestrians. Compulsory insurance should be as necessary as the drivers' license and safety laws. If such a requirement became a law many irresponsible drivers now operating old jalopies on the streets would not be allowed to drive.

WATER MAY BE BLOWN OUT TO FLOAT SQUALUS

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 18 (AP).—A possibility that the $4,000,000 submarine Squalus might be raised without pontoons and towed to the Portsmouth navy yard, whence she sailed on her fateful voyage May 23, was advanced tonight by Rear Admiral Cyrus W. Cole, directing the salvage of the stricken submersible.

After an inspection by divers of the Squalus' new resting place 92 feet below the surface and a conference with salvage officers, Admiral Cole declared he might order the hull blown clear of water. He added the salvagers might use the rescue bell, with which thirty-three men were rescued from the Squalus when it sank in 240 feet of water, to lower men into the forward battery and control room to reach key points of the Squalus' drainage system.

However, Admiral Cole said, none of the bodies of the twenty-six men who lost their lives in the Squalus would be removed until the vessel reaches the navy yard.

CHICAGO LOSES ITS WARM HEART TO MISS BRITAIN

Festival Singer Thrilled by City's Glamor.

BY MARCIA WINN.

Marjorie Farrage, a sparkling little English soprano, embarked wide-eyed on a new adventure yesterday. She came to Chicago.

To her, until two weeks ago a gay but unknown bank clerk in the north of England, Chicago is the axis around which her universe revolves. For she came to it to sing tonight as Miss Britain at the tenth annual Chicagoland Music Festival.

She is 20 years old and tiny. Until Wednesday, when she left Europe on the Dixie Clipper, she never had been up in an airplane. She never had heard a police siren, never seen a skyscraper, never in her wildest dreams thought of coming to what she calls the "other side of the world."

Crowd Acclaims Singer.

But yesterday she not only beheld an amazing panorama of the western hemisphere, in a swift flight from New York to Washington to Chicago, but she was received by it with a startling, frenzied adulation which in her country is reserved for queens who have thrones, but not voices.

When she stepped off the plane in Chicago, Oscar E. Hewitt, commissioner of public works, greeted her in the name of Mayor Kelly. James C. Petrillo, president of the Chicago Federation of Musicians, greeted her in the name of music.

When she arrived at the Stevens Hotel still another surprise was in store. An entourage ten yards long of managers and bellboys conveyed her to the royal suite of eight rooms, its windows opening on Lake Michigan.

Thrilled by Sight of Lake.

With a typically British gesture, she rushed to fling open the windows and thrust her head out.

"And this is Chicago?" she cried. "Oh, it's lovely! It's terrific! I didn't see anything like this," with a wave of her hand toward the blue waters of the lake, "in New York. This is what I want—Chicago!"

But she had only a minute here, not long enough to change her crumpled rose satin blouse or to comb her yellow curls. Another troop of officials was waiting to take her to the festival luncheon in the hotel's grand ballroom, where 2,600 persons were waiting.

A Greeting from Home.

"You darling," she cried. "I must see you. I, too, am from Darlington in County Durham. We're so proud of you."

Inside the hotel ballroom, heavy with the excitement of waiting persons, all at first was dark. Then some one hoisted Miss Farrage to a platform and a flood of lights was thrown upon her. The applause came again, again, and again.

"Thank you so much," she told the crowd. "It is so lovely, so very, very lovely, to be here. I know that England is proud to have you do this for me, and I hope that I will make her proud."

When the luncheon was over she was rushed back to her hotel for a host of engagements.

"What did I like best all day?" she mused. "O, it was all so lovely. But most of all?——" and she paused.

"Most of all," she said slowly, "was Carrie Jacobs Bond—when she kissed me."

EAGLES CONDEMN RED DANGERS TO NATION'S LIBERTY

A resolution condemning communism and citing its dangers was adopted yesterday by delegates to the forty-first annual grand aerie convention of the Fraternal Order of Eagles in the Morrison hotel.

The delegates, from forty-two states, Alaska, and Hawaii, also voted to continue the Eagles' fight to stabilize employment. One phase of this would consist of passage of the Eagles-Ludlow bill, which would create a national commission intended to prevent future depressions by a continuous study of economic, business, and financial conditions.

Conrad H. Mann of Kansas City, Mo., managing director of the order, told the delegates national administration of old age pensions is wrong and that they should be handled locally.

Three Chicagoans Revealed as Rescuers in Boat Mishap

Three Chicagoans yesterday were revealed as the rescuers Wednesday of Harry Wulfer, 7471 Prairie avenue, who was saved in a boat accident near Grand Junction, Mich. His friend, John Martin, 349 East 81st street, was drowned. The rescuers, previously reported as nearby fishermen, were Miss Virginia O'Connell, 20 years old, daughter of Detective Walter O'Connell of the Shakespeare avenue station, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Timmerman, 2652 Altgeld street.

Bob Burns' Wife Injured When Boat Seat Tilts

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 18 (AP).—Mrs. Bob Burns, wife of the film comedian, is in a hospital with a fractured vertebra. Burns said she was injured Wednesday while they were on a fishing trip in their power cruiser. "I was in the bow, raising the anchor," he explained, "and Mrs. Burns was in the raised control seat to help me get under way. We neglected to clamp the seat tight and it tilted back suddenly, hurling her to the deck."

POLICE RESCUE GAS VICTIM.

A note found by neighbors in the doorway resulted last night in the police rescue of Michael Sawiak, 49 years old, 7515 Dobson avenue, who was found unconscious on the floor with all the gas jets open.

ALABAMA LISTS 4,500 HOMELESS IN FLOODS' PATH

Selma, Ala., Aug. 18 (AP).—Alabama counted millions of dollars in crop and property losses and 4,500 homeless tonight while storm-bred flood crests shifted down into the basins of the Alabama and Cahaba rivers.

A fleet of boats shuttled through the distressed areas on rescue and relief missions. Four launches worked from an oil tanker towed to the confluence of the Alabama and Cahaba with food supplies for 600. Many families were marooned on high ground, and C. W. Wynn, directing Red Cross relief, reported a coast guard plane sighted eighty inundated homes in the Alabama basin and 250 along the Cahaba.

A tropical storm which moved in from the gulf last week-end dumped rainfall measuring from 5 to 16.91 inches over central and south Alabama by dawn today.

Heelprint Brings Capture of 2 Burglary Suspects

SYSTEM SET UP TO SPEED MUSIC FESTIVAL TRAFIC

Arrangements have been perfected to move the throng to and from the Chicagoland Music Festival at Soldiers' field tonight with a minimum of delay and annoyance. The gates at Soldiers' field will open at 6 o'clock.

Here are the transportation facilities:

STREET CARS—Any eastbound car in Cermak road or Roosevelt road, which may be reached by transferring from almost any north and south line. The terminal at 18th street for the Cermak road cars is a bit closer to the gates.

BUSES—Any No. 26 Jackson boulevard bus marked "Aquarium" or "Grant Park." South siders may transfer at Balbo drive and Michigan avenue. North siders may transfer at Michigan avenue and Jackson boulevard. Shuttle service to the field also will be operated from Randolph street and Michigan avenue and from the Roosevelt road station of the elevated.

ELEVATED—Use Roosevelt road station. Free transfers may be obtained to any eastbound street car or bus direct to Soldiers' field.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL—Use Roosevelt road or, preferably, the 18th street station. Special trains and regular interurban trains will make these stops. Short walk to gates.

PRIVATE AUTOMOBILES—Free parking, regulated and guarded, for 12,000 cars, enough to meet all demands. Tipping is prohibited.

TAXICABS—A short ride [1⅝ miles] from State and Madison street.

Because a tremendous crowd is expected, it will be well to allow plenty of time for the trip to Soldiers' field.

At 9:30 p. m. the outer drive will be closed to northbound trafic at 31st street and to southbound trafic at Ohio street. This is so the pavements will not be filled with onlookers during the festival fireworks program, which is scheduled for 10 p. m. The festival program will end shortly thereafter.

Water Shortage Hits Rio; Orders Prayers for Rain

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Aug. 18 (AP).—A serious water shortage today caused Cardinal Leme da Silveira Cintra, archbishop of Rio de Janeiro, to instruct priests all over the city to pray for rain. The last rain, a slight one, fell July 27. City authorities are distributing water on trucks to those who request it.

FESTIVAL'S STARS THRILL 2,600 AT MUSIC LUNCHEON

Throng Thunders Tribute to Carrie J. Bond.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Twenty-six hundred persons jammed the grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel yesterday for the third annual musical luncheon, a gala prelude to the tenth Chicagoland Music Festival to be held tonight in Soldiers' field.

Among the musicians and music lovers at the luncheon were stars who will appear on the festival program tonight. The honor guest was the beloved composer of American heart songs, Carrie Jacobs Bond, who spoke on "Music in Life." The luncheon program reached a stirring climax when all 2,600 guests rose to their feet, applauding in a spontaneous tribute to the gracious Mrs. Bond.

An Afternoon of Thrills.

From the moment when the organ blared "Stout Hearted Men" for the march to the speakers' table to the time—three and a half hours later—when the guests joined hands and sang "Auld Lang Syne" in unison, there was one climax after another to thrill the throng.

Philip Maxwell, festival director, was the master of ceremonies.

First on the program was the drum and bugle corps of the Commonwealth Edison American Legion post, with perhaps the loudest music ever heard indoors. Radio station W-G-N's mixed octet offered a little familiar music, and two of last year's festival winners, Lois Tschappat, soprano, and Roy Glahn, tenor, blended their remarkable voices in two duos.

Guests Join in Singing.

Then community singing, high and clear and enthusiastic, and with Frank Bennett and Carl Craven alternating as directors, knit closer the bonds of fellowship of the guests.

Two of Chicagoland's most unusual musicians provided a strange little interlude of their own. W. F. Murphy, 84 years old, a courtly white haired gentleman from Iowa City, Ia., sang "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" to the accompaniment of his own violin.

Not to be outdone, Chicago presented its own Mrs. George Fergus, 92, who sang an old country serenade to her own guitar accompaniment.

One of the afternoon's big moments came when the organ pealed "Pomp and Circumstance," the crowd rose excitedly, and Marjorie Farrage, the festival's "Miss Britain," walked in and was escorted to the speakers' table.

George Ade Is Heard.

Events followed thick and fast. John T. McCutcheon, dean of cartoonists and a Hoosier by birth and sympathy, gave his old crony, George Ade, a delicately witty introduction. Mr. Ade made a scholarly address on the subject of musical comedy, defining this art form as "disorderly conduct occasionally interrupted by talk."

Edith Mason, widely liked soprano, sang songs reminiscent of some of her great operatic triumphs here, "One Fine Day," from "Madame Butterfly," and "The Last Rose of Summer," from "Martha."

Mrs. Bond told, with a sly sense of humor and a delightfully wicked chuckle, of her early experiences trying to get a foothold in the world. Twin climaxes to her appearance were Miss Mason's singing of "I Love You Truly" and her own reading and playing of a little song about a golden wedding.

Mayor Kelly sent a telegram to the luncheon in which he expressed his appreciation of the festival's contribution to civic welfare.

Soldiers' Field Gates

Map of Soldiers' field numbers the gates for patrons of Chicagoland Music Festival tonight. Tickets will be on sale at some gates.

The remaining reserved seat tickets for the Chicagoland Music Festival at Soldiers' field tonight will be on sale today and during the evening at field gates. They also will be available in the Tribune Public Service offices at 1 South Dearborn street and in Tribune Tower until 5:30 p. m. Prices are 50 cents and $1.

A few remaining general admission seats at 25 cents will be sold at gates 27 and 28 at the field starting at 8 p. m. If these are exhausted, standing room tickets will be sold at the same price.

The advance sale of reserved seat tickets has been the heaviest in the festival's history. At 10 a. m. a reserved seat ticket booth will be opened at gate O, at the south end of Soldiers' field. Five other field booths will be opened at 6 p. m., the time at which the gates open. One of these booths will be at gate O, two others at gates 15 and 27, on the west side of the field, and the other two at gates 16 and 28, on the east side.

52,000 SOLDIERS TAUGHT LESSONS OF NIGHT COMBAT

Plattsburg, N. Y., Aug. 18 (AP).—Most of the 52,000 men engaged in the nation's greatest peace time maneuvers deployed in the darkness of northern New York hills tonight to continue a series of battle exercises begun at dawn.

For the regular army units, comprising approximately 30 per cent of the total force, there was little prospect of rest after a long day of "fighting." Carrying light packs and no camping equipment, the regulars planned a night of activity involving attack and counterattack.

VENDERS' CRIES TO BE SILENCED DURING PROGRAM

Any refreshment vendor who cries his wares tonight at Soldiers' field after the Chicagoland Music festival has started will be discharged, according to Fred Dillon, field concessionaire. He has hired five men who will move through the audience to watch for violations of this order. In addition, Chief James B. Kerr of the park district police has assigned plainclothesmen to the same duty. Vendors will wear numbered badges so they may be reported if they offend by hawking their wares.

Though the forecast is not for unfavorable weather, precautions have been taken in the event of rain in the late afternoon. Frequent announcements on radio station W-G-N will inform listeners whether the festival will be presented tonight. If postponed, it will be tomorrow night, beginning at the same hour.

Don't forget to bring your matches! The great match lighting event, which thrilled the audience last year, will not be effective unless every one strikes a match, doing so at the instant the signal is given. If you don't carry matches, be sure your cigaret lighter is working.

Persons attending the festival need not buy programs that may be on sale outside or inside the gates. Clip and take with you the complete program that appears on page 5 of this edition of THE TRIBUNE.

Amateur photographers will be able to snap the festival's opening events by daylight. Later, floodlights will make possible other pictures. The fireworks at the close of the evening will be good photographic material.

FINAL CONTESTS OF MUSIC FETE WILL BE TODAY

Final contests in several divisions of the tenth Chicagoland Music Festival will be held today. The man and woman singers who will have their chance at fame tonight in Soldiers' field will be among those selected from a field that began as several thousands but now has shrunk to dozens. The winners will be announced tonight at the field.

The preliminary vocal contests will begin at 10 a. m. in the Drake hotel. The finals will start there at 2 p. m.

The first contests of the day will be those of the competing bands, which will be held in the Lake Shore Athletic club, 850 Lake Shore drive, and at radio station W-G-N, 445 North Michigan. These will start at 9 a. m. At the same hour, instrumental solo contests will begin in the Medinah club, 505 North Michigan avenue, and the finals for baton whirlers will get under way in Soldiers' field.

The Chicagoland choral competition will open at noon in the Drake hotel. All the contests are open to the public with an admission charge of 25 cents.

Two other preliminary events will round out the afternoon. They are the rehearsals for out of town members of the massed accordion band to be held at 3 p. m. and of the University of Illinois rural chorus at 4 p. m. Both will be at Soldiers' field.

Omit Concert Because of Music Festival

Because of the tenth Chicagoland Music Festival at Soldiers' field tonight there will be no Grant park concert. The series will be resumed tomorrow evening.

of 500, and the winning and competing massed chorus of 2,000 voices. And there will be the 100 piece Festival Symphony orchestra under the direction of Henry Weber.

Contrasting with the great standard, classical, and folk music will be the festival's newest feature—the introduction of swing music. Thomas [Fats] Waller, whose jazz style of playing has made him famous, will be there with his swing band.

The great audience will have its part, too. Not only will there be community singing for all of such beloved songs as "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," but the crowd also will take part in a thrilling event attempted last year for the first time. This will be the match lighting stunt.

Field to Be Blacked Out.

At command from the master of ceremonies every light in the huge field will be shut off. It will be a complete blackout. Then, at a signal, every one in the audience will strike a match or snap on a cigaret lighter.

The effect is amazing. The entire amphitheater seems to burst into flame. For the scene to be effective every one should have matches and should strike them at the instant the signal is given.

Concluding the tenth of these mass music spectacles will be the greatest fireworks display in its history. Frank Duffield and the technicians of the Thearle Duffield company have been working many weeks to complete the fiery extravaganza for tonight's show.

Bombshells that will split the heavens with sound and lurid color will mark the intervals between the magnificent set pieces and fiery tableaux that will light up the field.

FLYERS TAKE OFF AT FOX LAKE IN NONSTOP EFFORT

William Solberg and Homer Seavey took off at 12:57 a. m. today in an airplane at the Lake Region airport, Fox Lake, in an attempt to better the nonstop flight record of 343 hours 46 minutes. The present record holders are Humphrey and Hunter Moody of Springfield.

The aviators plan to refuel by hauling up cans of gasoline from a speed boat on Fox lake. Their ship is a Piper Cub with a 55 horse power Lycoming motor. The course to be followed is from the home airport, which they operate, to the Kenosha, Wis., air field.

Solberg is 40 years old, married, and the father of four children. His training was received in the navy. Seavey is 24 years old and single.

BITE OF A SPIDER HELPS REUNITE FATHER AND SON

Wichita, Kas., Aug. 18 (AP).—A father and the son he had believed dead nearly fifteen years have been reunited—thanks to a black widow spider.

John Maxfield, Wichita war veteran, was bitten by the spider last spring and entered the veterans' hospital. He told attendants he and his wife separated nearly fifteen years ago, Mrs. Maxfield keeping their baby son, Robert. He had heard from neither since then.

Investigation by the hospital disclosed Mrs. Maxfield died five years ago and that the boy had been placed in a children's home. He was found living with the J. W. Brinkerhoff family near Wooster, O. The reunion followed.

BOY, 9, HURT IN 2 STORY FALL.

Robert Hirst, 9 years old, was taken to County hospital yesterday after he fell to the concrete areaway from the second story window of his home at 3843 Grenshaw street. He suffered a fractured ankle and foot.

A CROSS-COUNTRY SEARCH TURNS UP $250,000 HOARD

'Penniless' Uncle Leaves Estate to Nephew.

The strange story of an elderly man who was believed to be nearly penniless when he died last December, but whose estate is now found to be almost $250,000, was unfolded yesterday by Jack Rubens, chief investigator for the public administrator's office. Rubens uncovered the assets by tracing brokerage and bank accounts and safety deposit boxes in both the United States and Canada.

The dead man was Frederick D. Michael, 75 years old, who had frequently used the alias of Daniel Bartok. Other names under which he went occasionally were M. D. Frederick, Robert D. Radford and Frederick Dalton. He died of a heart attack last Dec. 28 in the Harrison hotel, 57 East Harrison street, where he had been living for several months.

Leaves Estate to Nephew.

Among his effects was found a will leaving his estate to a grandnephew, a namesake, who lives at Greensboro, N. C. The younger Michael, who is 35 years old, came here after learning of the older man's death and told Rubens he believed there was a considerable estate.

Rubens made a further examination of the elder Michael's papers and found that he had a $25,000 account with Harris, Upham & Co., brokers at 135 South La Salle street.

Then Rubens discovered Michael rented safety deposit boxes at the First National bank and at the Columbus Safe Deposit Vaults, 31 North State street. Each box contained $70,000 in cash and securities. Next Rubens learned of an account of $6,000 in a bank at Montreal, Que., and an additional $5,000 in securities in that bank.

The investigator's further efforts brought to light a $5,000 account in a bank at Seattle, Wash., and $55,000 in a safety deposit box in a bank at Kenosha, Wis. Most of these accounts were held in the name of Bartok. Identification of Bartok as Michael was made through comparison of handwriting specimens.

Recover $236,000 in Assets.

"I've uncovered $236,000 in assets thus far," Rubens said yesterday, "and have recently learned that Michael had another safety deposit box in Los Angeles, Cal. That will be opened shortly and may yield more funds and securities. All of the fortune, under the will, goes to the grandnephew."

Michael, before the depression, was a wealthy hotel owner in St. Louis. He was reported to be worth a million dollars. He never married. His nearest relative is a brother, J. L. Michael of Cedar Rapids, Ia., who is not mentioned in the will. In recent years his relatives had no contact with him. What prompted him to spread his assets to different cities and why he lived in frugal circumstances still remain mysteries.

SECRET IS OUT! GEORGE ARRIVED AT ZOO SUNDAY

Now it may be told. George is at the Brookfield zoo—has been, in fact, since last Sunday. But Director Edward H. Bean didn't announce his arrival until yesterday when it appeared that George would survive his mother's indifferent treatment.

George has sad eyes and a fluffy coat. When he struggles to his wobbly legs he stands 42 inches high and weighs 75 pounds. George is a camel—a Bactrian camel—with two flapping humps.

George's mother took one look at him, lifted her snout, and swayed to a far corner of the camel yard. So Director Bean took a hand as a foster mother. He supplied George with an ample quantity of goat's milk. George surprised Bean yesterday by suddenly sprouting two teeth. He is gaining in vigor daily.

NAB EX-CONVICT FOR BURGLARY.

William Davis, 62 years old, colored, of 520 East 43d street, was arrested yesterday as he was leaving a residence at 4440 Maypole avenue, where he said he had stolen $7. Davis told police he was a former convict and admitted four burglaries in recent weeks.

William Kennedy points to the three teeth he saved by flight.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 18 [Special].—William Kennedy, the boy who yielded to that impulse and ran when the dentist turned his back, was back home today, a bit bedraggled, but with all his teeth. William, who is 11 years old, was taken to the dentist and seated in the chair, ready to have three of his first teeth pulled, when he saw his chance to escape. He was gone over night.

WILLIAM S. HART CLEARS NAME IN PATERNITY CASE

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 18 (AP)—William S. Hart, western screen star of years ago, today won what Superior Judge Thomas Gould called a belated vindication in a paternity case. The judge returned a trust fund now worth $13,265 which Hart set up twenty years ago for a boy not his son, as first claimed.

William S. Hart.

Two years after Hart created the fund, the boy's "mother," Miss Elizabeth MacCaulley, confessed she adopted the boy in Boston from his real mother, Mrs. Lucy Webb, now of South Lincoln, Mass., and brought him to California to confront Hart.

Hart appeared today in a characteristic broad-brimmed, weather-beaten hat to tell his story.

CARLOS E. BLACK RETIRES FRIDAY AS ADJ. GENERAL

Lawrence Regan Expected to Succeed Him.

Adj. Gen. Carlos E. Black, for seventeen years head of the state military department, will retire next Friday. His successor, to be named by Gov. Horner, is expected to be Lieut. Col. Lawrence V. Regan of Chicago, administrative auditor in the state department of finance.

Another name mentioned as a possibility for the post was that of Col. Robert W. Davis of Carbondale, commander of the 130th infantry.

Gen. Black, who ranks as a brigadier general in the Illinois National Guard, reaches the federal statutory retirement age of 64 on Friday. He has been in frail health for several months.

Veteran of Spanish War.

The adjutant general's military service began in 1896 when he enlisted as a private in the 4th U. S. infantry. He was wounded at El Caney in the Spanish-American war and fought in 30 engagements during the Philippine insurrection. He left the regular army in 1900.

In 1901 he enlisted in the old "Dandy First," now the 131st infantry, Illinois National Guard, and rose to the rank of captain in five years. Then he left the Guard for an auditing job in the Chicago city hall.

During the world war Black reentered the regular army as a captain in the quartermaster corps. After the war he returned to his job in the city hall. The late Gov. Len Small appointed him adjutant general in 1922.

Regan a Captain in War.

Lieut. Col. Regan enlisted in the old 1st cavalry in 1913 and went to the Mexican border in 1916 as the regimental sergeant major. He emerged from the world war a captain, was made major and assistant chief of staff in 1921, and a lieutenant colonel in 1924. Then years later he was promoted to colonel and chief of staff.

In 1937 Regan retired from the Guard to become executive officer of the Illinois Armory board. He returned to the Guard as a lieutenant colonel a year ago to fill a vacancy.

Relief Cases Rise

Figures of men indicate the average number of relief cases on the Chicago relief administration rolls on the first of each month for first six months of last three years.

Leo M. Lyons, Chicago relief commissioner, reported yesterday that the average number of cases on the Chicago relief administration rolls during the first six months of the year has increased to a new peak this year. The CRA year begins on Feb. 1 and the half year ends the last day of July. Lyons said that there was an average of 84,968 families and individuals a month on the CRA rolls during the first six months of 1937, 91,388 cases per month in 1938, and 112,818 cases this year. The highest number of cases in a single month this year was the 115,668 cases in June.

SEES HOLDUP; DRAWS ROBBER; HE'S CHICAGOAN

Long Beach, Cal., Aug. 18 [Special].—Among witnesses to a $6,600 holdup of the First National bank of Long Beach on July was a woman artist. She made a sketch of one of the robbers. It was so good that the police found it corresponded with a bureau of identification picture of Morris Kessler of Chicago, and a warant charging him with the crime was issued today.

Chicago police coöperated by supplying a clearer picture of Kessler and this was recognized by bank employés. Kessler was arrested several times between 1936 and 1938 in Chicago on robbery charges and never was convicted. He is 25 years old, weighs 140 pounds and has dark hair and brown eyes.

He is believed to have left the vicinity of Long Beach in an airplane on Aug. 8. Two other men also are being sought as participants in the robbery.

DAPHNE FIELD KELLEY WINS A RENO DIVORCE

Mrs. Daphne Field Kelley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Field, was granted a divorce in Reno, Nev., yesterday from Russell P. Kelley of Lake Bluff on the ground of cruelty. The hearing was behind closed doors and an agreement affecting the couple's children, Russell P. Jr., 13 years old, and Pamela, 11, was ordered sealed.

Mrs. Daphne Field Kelley.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelley were married Nov. 8, 1924, in St. Chrysostom's church. Kelley, a Chicago investment broker, is a son of the William V. Kelleys of Chicago and Lake Forest.

Shortly after the divorce was granted Mrs. Kelley left Reno for San Francisco. She indicated she would return to Chicago early next week.

BUILDERS OF CHICAGO (8)

By CALEB

AS lads of ten and twelve, my brother and I once accompanied our country-doctor Dad to the fabulous city of Chicago. There we saw the Great Kellar, still ranked among the world's masters of legerdemain; and there, in the crush of the crowd, Dad's hip-pocket was picked of a hundred dollars! Never again did Dad carry money in that pocket; and never did his offspring forget the name of that theater!

Where that boyhood memory was enacted still stands the city's monument to a man who did more to assure the theatrical greatness of Chicago than any other: James Hubert McVicker. Change and vicissitude have since eclipsed its glory; but there was a time when the most brilliant names in drama were blazoned from its facade.

McVicker was New York-born of Scotch-Irish parents, on St. Valentine's Day, 1822. His father died that same year, and his schooling was scant. Between the ages of ten and fifteen, he was a printer's apprentice, finally drifting on to St. Louis to become a journeyman printer. Setting type by day, he studied acting by night; and at eighteen was playing small parts in New Orleans. Eight years later, both he and his wife appeared on the same May night in different plays, at Rice's Theater in Chicago; then went on a tour of the U. S. and England which brought them fame and fortune. After theater-managing in St. Louis, he returned to Chicago at thirty-five, and made the city his home thereafter.

Nov. 5th, 1857, was a truly gala event. It marked the opening of McVicker's Theater, built at the then sensational cost of $85,000, equipped with the most elaborate scenery and properties in the West, and seating two thousand people. Its drop curtain portrayed the cities of Rock Island and Davenport, with their connecting bridge; and the new house was "town talk" among the 93,000 population. Here Edwin Booth (whose wife was the McVickers' daughter, Mary) played Richelieu and Richard the Third; and here, in a glittering galaxy, appeared such stars as Adah Mencken, E. A. Sothern, James K. Hackett, Matilda Herron in The Scarlet Letter, Lawrence Barrett, Charles Kean, Joe Jefferson in his immortal Rip Van Winkle, and Mrs. Scott Siddons.

To McVicker, then, Chicago especially owes the beginnings of its theatrical fame. Passers along Madison street may well pause at the doorway of this landmark for a moment's tribute. The man they salute died on March 7, 1896 . . . but his contribution to his city still speaks for a famous actor who was likewise a sterling citizen.

U. S. JUDGE FREES TEXAN; ASSAILS LOUISIANA GRAFT

Refuses to Recognize Oil Indictment.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 18 (AP).—Freeman W. Burford, wealthy Texas oil operator, who is under indictment in Louisiana on charges of conspiracy to violate the Connally hot oil act, was released from federal custody today by a judge who criticized conditions in Louisiana caustically.

"Graft will not be suppressed in Louisiana," said Federal Judge T. W. Davidson, "so long as rubber stamp men hold the seal of state and put the O. K. on the crooks that happen to be over and above them."

Indictment Unimpaired.

Assistant Attorney General O. John Rogge, in charge of the government's investigation in Louisiana, said Burford would be arrested in another federal district. He said the ruling, which also denied a removal order, would have no effect upon the Louisiana indictments, which charge that Leche and Weiss got $67,000 each from Texas oil companies when Louisiana oil was piped into Texas and sold in excess of legal limits.

Judge Davidson held that payment of $100,000 by Burford to Weiss in connection with sale in May, 1936, of his Louisiana-Texas pipeline for $950,000 was a legitimate business commission. He further held there was no evidence to show Burford knew he was a part of and contributing to an unlawful conspiracy by which the governor-elect of Louisiana and Seymour Weiss, the political boss, expected to put some money in their pockets.

Tells Payment Order.

Testimony of A. C. Glassell, then president of the Pelican Oil and Gasoline company, that $48,000 cash paid by Burford to Weiss was upon the order of Glassell and without any instruction as to why it was being done removed the last particle of guilt that may be charged to Burford, Judge Davidson said.

"Call it anything you like, commission or anything else," Rogge replied, "but it was payment of graft. The two most reprehensible persons were Leche and Weiss in the most venal transaction I ever found."

Findings of the Louisiana grand jury, Davidson ruled, were impaired by its conduct and by the witnesses that have been produced in this court.

Call Two Others Guilty.

"Leche and Weiss, his political boss," he said, "could not have pulled down this money and put it in their pocket but for Dr. Shaw [Dr. J. A. Shaw, director of the minerals division of the Louisiana conservation department] and Commissioner Maestri [Robert S. Maestri, now mayor of New Orleans and Louisiana commissioner of conservation in 1936]. They are just as guilty in this transaction from the face of the record as are any other men indicted in this case. They each stand here, and one of them has been promoted, in a sense, and the other still holds his job.

"Where the grand jury had abundant evidence, as they must have had in this case, to indict them, and failed to do so, it removes that impartiality which should go with any fact-finding body."

TWO MORE HELD TO JURY IN MAIL BOX CHECK THEFT

A young woman and a man accused by Capt. Thomas J. Callaghan of the United States secret service as members of a gang stealing $5,000 in checks from mail boxes in Chicago and other cities were held to the federal grand jury yesterday by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker. They are Mrs. Betty Manning, 20 years old, 1642 Warren boulevard, and Jesse L. Smith, 28, of 704 Madison street. Four other members of the gang were held to the grand jury Thursday for thefts of letters and forgeries of checks. Mrs. Manning's bond was set at $2,500 and Smith's at $1,500. Mrs. Manning's husband, Earl, also is under arrest and is being questioned by secret service agents.

Joseph Schoenherr, 31 years old, was arrested in a hotel at 2348½ North Clark street yesterday by detectives directed by Lieut. Andrew Aitken. A quantity of jewelry which had been stolen Thursday from a suitcase belonging to the wife of United States Senator Scott Lucas was found in Schoenherr's possession. The theft occurred in the lobby of a hotel in Springfield, Ill., while the senator and Mrs. Lucas were attending the state fair. Schoenherr denied stealing the jewelry. He said he won it Thursday night in a dice game in the hotel. He was taken to Springfield.

ADMITS HAMMER ATTACK ON GIRL IN CEDAR RAPIDS

Lowell Squires, 30 years old, a salesman of photographic supplies, was taken from Lockport to Cedar Rapids, Ia., by police last night, after he confessed a hammer attack on a Cedar Rapids girl.

Lowell Squires.

Squires was arrested by Lockport police on a charge of vagrancy. When they began finger printing him he said he wanted to confess.

"I stopped for a sandwich at a stand outside Cedar Rapids and a waitress wanted me to take her picture," he said. "I got a camera and told her to back away so I could get a shot. Instead she came toward me. That made me so mad I picked up my hammer and hit her on the head."

Squires said he fled as the girl lay on the ground and later abandoned his car. The girl was Bernice Vavricka, 15 years old. She was not injured seriously.

BOOKIES TESTIFY AS SKIDMORE TAX PROBE CONTINUES

The federal grand jury yesterday continued its investigation of charges that William R. Skidmore, reputed collector for the Chicago gambling syndicates, is an income tax law violator.

Several witnesses were examined, most of them handbook operators. Their names were withheld by District Attorney William J. Campbell, who said he believed they would talk more freely if secrecy were maintained. It was indicated that few, if any, of those called so far have held back any information they possessed as to possible payments to Skidmore.

The grand jury has been helped, it was said, by evidence gathered during a series of raids on gambling establishments last spring by State's Attorney Courtney. Proprietors of most of the places smashed by the axes have been summoned to testify.

Bank Teller Held to Jury in $15,000 Embezzlement

SPEEDY FEDERAL TRIAL SOUGHT FOR KIDNAP-SLAYER

Oklahoma Convict Brought Back to Chicago.

Martin Ward, assistant United States district attorney, announced last night that the government will seek a speedy and early trial for Jack Russell, alias Oliver Dressler, who has been indicted for the kidnap slaying of Billy Hamilton, Kansas milling salesman. Russell was returned here yesterday from Oklahoma state prison near McAlester.

Jack Russell.

Russell's only comment was:

"All I hope is that I don't get the hot seat [electric chair]."

United States Marshal Granville T. Norris of Oklahoma, who brought Russell here by automobile, said the outlaw indicated he might plead guilty in an effort to save his life. He will be tried under the so-called Lindbergh kidnap law.

After escaping from the Oklahoma prison, Russell forced Hamilton to drive him east. Hamilton was found shot to death July 14 near Ringwood, in McHenry county. Russell admitted the slaying and said he shot when Hamilton tried to jump out of the car. Russell will be arraigned before Judge Charles E. Woodward at the September term of court.

JOLIET FUGITIVE HELD IN SOLITARY AFTER CAPTURE

Charles Emmerson, one of two convicts who escaped Wednesday from Joliet penitentiary, was in solitary confinement in the prison last night after his capture earlier in the day near his home in Rockford. Police and prison guards are seeking his companion, John McGuire, who is believed hiding in Chicago.

Charles Emmerson.

After their escape the two convicts committed three holdups, including the kidnaping of a couple on vacation from their home in Bucyrus, O. Warden Joseph Ragen said he would recommend that robbery indictments, containing an habitual criminal count, be sought against Emmerson and McGuire. Under such a count the two convicts would face life imprisonment upon conviction.

Emmerson was seized early yesterday by Fred Schweizer, one of several prison guards stationed near Emmerson's home at 322 First street, Rockford. He offered no resistance.

Partner in Engineering Firm Is Killed by Fall

James Kling, 43 years old, 3000 Sheridan road, was killed early today in a fall down a flight of steps in a restaurant at 3000 North Clark street. He was a partner in the Kling Brothers Engineering works, 1300 North Kostner avenue.

500 CAKES OF SOAP STOLEN.

Burglars stole 500 cakes of soap and 55 cans of sardines Thursday night from a store at 3004 Madison street, Manager Frank DeMarse reported yesterday to police.

New Deal Gets Lampooning in a Lively Satire

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

Du Bose Heyward.

"Now dere ain't nuthin' but time, and nuthin' to do with it," says Rhoda, the book's black goddess. "De ole folks sits down in it an' rots, an' de young ones uses it to get into trouble."

The natives believed "Noodeal" to be personified "in the form of a man in middle age, portly enough to endow him with dignity . . . in shining white, but instead of the conventional helmet his head was covered by a broad brimmed panama, and a black string tie with unusually long ends whipped to right and left in the steady breeze." He brought them a fabulous new lazy abundance, but asked in payment that the natives rise and sing the national anthem on too uncomfortably numerous occasions.

But they really did appreciate "Noodeal's" efforts to entertain them. One of the most amusing parts of the book is the tale of the official presentation of "H. M. S. Pinafore" by a native cast, with scenery and costumes which, by some slipup in federal machinery, had been intended for the Eskimo unit.

The other side-splitter is the record of the rival demonstrations of the married and nonmarried natives. One quick-thinking native, taking a split of 40 cents on each ceremony, organizes a marriage boom radically averse to the time honored and accepted traditions which the island boasted. But Rhoda, champion of Crucian rights, starts a counter-revolution. What became of reform and the reform of reform fills many hilarious pages.

The book isn't all hilarity, though, because Rhoda has a deep and true love for her land and for the toil that makes it rich, and Adam's love for Rhoda is likewise epic. With children—his, hers, and theirs—about them, they are rooted happily to St. Croix.

"Star Spangled Virgin" has little of the haunting beauty of "Porgy," and moments of laughter in "Porgy" are sometimes its guffaws. It is neither an American nor a Virgin Island Negro classic. But it is as truly and natively "black in heart" as its time-defying predecessor.

Living Philosophies

"I Believe," edited by Clifton Fadiman. [Simon & Schuster, $3.75.] Published Tuesday.

In a day when few of us know what to think and it seems that millions don't think at all, a book like this can be of inestimable help. It is composed of short, but not sketchy, statements of the living philosophies of some of the leading and best known thinkers of our day.

"The contributors are, quite candidly, all intellectuals," says Clifton Fadiman in his brilliantly critical introduction. "They believe in the intellect. Put them in a room together and they would disagree violently on many important matters. But on one thing they would agree: that man, at his best, is a reasoning animal. None of them has much faith in thinking with the blood."

Their philosophies range from the very personal and spiritually introspective to the international social, but each one, even the satirically stated, is an honest credo, set forth without muddling. And unmuddled thought is, as Mr. Fadiman points out by inference, something the world needs pretty badly these days.

Short and Unadorned

"Uncle Lawrence," by Oliver Warren. [Random, $1.50.]

From England trailing star dust of glowing adjectives comes a little book which some critics compared to "Goodbye, Mr. Chips." It is, in the American edition, exactly 155 pages long, and that, to some cynical readers, may prove its greatest charm.

It is simplicity itself—the unadorned record of a trip to Pelee, a little island in Lake Erie between Canada and the United States, made by a boy in his long holiday from Cambridge. There he visited his Uncle Lawrence, whose uncomfortable shack was the gathering place of the English expatriates. In them all was a tender nostalgia for home, but, as it did with Uncle Lawrence, Pelee held their roots.

"Uncle Lawrence" seems to this reader neither especially distinguished as a character nor as a work of art, but I hope I'm wrong and "Uncle Lawrence" makes as many people happy as "Mr. Chips" did.

Newspaper Woman's Life

"Flowing Stream," by Florence Finch Kelly. [Dutton, $3.75.] Published a week ago yesterday.

"The Story of Fifty-Six Years in American Newspaper Life" is the subtitle of this long, detailed autobiography of the woman who was, when she retired from active newspaper work in 1936, the dean of American newspaper women.

She began writing for a newspaper in 1881 when being a woman was half the battle lost in finding a job. She spent the last thirty years of her life on the staff of the Book Review of the New York Times. She wrote novels, some of which were successful, some failures. Some of the fifty-six years she had a regular full time job. Most of them, including the last thirty, she made her own jobs—"free lanced" in newspaper parlance.

Her autobiography would be a cheering success story to any one who has a talent for writing, but it is primarily a cheering success story in living. For Mrs. Kelly has made a good life for herself by being an eager, hard working part of the life of America.

Florence Finch Kelly's autobiography is really more concerned with what this keen eyed woman saw about her than it is with herself, 'the flowing stream" of almost eighty years of American life."

Sutter of Gold Rush Fame Depicted as Amazing Character in Life Story

"Sutter, a Biography," by James Peter Zollinger. [Oxford University, $3.50.] Published Thursday.

Mention Sutter, and every one will know you mean the man whose name stands for the granddaddy of all American gold rushes. But take a few easy lessons from Zollinger's biography, and you will baffle your friends with some notes like these:

Johann August Sutter was a bankrupt Swiss storekeeper of peasant stock with no background whatever to explain his dizzied exploits in California; he imported Kanakas from the Sandwich Islands to found a California colony when the eastern United States teemed with the land hungry; he bluffed into virtual slavery Indians who had been intractable and warlike; he mined no gold himself, while vast quantities were being scoured from his own land and areas around it; he became a Mexican citizen and official, getting 229 square miles of land in Mexican grants; when he saw his early dream realized in the annexation of California by the United States, he lost practically all his vast land holdings to squatters who took it under an act of congress; he died in comparative poverty, after futile efforts to obtain indemnities from the government.

There is at least a ready explanation for Sutter's melodramatic career in the author's belief that he was a split personality, half incompetent business man and half grandiloquent visionary who saw himself as a swashbuckler and forthwith became one. In this, and in his pronounced love of bottled merriment, are acceptable reasons for his superbly daffy history.

James Zollinger's book is well indexed and notes indicate it deserves the claim that it is the most exhaustive and accurate biography of the Lord of the Sacramento. F. D. S.

Strange Undertones Here

"The Wings of the Morning," by Edward S. Hyams. [Little, Brown, $2.50.]

The strange, almost eerie undertones that weave their insistant way through these two novels provide their one similarity.

"On the Night of the Fire" is a swiftly paced novel that combines the adventuresome spirit of a mystery tale with the somber, analytical technique of a psychological study. Admirable use of restraint has enabled Mr. Green to chronicle theft, insanity, murder, catastrophe, pursuit, and the tortured workings of a repressed, egotistical mind without once becoming flamboyant or artificial.

Edward Hyams talks a great deal without saying what it is he is talking about. Yet his novel has a pervasive interest that keeps one reading, just as one might huff and puff on up a rocky trail in some bizarre western canyon. Death unites four persons unknown to one another, but linked by fate, and they proceed, with a deal of surrealistic conversation, to become Charlie McCarthys for Mr. Hyams' philosophical Bergen. The book lacks technical finesse, but it offers mental stimulus in a small way similar to that found in the works of Joyce and Stein. W. D.

Tennis Court Murder

"Death Serves an Ace," by Helen Wills and Robert Murphy. [Scribners, $2.]

On the famed center tennis court at Wimbledon, with royalty watching, two girls—the champion and the challenger—are playing a hotly contested set in the finals. The champion serves and suddenly her opponent collapses, dying as the ball whizzes past her.

There is a novel start for a mystery story and the talented Miss Wills and her collaborator make the most of it. There is every element of thriller formula here—a missing body, strange goings on in London society, a sinister South American gambler, a crazed art collector. A Scotland Yard sleuth, who had his training in America, takes charge. He and the tennis champion's boy friend have much grief on their hands before the solution emerges. S. M. K.

Foreign Scene Viewed from Differing Angles by 12 Newspaper Men

"We Were There," by twelve foreign correspondents. [Putnam, $3.]

Twelve English foreign correspondents, several of them known in this country, have each contributed a chapter to "We Were There." It is an omnibus of personal and often exciting adventures, combined with numerous behind the scenes glimpses of history in the making during the turbulent post-war era.

Douglas Reed, author of "Insanity Fair," writes of the lighter side of news gathering during the darkest moments in Europe. Reed was at Von Hindenburg's funeral at Tannenberg. He saw Hitler, prepared for one of the biggest moments of his career, handed the wrong speech by an orderly, so that he delivered the same oration he had given the day before in the reichstag.

"We Were There" contains never a dull moment and much information. J. H. T.

Nobel Winners.

Reveals Nazis Paid for Group's Berlin Trip.

erin Winterscheidt. Asked where Winterscheidt was at present, she answered that he was in prison.

Committee Counsel Rhea Whitley explained that Winterscheidt was convicted on a morals charge involving a 10 year old girl.

Hugo Haas, former Ridgewood, N. Y., bund leader, was in charge of the group, she said. Among his other instructions, she told the committee, was one warning the girls and boys away from a dangerous character named Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, German prize fighter, who was aboard ship.

Greeted by Nazi officials, the group was taken to Hamburg, her story continued, and on May 1 they met Hitler in the Olympic stadium. Hitler saluted them and they saluted back.

"Mr. Goebbels [minister of propaganda] was with the Fuehrer," she said, "and he kept staring at me because I was so dark in comparison with the blonde people around me. I was flattered and smiled back, but I realize now it was dangerous because he said I had an Asiatic cast of countenance."

The group was taken to a camp outside Berlin where they received a six weeks' course in training, Miss Vooros testified.

Nazis Hope to Rule Europe.

"We were told," she said, "that national socialism was sure to control the whole world eventually. Germany would swallow most of Europe gradually and get her German colonies back, they told us, and then in fifteen or twenty years would be ready to turn its attention to America.

"It was our duty, they said, to prepare the way for that day. We were to go back and tell other young people that the Jews were dangerous and so were Catholics and Masons. They said all religions were unnecessary because national socialism was a religion in itself."

"What was said about the American form of government?" Dies inquired.

"We were told it was wrong because it was controled by Jews," the witness replied. "They told us that President Roosevelt had a strain of Jewish blood.

Not to Fight Communism.

"We were instructed to trade only with Germans and to buy only German products. They told us not to bother about the communists, because Naziism was a higher type of communism.

"One lecture was on morality. We were told not to curb our instincts so long as only Germans were involved. It was pure and noble to yield to your instincts then, the lecturer said. The girls were told not to be ashamed of illegitimate children.

"But if a German girl had anything to do with a man of another race, especially a Jew, then her children would be sterilized. We were given a detailed explanation of how men and women are sterilized."

When she returned to the United States in June, 1938, Miss Vooros did some talking, she said, and was sent for by Fritz Kuhn, national leader of the American bund, who was a witness yesterday. Kuhn told her, the witness testified, that she might regret injudicious talking and that he could not be responsible for what might happen to her.

1,100 HEAR BUND SPEAKER DERIDE DIES COMMITTEE

About 1,100 persons attended a German-American bund's rally last night in Harms park, 4201 North Western avenue. Capt. Daniel Lynch of the North Damen avenue police was present with a detail of thirty men, but there were no disorders. F. W. Kunze of New York, the bund's national public relations director, spoke and a movie was shown, titled, in German, "Echoes from the Fatherland." It included scenes of industrial, military, and youth activities. Kunze reviewed activities of the Dies committee investigating un-American activities, and said Fritz Kuhn, head of the bund, has "made a monkey out of the committee."

Four motorists were sent to jail yesterday by Judge Francis Borrelli in Safety court for serious trafic violations. Their driving privileges also were suspended for a year.

Mrs. Bernice Bolton, 32 years old, 1933 Warren avenue, was sentenced to twenty days in the Bridewell for leaving the scene of an accident. She pleaded she had just been married Monday.

Theodore Wanlitz, 2317 North Keating avenue, got thirty days in the Bridewell for driving while intoxicated. Anthony Francione, 135 Mulford avenue, Evanston, received five days in the county jail, and Foye Bishop, 1063 Monroe street, got ten days, both for leaving the scene of an accident.

Joseph Siracusa, 405 South Ashland avenue, who failed to appear Monday to answer charges of reckless driving and driving through a stoplight, surrendered yesterday. Judge Borrelli ordered him locked up and increased his bond from $50 to $2,500.

Drivers' licenses of five other motorists were impounded pending disposition of their cases.

CHICAGO BOUND BUS SKIDS AND UPSETS; SIX HURT

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 18 [Special].—A transcontinental bus bound for Chicago skidded in the mud and overturned near Kingston Mines today, injuring five passengers and the driver and shocking eleven other passengers.

The five passengers injured were Mrs. Bertha Errion of Peoria, Mrs. Elizabeth Leasure of Quincy, Florence Spohin of Walton, Ind.; J. G. Griffith of Blackwell, Okla., and Lettie Diggins of Pasadena, Cal. The driver, Everett Starman of Quincy, suffered a wrenched back, but refused hospitalization to help care for the passengers.

CAR-TRUCK CRASH IN IOWA FATAL TO WILMETTE MAN

David S. Miller, 21 years old, 106 6th street, Wilmette, was killed yesterday when his car and a gravel truck collided on a narrow bridge near Marshalltown, Ia. A companion, Miss Marjorie Hanson of Mason City, Ia., was injured seriously. Police said L. T. Baker of Newton, Ia., driver of the truck, failed to yield right of way to Miller.

Miss Esther Mochan, 52 years old, 444 Deming place, died last night of injuries incurred Thursday when she was struck by an auto at Deming place and Stockton drive. The car was driven by Dr. J. Lewis Stettauer, 5454 South Shore drive.

John L. Caravassos, 67 years old, died in County hospital of injuries suffered Aug. 9 when he was struck by an automobile at 97th street and Western avenue. He lived at 3223 Polk street. Lowell Hoy of 11516 Champlain avenue, a WPA engineer, was the driver of the car.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 511 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 397 were killed in Chicago, where 13,423 were injured in trafic accidents in the same period.

URGE HEAVIER FINES TO CURTAIL ERRATIC DRIVING

Stricter enforcement of trafic laws and heavier punishment for violators was recommended yesterday by the city council committee on trafic and public safety. A subcommittee was directed to survey the existing scale of fines with a view to increasing penalties on the most common offenses.

"It is the so-called minor violation that often leads to the most serious accidents," said Ald. George D. Kells [28th]. "We need larger fines to discourage breaking of the law.

"The trouble in trying to educate drivers is that they judge the law according to the fine. They don't stop to think of the serious consequences until it's too late. Apparently we need heavier penalties to impress upon them that the city means business."

Gets a Year for Beating and Robbing Woman, 70

Robert Reed, colored, of 2010 Emerson street, Evanston, was sentenced to a year in the Bridewell and fined $100 yesterday by Judge James M. Corcoran in Evanston Municipal court for petty larceny. He also was fined $100 for assault and battery. He was arrested after he beat and robbed Mrs. Martha Kirkland, 70 years old, a widow, of 1508 Hinman avenue, Evanston, on Aug. 10.

EUROPE IN THE WAR DANCE.

The gloss of optimism on some of the official comments in European capitals does not seem to find any justification in the news day by day. The prospect grows blacker and blacker. Possibly the heads of government know something of these maneuvers of which the public is ignorant.

It may well be that Italy does not want to fight for Herr Hitler and Danzig. It's a certainty the Italian people do not want such a war. Very likely they do not want any kind of a war. Why should they? They are intelligent. They know how much they can suffer and how little they would get for it. Mussolini might stop Hitler if Chamberlain can't. Possibly that's the hope.

Events themselves are prophetic of great evil. The Polish frontier is already a line of skirmish. It was remarked in Warsaw that a few more killings couldn't possibly make the situation worse than it is. Let the reprisals continue. The German newspapers carrying on the familiar campaign of hate are trying to work German feeling against the Poles to a white heat with stories of the persecution, killing, and imprisonment of Germans in Poland.

The spectacular air maneuvers of the French and British in test flights over France and over Britain are calculated to make the people resigned to the inevitable. The continent is in a whirlwind of propaganda by radio and by mail, crossing the boundaries and seeking to arouse the fears and break down the morale of the various peoples.

The test of nerves has been going on for several months. Hitler's troop movements are for this purpose. The nations are already in large part mobilized. They are ready to strike. Their whole internal economy has been geared to war. That is the only thing for which they have been organized. War is the foundation of their industrial life. These forces may get out of control.

The gloomy forecast for Europe comes out of these dark clouds.

PRINCES IN THE DOGHOUSE.

King George's nephews, Viscount Lascelles, aged 16, and the Hon. Gerald Lascelles, aged 15, are in the doghouse. Together with some other Eton boys they were permitted to see a new anti-aircraft gun now being supplied to the British army. When they got home they wrote about the weapon in their newspaper, the Harewood News, which is printed on a typewriter and boasts a circulation of 200. This was a crime under the official secrets act and the war office "takes a grave view."

We suspect the war office will temper justice with mercy and mention the incident only because it illustrates how different are the private lives of the various royal families. In this country the Hon. Jimmy is encouraged to get it. His mother has her day in quite a number of Suns, not to mention Stars. Nobody in the White House takes a grave view of anything and least of all of the goings-on of the princes of the blood royal and their consorts. They can do no wrong and if they could it would no doubt be bad for their sacred egos to interfere with their pleasure, not to say profits.

CARROT TIMBALES.

On the word of Miss May E. Foley, nutritionist at Massachusetts State college, motorists subject to night blindness ought to eat lots of carrots. Carrots have quantities of vitamin A and a good stiff serving before a drive will keep the eyes alert for hours on end.

This is probably the best news for epicures that has come out in some time. Now it will be proper to devour carrots anywhere, and at any time, in the general interest of safety. Raw, they may be carried in the pocket and munched on the job, at the wheel, or as hors d'oeuvres in the most genteel company. Eaten in early evening they will prove invaluable toward preparing one for the rigors of a double-feature motion picture. Taken in quantities prior to a blind date, they will rectify the beauteous, but often dangerous, errors of the moonlight. In the office they will fortify against the microscopic print of leases, insurance contracts, government regulations, and similar prolix documents which often hide interesting and portentous little facets from the weary eye. A brace of carrots at a poker game will be worth many times their weight in blue chips.

Further, these roots, long renowned as producers of fine complexions, lend themselves to easy preparation for the most discriminating and prejudiced of palates. You may eat them raw, simply as full-blown, golden gleaming umbelliferæ, or diced, cubed, sliced, in salads, or sandwiched. Or, you may prefer them boiled, stewed, mint glazed, as carrots poulette or carrot timbales.

Carrot timbales! There is a dish! Heat up two cups sliced carrot, one tablespoon butter, with boiling water to cover. Strain and add one egg, one egg white, salt and pepper. Mix well. Garnish with cooked egg, set in pan of hot water, and bake forty-five minutes in a moderate oven. There is nothing comparable, unless, perhaps, it is carrot and sauerkraut salad, a recipe too well known among gourmets to need repeating here.

CAESAR AND THE CROWN.

The staging of the New Deal "Caesar and the Crown" act was continued at Springfield, Thursday, with Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson in the principal rôle. The occasion was Governor's day at the state fair. Included among the other Romans who used the crown as a horseshoe trying to make a ringer were Mayor Kelly, Senators Lucas and Slattery, State Chairman Hershey, and F. Lynden Smith of the Horner cabinet. They were for the third term—the life term—for President, senators, governors, and mayors.

Of Mr. Jackson's ardor there could be no doubt, but a bungling in the program arrangements resulted in a misadventure. He was the last speaker to address the faithful, who were seated in the amphitheater of the racetrack. He collided with what was to have been the opening of the harness races and was trying to talk after the radio time had run out. The citizenry preferred to get the races started rather than to be pepped up for the third term. Mr. Jackson's remarks were drowned out by applause which was not for him but was for the hosses. He quit in disgust before he had finished his oration and before he came to what was to be his crashing finale: "He is our Lincoln!" Then a heavy rainstorm washed all the proceedings out, including the races.

The New Dealers' kidnaping of Lincoln in their desire to offer the crown to their Caesar strikes Republicans as somewhat of an historical outrage. Their chief himself has been rather fond of the Andrew Jackson tradition and apparently has thought that he was carrying it out in the best manner. Many people will fail to perceive many of the qualities of Abraham Lincoln in Franklin D. Roosevelt. There was a modesty and introspection in Lincoln not disclosed in the New Dealers' chief. Mr. Lincoln had an understanding even of the people who thought he might be wrong and there seldom was a time when a solution of national problems would have been made impossible by his ungenerous attitude toward his opponents.

Persons who are conducting the third term campaign are politicians who are afraid of what will happen to them with a change of administration, radical collectivists, and communists who know that the revolution blows up unless there is a third term, and persons who came into high place out of obscurity with the New Deal and who know they will go back to oblivion with it. They will lose Eden and the thought of that possibility is distressing.

Amateur adventurers in government who have fed crazy schemes to Mr. Roosevelt and who have spent the country's money have led an intoxicating life and it will be death to give it up. They had a nation as their plaything and a chief who has never balked at anything however preposterous or ruinous. These sorcerers' apprentices are sincerely devoted to their jobs. Although Mr. Browder of the communist party beat them to the offer of the crown, they have been carrying on the work ever since.

Ordinarily there would be little mystery in the meaning of all this and there probably need be no mystery now. The procedure would be regarded as the method by which the White House occupant sought, well in advance of the meeting of the nominating convention, to break down the traditional feelings of the people regarding a third term, to accustom them to the idea that a third term would impair no important principle of government and to start a ground movement which would result in an irresistible offer of the nomination.

Silence in the White House would protect the chief, who would seem not to associate himself with the efforts of his subordinates. Opposition could not center upon him personally, because he would have said nothing indicating he sought or wanted four more years. If this silence should be carried unbroken to the moment when a spellbinder presented the name of Mr. Roosevelt to the delegates, a resulting third nomination, if it could be thus maneuvered, would be placed before a man who could say in the circumstances he could not decline the responsibilities his party laid upon him.

The reasonable assumption is that this is the maneuver now being executed. Mr. Roosevelt's New Deal job holders could be stopped by him if they displeased him. If he did not like their barking he could call them off. If they thought they offended him by drafting him for imperial place they would be silent. Knowing that they do not offend him they try to ingratiate themselves and keep their jobs. They are a liveried claque in the imperial halls.

The third term—in the White House, in the governor's office, in the city hall—is a preliminary to permanent tenure in office, tenure for life regardless of behavior. The republic admits no theory of indispensability. When it does it will not be a republic.

C. ARTHUR ANDERSON, VENTRILOQUIST.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

Why is the Congressional Record weighted down with so many inconsequential and interminably dull speeches? Without attempting to answer the question in all its implications, we can explain why the issue of the Record for Monday, July 17, was extraordinarily fat and flatulent.

That is because it devotes fifteen full pages to a speech which purports to be by Representative C. Arthur Anderson of St. Louis, but which Mr. Anderson did not write, which he apparently had never read, and which treats of a subject on which he frankly confesses his ignorance.

The speech itself is a rambling, incoherent treatment of the banking and monetary system of the United States, attacking in particular the federal reserve system. It was written by South Trimble, clerk of the house of representatives. The following paragraph, from a letter which Trimble wrote to Mr. Anderson and which Mr. Anderson passed on to his complaining constituents, explains the whole matter:

> In our many conversations I have taken the position that there is nothing fundamentally wrong with this country except our banking and monetary systems, and you have agreed with me. I said to you, as I have said to many other members that you were not familiar with the intricacies of the monetary and banking systems, and I would be glad to prepare a speech for you if you would deliver it, to which you agreed. . . . When you informed me that you had been allotted time for the speech I hurriedly assembled the material and handed it to you without reading the finished product, and I know that you did not have time to read it.

Thus it was that pages 12970 to 12984, inclusive, of the Congressional Record of the 76th congress came to be printed. Entirely independently of the nonsensical flubdub of which the "speech" consists, we submit that this incident sets a new high in utter and unabashed congressional irresponsibility.

A LESSON IN HISTORY.

Upon the wall of our favorite dining room in the Tavern club, among a collection of war posters, there is an historical document. We often look at it, as the Danzig crisis runs its slow, feverish course, and read it with forebodings. It was a death sentence for millions of men, for it was placarded all over France on the eve of the world war. We will translate:

"Army of the Land, Army of the Sea: General Order of Mobilization:

"By decree of the president of the republic, the mobilization of the armies of land and sea is ordered, as well as the requisition of animals, vehicles, and harness needed for the full equipment of these armies.

"The first day of mobilization is [date handlettered] Sunday, Aug. 2, 1914.

"All Frenchmen subject to military duties must, under penalty of punishment with all the rigor of the laws, obey the directions in the section on mobilization [colored pages placed in his booklet]. Every one is subject to the present order who is not now in service with:

"1. The army of the land, including colonial troops and men of the auxiliary services.

"2. The army of the sea, including registered sailors and marine munitions workers.

"The civil and military authorities are responsible for the execution of this decree."

At the bottom of this printed sheet, far below the official seals of the ministry of war and the ministry of the marine, in small type, there is a printer's identification: "Imprimerie Nationale, 3-143-1904."

Thus it may be seen that this announcement was prepared ten years before the outbreak of the great war. The date, 1904, coincides in European history with the friction between French and German imperialism in Morocco, the birth of the "entente cordiale" with England, and the Algeçiras conference which adjusted that dispute.

Across the roof o' fleecy cloods,
Mon, what a gorgeous sicht!

When the Wine of Wuerttemberg Was Red

You speak [Aug. 16] of King Wilhelm II. of Württemberg, whose wine was served for many years at Chicago's Cannstatter Volksfest [Schwabenverein picnic]. In my childhood [the early 90s], my father took me to Stuttgart every summer, his mission being to select the wine for shipment to Chicago. I saw the king often. Perhaps you would like to hear about his end:

Came the revolution, and some misguided rats stormed the townhouse where he lived in preference to his palace. They killed several servants and yelled for the king. Wilhelm appeared, and quietly asked them what was wanted, whereupon the Reds, somewhat tamed, ordered him out of the place.

He departed that night with Queen Charlotte [his second wife] to his hunting lodge, Bebenhausen. He told the crowd that he would never set foot in Stuttgart again. He kept his promise; a few years later he died of a broken heart. The funeral cortège drawn by horses went around Stuttgart to Ludwigsburg, although the three places are in a line.

The cortège passed the villages at night, and my father wrote me that there was hardly a dry eye among the thousands of spectators that lined the road, many kneeling. Wilhelm, he was a man! He lived for his people, and spent practically all of his fortune building hospitals, homes for the poor, etc. C. O. R.

GO-TO-SLEEP SONG.

God made the night for rest, and not for worry,
The kindly dark drifts down on tired eyes;
Hushed is the clamorous day and calmed its hurry;
Bathed in tranquillity, the spirit lies.
God never meant that man should wake and wander
Through tangled maze of "has been" or "may be";
God never meant that man should wake and ponder
Over the day's distress. God sets man free
To roam at will a fairyland, or rest.
God meant the night for this, and God knows best.

The End of a Perfect Bet.

Uncle Allen kicked like a mule to Uncle Jerry about the coffee he got at home. Jerry replied that the coffee at his house was worse. The result was a five buck bet. When Allen suggested that they each bring a thermos to the 8:27 and leave it to three guys, Jerry wanted to know what the thermos was for. "To keep the coffee hot, stupid," sez Uncle Allen. "Give me the five bucks now," sez Uncle Jerry, "'cause ours ain't even hot to start." Uncle Joe L.

We favor folk who do not joke

NIGHT TERRORS POINT TO EMOTIONAL STRAIN.

NIGHT terrors which occur in perfectly normal children need not be regarded with any great concern. Nevertheless they should be avoided if possible as each represents a shock of no mean degree. They appear, as a rule, between the ages of three and eight and come on shortly after the tot has fallen asleep—a half hour to two or three. Of course, if some fever is present we can explain the "why" of the disturbance. But in otherwise healthy boys and girls such seizures may be exhibited night after night for a brief time, later at monthly or longer intervals.

To the susceptible lad each episode is only too real. He may be found sitting upright in bed, screaming at the top of his voice. Not infrequently he will continue in his efforts to repulse an imaginary assailant. Sometimes flight is the dominant impulse and many a family will be startled when a youngster races downstairs crying as though his heart would break. Now and then one will attempt to climb out of a window or open the door leading to an upstairs porch. Occasionally he will be discovered crouching in terror in a stuffy closet.

These activities take place before the victim is fully awake. Until he comes to himself—under the comforting influence of mother—he may exclaim again and again, "That awful man; that terrible bear." A half hour of quiet and reassurance may be necessary before trembling ceases and color returns to the pallid face.

Many characters of history have recorded their youthful experiences. Jerome Cardan—he who has made so much trouble for college youths who are obliged to study mathematics—depicted the nocturnal visions which he encountered from his seventh to his twelfth years. It seems that a rooster with red wings appeared before him suddenly and shrieked at him with a human voice. Charles Dickens in later life recalled his troubles along this line and related that his nurse—"a ghoul-like person"—told him tales of "Captain Murderer" and of a huge spectral dog whose size was beyond his physical powers to repel. Not all such manifestations, however, are signs of genius. Should a child awaken his sister continuously with his shouts and tears—as did Richard Wagner—we need not assume that he will become a world famous musician.

These adventures differ from nightmares—which may come at any age—and which do not terminate in physical activity—an endeavor to escape. The individual wants to move but is unable to do so. Muscles and vocal cords seem to be paralyzed. Many authorities believe that the same basic cause may produce terrors in one child and "night horses" in another.

What part does drive at home and at school—compulsion—play? Without doubt some of these exhibitions may be termed educational and the pedagogical doctrines of Froebel have done much to introduce the pupil naturally to learning. Confronted suddenly with the necessity of doing sums many a little one may carry the task to bed with him, particularly if a fear of scolding hangs over him should he fail. In consequence, rest is disturbed and a foundation is laid for the pale, neurotic youth. Punishment or the anticipation of it does more harm than any other emotional insult.

Nervous strain should cease as the hour of slumber approaches but unless we allow the child a quieting, relaxing interim before bedtime we are likely to face many of these explosions which simulate the dashing of waves against the breakwater. One may well question the desirability of forcing a child to memorize dates, capitals, and products as abstract data. Charles Darwin early acquired the habit of confining his study—hard thinking—to one hour per day. He found that he could not do more without an overwhelming feeling of fatigue. But he used the limited period wisely.

As a rule those who suffer night terrors are bright, alert, and quick to learn. But some parents are not satisfied with average progress. As a result they urge their offspring to greater and greater effort with the creation of a jittery attitude and an unstable and neurotic disposition.

AN ALLEGORY.

Mrs. H. D. writes: Of late I have been on a milk diet. I find the flat taste caused by pasteurization most tiresome. I have heard that the process is not necessary except when the drinking water must be boiled on account of an epidemic.

REPLY.

A rural school committee was examining a candidate who had applied for the position of teacher. One of the members asked the question, "Do you believe that the earth is round or flat?" Whereupon the applicant replied, "Well, sir, I teach it either way—whichever you directors prefer."

Pasteurization is the only plan under which we can market safe milk. The most finicky palates will have difficulty in distinguishing between the raw and the heat treated fluid. We would increase illness among the general population considerably if we stopped the practice.

NEEDS DOCTOR'S CARE.

M. D. writes: About three months ago a friend mistook arsenate of lead for a dose of medicine. She did not realize this for a week or so. She was quite sick for a few days afterward and broke out in a rash. She is pale and has no ambition. She will not go to a physician. She says if it was going to hurt her that it would have done so right away.

REPLY.

Your friend has taken two poisons—lead and arsenic. While the aftermath may not be serious, she should have skilled medical care. Late symptoms include anemia, constipation, and general debility. A blood count should be made to determine the quantity of red coloring matter as well as the number of cells contained in the fluid. Use all your powers of persuasion to get her to a competent physician.

A THOUSAND CAUSES.

Mrs. T. G. writes: Could the menopause be the cause of a peculiar look about the eyes and excessive fatigue, or are these symptoms an indication of something serious?

REPLY.

There are about a thousand causes for the symptoms you mention—eyes and fatigue. If they persist a physical check-up is strongly advised.

PLEA FOR OTHER BOYS.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—There was a tragedy in a home in our city. A young, healthy boy, just graduated from grammar school, met with a violent death while riding a bicycle. I knew this boy real well and he was a careful rider. His home is very empty now and his parents are bravely carrying on.

Wealthy people have bridle paths furnished by the city. What about our less fortunate younger generation? Why can't they have some place besides the city streets for their bicycles? They are not allowed in the city parks or any public grounds. Why don't some one do something about this for the safety and happiness of our youth?

JOHNNIE MCCARTHY'S KIN.

HE'S GOT IT ALL SETTLED.

Dowagiac, Mich., Aug. 16.—The great mass of silent voters who swing national elections one way or the other are getting a great kick out of the Democratic and Republican candidates who are in a scramble trying to capture the nomination for President in 1940.

Among the Democrats we see Garner, Farley, McNutt, Kennedy, Jackson, Clark, and one or two others.

But the whole bunch are pigmies as compared with one man who towers head and shoulders above them. He is not only the biggest vote getter in the history of this country but he is by far the shrewdest politician and our greatest statesman. He is going to be drafted by the Democratic convention and it's dollars to doughnuts he will be reëlected for a third term by a greater majority than ever. It's plain as day and you can't laugh it off. O. M. C.

WHY NOT IN LINCOLN PARK?

Chicago, Aug. 16.—Just across the street from Lincoln park, behind billboards in a garbage infested vacant lot, there has been erected an "acting bar" for boys in this neighborhood. Almost any time of day now you can see from two to ten small boys learning new tricks and circles and having the time of their lives on this bar. The enthusiasm they show when one of them learns a new trick, say the "big drop," the "knee circle," or the "propeller spin," is a pleasure to behold for any one who enjoys seeing children at play.

But why don't the boys play in beautiful Lincoln park? Well, if they get caught playing ball the police will chase them and sometimes take their bats away from them.

A few acting bars and other outdoor gymnasium and playground equipment scattered around our parks would do more to brighten up these parks than all their gorgeous automobile drives.

OLD TIMER AND NEW TIMER.

Chicago, Aug. 14. — An Old Timer started to work at the age of 9; worked fifty-six years; averaged sixty hours per week; got twelve vacations of one week each; retired at 65; died at 70. Assuming the New Timer started at the age of 20; gets a vacation of two weeks every year; averages forty hours a week; lives and keeps on working until he equals the Old Timer's work record. What will be the age of the New Timer when he overtakes and equals the record of the Old Timer? G. H. KIEL.

[N. B.: The New Timer will be 107 years old when he overtakes the Old Timer in service.]

ENTERTAINING HAWKERS.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—I, too, have heard the refreshment laddies at Grant Park with mixed emotions, some of them similar to those expressed by Mr. Veitch [TRIBUNE, Aug. 14]. But I've noticed that listening to the hawkers' sales talk is high entertainment during the half hour spent waiting for the program. I get the savagely mournful plea of the high pressure salesman claiming that he doesn't have to cut off his head to show you his blood is red, does he? So why must he ram this here candy bar down your throats to prove it's good?

Then there's the cold drinks dispenser whose sales line of chatter is, "Last time around—get your cold drinks now"; the exasperated comment of one tired vendor that you have to be a magician, not a salesman, to sell anything in this crowd, and the refreshingly monotonous chant of the boy with the Bronx twang whose "Popcorn—buttered all over—peanuts—popcorn" is a fascinating rhythm pattern. Novels have been written about less than these.

Somebody tell Mr. Veitch to forego his esthetic relaxation and join in the fun. He might even buy a peanut or two.

ALICE WALLING.

WITH US AS TO EUROPE.

WHAT ABOUT BUCHANAN?

Fort Wayne, Ind., Aug. 14.—Apropos of THE TRIBUNE cartoon of our chief executive, I have wondered why a memorial to house his immortal state papers never has been erected by a grateful people to the radiant memory of the nation's fifteenth President, James Buchanan. Why President Buchanan did not foresee that a worshipful posterity would make a beaten path to the door of such memorial and make suitable provision for it while still alive and in process of recording his unparalleled presidential success is hard to understand.

Such a precedent would have encouraged his successors in office to duplicate the marvelous presidential triumphs of their eminent prototype.

If I were not on relief I would, myself, even at this late day, make a substantial contribution to a movement to repair the neglect of a graceless populace so undeservedly enriched by the great prewar executive. HARRISON BOGELY.

NOT DEAF, BUT CANNOT HEAR.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—I know I am not even slightly deaf, but the habit of supposedly intelligent people in speaking so softly as to seem to be whispering and of mumbling words and slurring syllables has me baffled. It is embarrassing to ask to have a word or sentence repeated, and if one still does not hear, to ask again. It is easy to speak distinctly and clearly, in a voice that is audible, without speaking too loudly. R. M. R.

MARRIAGE ACT.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In what states near Illinois is marriage of first cousins legal, and what is the Illinois law? What is the status, legally, of first cousins legally married in a state permitting such marriage, when residing in a state not permitting it? What is the legal status of their children? C. B.

Under section 1 of the Illinois marriage act: "Marriages . . . between cousins of the first degree [and closer relatives] are declared to be incestuous and void." Our Supreme court has held [281. Ill. 123] that such a marriage [presumably celebrated here] is not merely voidable, but void.

As to marriages celebrated elsewhere, the general rule [38. C. J. 1276] is that "The validity of a marriage is determined by the law of the place where it is contracted; . . . An exception to the general rule, however, is ordinarily made in the case of marriage repugnant to the public policy of the domicile of the parties, in respect of . . . incest." Cousin marriages being incestuous by statute would seem to come within the exceptions and be void.

While the issue of such marriages may be legitimate under section 18 of the marriage act, we advise that the parties make such provision by will, adoption, etc., as they would make if the marriage were invalid and the children illegitimate.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

DELAY REQUIREMENT ABOLISHED.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I married a woman on May 21, 1923. She was divorced on July 7, 1921. Was there a law at that time that you had to be divorced two years before marrying again? J. W.

The statute abolishing the delay requirement expressly validated marriages previously celebrated in violation of that requirement. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

Miss Sherman to Be Guest at Many Parties

BY JUDITH CASS.

THERE are two distinct cycles of parties each September, one for the autumn debutantes and the other for autumn brides. Each is gay. The end of summer will be especially gay for Miss Eleanor Sherman and Robert Knox Vincent, who are to be married on Sept. 16, the six young men and women who will attend them, and their close friends.

The T. Lloyd Kellys are giving a cocktail party tomorrow in the Buckingham Chandler house on the Indian Hill club grounds. The Kellys have leased the house for the summer. The James Gaspars [Lois Truesdale] and Miss Mary Lou Laird will give a picnic at the Gilbert Scribners' cabin on the Des Plaines river on the 27th. The following Wednesday, on the 30th, Miss Sherman's cousin, Roger Sherman, and his wife and father, Lucius B. Sherman, will give a beach supper at the latter's home in Winnetka.

Mrs. Hugh Foresman is giving a luncheon for Miss Sherman, Miss Jane Littell and Miss Elizabeth Kelly on Sept. 1. Miss Jean Armstrong will give a dinner for Miss Sherman and Mr. Vincent on the 9th, and the Davis Kirbys will give a scavenger hunt for them on Sept. 2. On the afternoon of the 10th the bachelors with whom Mr. Vincent has been sharing an apartment at 1209 Astor street will entertain at cocktails. This last party and the Kirbys' party will be given also for Miss Littell and H. Prentice Browning, who are to be married in October. Mr. Browning is one of the 1209 bachelors, and is to be an usher for Mr. Vincent, along with Mr. Kirby, and T. Ames Wheeler of Detroit.

Louise Sherman Will Be Maid of Honor.

Miss Louise Sherman will be her sister's maid of honor. Miss Armstrong will be the bridesmaid. Frank W. Vincent Jr. will be his brother's best man. He and his wife live in Middlesex, where the former teaches French at the Middlesex school. The wedding will take place at 4:30 o'clock in the chapel of the Winnetka Congregational church. A reception will follow at the Indian Hill club.

The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Sherman, will give the bridal dinner on the night of the 15th at their home in Winnetka. After a wedding trip Mr. Vincent and his bride will be at home on the near north side. The hosts at the cocktail party on the 10th will be Henley Simpson, Robert Bird, Millard McGuffin, Donald Wetterauer, John Parker, and James Olson.

Miss Kelly, daughter of the Gilbert W. Kellys of Kenilworth, and Arthur G. Lyeth Jr. of Boston will be married on the afternoon of Oct. 14 at the Kenilworth Union church, with a reception following at the Indian Hill club.

Phoebe Ogden Prentice Will Become Bride.

Announcement is made by Mrs. Charles Pelham Curtis Jr. of Boston and Clarence Clark Prentice of Lake Forest of the engagement of their daughter, Phoebe Ogden Prentice, to Allen Dewing of Hartford, Conn. Miss Prentice is well known in Chicago, having visited her father here several times. She will come west for a visit with him and his wife, the former Mrs. Leslie Wheeler, in September. The wedding is planned for later in the autumn.

Miss Prentice is a member of the Boston Junior league. She made her debut in Buffalo two years ago after a year of study in Paris. Mr. Dewing is a graduate of the Kent school and a member of the class of 1934 at Yale.

Kenneth Hess to Wed California Girl.

From Pasadena comes an engagement announcement of interest here because the young man is a Chicagoan. He is Kenneth Hempstead Hess, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Miner Hess of Wayne and Chicago. The young lady who will be his bride at some undisclosed date is Miss Georgia Sargent Clifford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert George Clifford of Pasadena.

Miss Clifford has visited here many times, for her grandmother is Mrs. Harry M. Montgomery of Evanston, and the Hess and Clifford families are friends of long standing. Mrs. Clifford was a bridesmaid in the Hess wedding and Miss Clifford was maid of honor for Miss Barbara Hess when she was married to Winfield Durbin last June.

Mr. Hess, who is in business in Chicago, is visiting his fiancée and her parents at their home on North San Rafael avenue, Pasadena. Miss Clifford is a graduate of the Westridge school and is a provisional member of the Pasadena Junior league. She attended Mills college and last year was at the Katherine Gibbs school in Boston. Mr. Hess is a graduate of the Asheville school and the University of Michigan.

Take Stock of Yourself When Romance Fails

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

If a romance—or even a friendship—seems to be fading, check up on yourself. Have you acquired any new impersonal interests to make you a more interesting person? Or have you become so absorbed in love and one person that you are leading a very narrow, very personal life? Are you in a rut? Are you just the same person you were yesterday? No wiser, no better, no richer from experience?

The first time you play a selection on the piano, your audience may be delighted. But if you played the same tune over and over again, how long would your audience stay?

A man may fall in love with a girl because she is so sweet and charming. But even sweetness and charm may grow stale unless some new element is added. If a girl or man gets into a rut, he or she is likely to be boring. To keep a friend, sweetheart, or mate, you have to keep growing.

Every day take in something new, add a little depth to your understanding, learn to enjoy tennis, books, music, or housework just a little more. Make a new friend. Walk down a different street on your way to work. If you always go to the movies on Fridays, go to the park for a change. Or vice versa. If you are a serious person, investigate a little frivolity.

It isn't necessary to travel to explore new countries. The more adventures you find in the simple things within reach, the more other people will enjoy you.

James G. Brennan will be best man. Miss Adrianna Ely will be her sister's maid of honor. After a wedding trip to Florida Mr. Burton and his bride will be at home on the north side.

At 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in the Thorndike Hilton chapel at the University of Chicago Miss Wanda Taylor, daughter of Mrs. Frank C. Taylor of 5541 Everett avenue, will become the bride of George A. Legg of Chicago. Mr. Legg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark L. Legg of Chicago and Summit, N. J., formerly of Pontiac, Ill. Frank W. A reception will follow at the Windermere East hotel.

Miss Marjorie Remington of Webster Groves, Mo., will attend the bride, who is a graduate of the Ward-Belmont school in Nashville, Tenn., and of the University of Illinois. Dr. Robert E. Bowen will be best man for Mr. Legg, who also is a graduate of Illinois. Following a motor trip through New England Mr. Legg and his bride will be at home on the south side.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.

First honors go to the background—Dartmouth; second to the leading man—Richard Carlson, a product of the middle west; third to a 19 year old bit player named Virginia Gilmore.

Somewhere in between third honors and the booby prize there is an award for Ann Sheridan, who, in this picture, leaves off "oomphing" and goes in for acting.

The booby prize is easily captured by the story.

Dartmouth was chosen for two reasons: [1] Walter Wanger, one of the more intelligent of the Hollywood producers, wanted to produce a movie in honor of his alma mater; [2] that college's winter carnival is one of America's more spectacular outdoor fêtes, so that it would be an easy matter for the camera to capture the scenic effects and the drama that lie in them.

Richard Carlson must have been chosen for any number of reasons. First of all, he can act. Furthermore, he is manly, and he has a vibrant voice. Coming out of the University of Minnesota, where he got his master's degree and was an instructor in English, he was picked to play the part of an instructor in English at another northland college. He plays it in such a way that you almost get the idea the rôle was written for him. [Maybe we have in our midst another Milton Sills, University of Chicago '02.]

Virginia Gilmore was chosen because she's an eyeful. [That girl, I predict, is going places.]

Perhaps Ann Sheridan was chosen because the best minds of the industry realized they had overplayed the "oomph" angle in her buildup campaign and needed to convince the public she was more than a walking clothes horse. She does well enough with her emoting, but she still has a lot to learn. A variety of expression, for one thing.

Why the story was chosen is not clear. This is it, in nine words: Boy meets girl; boy loses girl; boy wins girl. Somehow, that has a rather familiar ring to it. Only the background of the carnival and the student life at Dartmouth saves it from the next-to-impossible class.

A glamor girl divorces her European count and comes home. By mistake she lands back on the campus where she once ruled as carnival queen. Waiting for her, all these years, has been a strong, silent man—none other than the young professor. Now he refuses to let himself go—even though she turns on the heat. Arguments; complications. A half dozen times or so she starts to leave, but each time she manages to miss her train. Finally he tames her and teaches her that life is something more than a year round carnival. You know the rest of the plot. In fact, you could have figured it out from the beginning.

[My plot—so far uncopyrighted—for the Great American Movie: Boy meets girl; boy loses girl—for keeps; long suffering public wins relief.]

Scene Stealers.

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 19.—If things continue as they have in the last few months Attorney General Frank Murphy and J. Edgar Hoover may have to make another emergency trip to the coast to combat the wave of scene stealing which is disordering the film community.

Latest offender in this respect is Barbara O'Neil. . . . Scene of the crime was "When Tomorrow Comes," in which Miss O'Neil, restricted though she was to a few scenes, did a pretty good job of stealing the picture from such adroit troupers as Irene Dunne and Charles Boyer. . . . Reminiscent in coloring, voice and poise of Rosalind Russell, Miss O'Neil made capital use of each foot of film that Director John Stahl allowed her. And when the picture was over, the preview audience was talking of her rather than of the stars.

The 29 year old actress who accomplished this unheard of bit of scene larceny is from St. Louis, Mo., and has a fairly substantial stage background, having played on the Broadway stage with Tallulah Bankhead, Jane Cowl and Katharine Hepburn. . . . She was brought out here for the mother rôle in "Stella Dallas" and moved from that to the rôle of Scarlett O'Hara's mother in "Gone with the Wind."

Those interested in such things also might file away the photographs of Jane O'Brien, alias Jane Bryan. . . . This new scene stealer operates in and around Burbank, Cal. . . . A charge of scene thievery can be preferred against Alias Bryan-O'Brien because of the particularly reprehensible crime of scene larceny committed in "The Old Maid." . . . She victimized Bette Davis and Miriam Hopkins. . . . As a first offender, however, Alias Bryan-O'Brien could be let off with a light sentence and a warning.

While acting as a stoolpigeon against the scene stealers of Hollywood, may I point out some other infractions? . . . Richard Carlson, using a Scotch accent as a disguise, stole "The Young in Heart" and had for an accomplice Veteran Minnie Dupree, known as Minnie the Mooch in the Hollywood underworld. . . . Binnie Barnes, with a long record in England, swiped "Three Blind Mice." . . . Brian Donlevy, who operated in Wisconsin as The Sheboygan Sharpshooter, stole the preview notices at "Beau Geste," victimizing one Gary Cooper.

Henry Fonda, alias Hank the Lug, practiced scene larceny in "Jesse James" and then, with a shocking disregard for patriotism, stole "Abe Lincoln." . . . Ann Sothern did a great job of pickpocketing in "Trade Winds." . . . David Niven stole "Bachelor Mother." . . . John Wayne and Claire Trevor, acting in concert, swiped the honors in "Stagecoach."

The wave of scene thievery can be traced back a few years to one desperate minor tagged Baby LeRoy. . . . He was the first notorious offender and before he grew his first set of teeth he had the adult performers of the industry terrified. . . . As the boy grew older he became less menacing, but while he was a baby he was hell-on-wheels. . . . It was his example that inspired Mickey Rooney, Charlie McCarthy, Virginia Weidler, Baby Sandy, and Ann Rutherford.

In "Lady of the Tropics" young Gloria Franklin faced a task as difficult as prying into the United States mint. . . . Miss Franklin had Hedy Lamarr and Robert Taylor as competition and if you don't think that's a double-bill, you're nutty. . . . Yet Gloria did very nicely as the night club singer and there can be no question that her head is full of scene larceny. . . . She'll steal scenes sure as you're born when The Lamarr and The Taylor are removed from camera range.

Bert Lahr and Judy Garland do a bit of plain and fancy witchery in "Wizard of Oz," one disguised in a lion's skin, the other using a pair of red slippers as decoys. . . . Eddie [Rochester] Anderson proved that scene larceny has no color line in "Man About Town."

In "Stand Up and Fight," Jane Wyman, as the southern coquette, did everything but steal the film off Maureen O'Sullivan. . . . John Garfield, Priscilla Lane, and Jeffery Lynn turn "Four Daughters" into a wholesale debacle of scene-lifting. . . . Patricia Morrison, Nancy Kelly, Lana Turner, Vivien Leigh, Andrea Leeds, and Marjorie Weaver are not to be ignored.

The reason that the stars of Hollywood would like to have J. Edgar Hoover rush out here and break up this band of scene thieves is fairly simple. . . . The stars don't mind old-timers stealing scenes because the old-timers have passed the age limit which would make them dangerous.

But these youthful scene-stealers are a positive menace to the life, happiness and security of the current stars. . . . When a Barbara O'Neil bobs up in a picture and practices scene grand larceny on Irene Dunne and Charles Boyer, it is a bit of handwriting on the wall that has scary implications.

On the House

When rugs show signs of curling, it is likely that the "size" has disappeared. To resize a rug you can lay it flat upside down on some unused floor and let it remain stretched out and lightly tacked for 30 hours or so. Then apply a coat of shellac, a thin coat. Or mix a pound of chip glue and four quarts of water and spray this solution on the back. After this is done you will find your rug has less tendency to curl at corners—in fact, it should not curl at all! LOUISE BARGELT.

By Gouverneur Morris

(Copyright: 1939: By Gouverneur Morris.)

SYNOPSIS.

Lee Reynolds, promoter of children's acts, in the days before motion pictures, is attracted to the tenement flat of the Lichts by the singing of their little daughter, Josefa. Next day he calls with his wife and persuades the Lichts to let him take Josefa into his home and train her for the stage. Two older children, Lena and Eddie, live with the Reynolds. During a stage show Eddie's voice breaks and Josefa goes to his rescue, saves the act, and becomes famous overnight. Eddie goes away to school. Josefa is billed as Sheila Doone. Lena hides her envy and hatred of Sheila by pretended friendship. Lena and her mother, Mrs. Chancellor Bowen, move to Hollywood. Backed by Producer Emmanuel P. Leica, Lena becomes a motion picture actress in the infant industry. Leica takes Charlie Chaplin to see Sheila in vaudeville. Leica signs up Sheila. Lena, who has become interested in Harry Larch, a leading man, loses a coveted rôle in a picture to Sheila.

INSTALMENT XII.

A BRIDE WIDOWED.

Some said that Lloyd was the best director in the business. Others said he was going to be. But all agreed that he was a gentleman and a charming person. What with Lloyd's sure and certain direction and Harry Larch's solicitude to make things easy for the little girl, Sheila's jitters and camera shyness were soon past history. She worked with the utmost good nature and cheerfulness, did as she was told, and, thanks to her long training under Lee Reynolds, took to direction as a duck takes to water.

Now and then, in the midst of good work, Sheila interfered and took a tumble. Lloyd let one of these naturalistic falls stand. Late that afternoon Lena came on the set. It was sweet of Lena, Sheila thought, to take so much interest. Lena wanted to know how her protégée was getting on, and heard nothing but compliments. Sheila was a grand little trouper.

"Who—Sheila? Why, no. I can't. She fascinates me. She's the grandest kid I ever saw, and she's going to be the biggest thing in pictures."

"Thanks for the compliment."

"Do you always have to pick up everything I say and snap at me? Can't I look at a child—a baby—without making you jealous?"

Lena bit her lip.

"You'd better not make me jealous," she said. "You know I'm not 18."

"Then you lied to me."

"A woman's privilege."

"Tough, aren't you?"

"I don't have to be. I'm sitting pretty."

"I don't understand you."

"O, forget it. Don't you know when a woman's in love she doesn't understand herself?"

By the time "Timbersides" was in the cutting room, Harry Larch was in love for the first and only time in his life. He was in love with a decent, high minded, chivalrous love. Lena was vacationing in Honolulu. It was true that he had asked her to marry him, but he would get out of that. No more entanglements. By right and honorable living he would restore his respect for himself. He would wait for Sheila to grow up. And it is possible that, without interference, Harry Larch would have been true to his new ideals.

But Lena returned unexpectedly from the land of the pineapple and the hula, and when he told her manfully that he had been mistaken in his feeling for her and asked her to break their engagement, she laughed in his face and told him that she was going to have a baby. They married at once. And in his private office Mr. Leica danced for joy.

"She should have me up now for contributing to the delinquency of a minor!" he chortled.

Lena's contract stipulated that during the life of the contract she should not marry without the written consent of Leica Pictures, Inc., of the second part. That Lena should have married without his consent and then put an end forever to certain odious possibilities delighted Mr. Leica beyond measure.

He sent Mrs. Leica an immense basket of orchids and canceled Lena's contract.

"She should worry," thought Mr. Leica, "married to a star with such a salary as should be forbidden by law."

Two weeks later Harry Larch swam to the rescue of a child caught in the sea pull off the Santa Monica beach and drowned.

The motion picture world is not made up of preposterous magnates and little Napoleons who hire and fire. It is not these who shower rewards upon the stars and make them and break them. It is John Doe Public and his lady and their offspring.

John Doe Public and his lady and their offspring fell out of love with Lena Bowen early in the game, and so Emmanuel P. Leica fell out of love with her and canceled her contract and would have gladly canceled the lady herself if it had been possible. She knew too much about him.

Of course Lena had an agent, and he tried to get work for her at the other motion picture studios, but in vain. Secretly Lena will always believe that she had been blacklisted, but this was not the case. It was not really Mr. Leica who had canceled her contract but the public. It was the public which had blacklisted her.

Adversity sharpened Lena's wits, and presently she was admitting to herself the fact that as an actor in pictures she was a flop. But there were other jobs which paid well and she determined to land one of them. It was not difficult to persuade Mr. Leica to aid and abet her in this determination.

He had at this time a board of editors. Two of them were his cousins and had worked until they were bent and crooked-looking in a New York sweat shop. The duty of the editorial board was to advise Mr. Leica as to the advisability of buying this story or that and to help the writers and directors to whip the stories that were bought into shape. The board was, of course, without definite powers of any kind. It could only advise.

To appoint Lena a member of this board would cost Mr. Leica nothing. She would be just another charity in the long list supported by the stockholders, and Mr. Leica himself managed to derive some pleasant publicity from her appointment. "Hollywood's first woman editor," "Emmanuel P. Leica denies that men have a corner on creative genius. States that Miss Lena Bowen's brains will be of more value to Leica Pictures, Incorporated, than her beauty." "Noted star sacrifices screen career at the call of intellect," and so forth.

As a matter of fact, Lena had a good story mind and proved herself as good an editor as any of the others on the board, with the exception of Ashhurst. Ashhurst was a college professor, had taught playwriting, had many successful pupils to his credit, was an admirable analyst, and had stored in his mind a complete knowledge of almost all worthwhile stories and plays that have ever been written, being almost perfectly equipped to be an editor in chief. But, as he was denied the power to say yes or no or the dignity of taking full blame or credit for the company's failure or success, he soon resigned and returned to his university. And then Lena was just as good an editor as any of the other editors.

At first she took her work seriously. In other words, she began by butting her head against a stone wall. Instead of dulling her wits, this process sharpened them. And she saw the futility of it. Thereafter she ceased to be serious, and soon came to the conclusion that it was best to look wise and to oppose every suggestion unless it came directly from Mr. Leica himself.

Mr. Leica's propositions, the result of sudden hunches and inspirations, were often fantastic and impossible. But Lena found merit in them, one and all. This made it easier for Mr. Leica to swallow the universal condemnation of his advisers. She became as fixed in her job as anything is fixed on a motion picture lot, but her salary was only $100 a week and she was always in hot water about money. She had her baby to support—he looked like his handsome father, but was delicate—and her mother.

In her heydey she had bought a bungalow and two acres of land over in the San Fernando valley. And, although she could have then paid cash down, she had made the mistake of buying on time. She now lived in the house, which she had not yet paid for, and was nearly always obliged to be late with her monthly payments. So, sometimes Sheila, now sailing gayly on the crest of the wave, helped Lena out. It got to be a habit. Sheila could neither take money seriously nor give it seriously. She kept no account of the loans she made to Lena and others.

Not only was Sheila sailing on top of the wave, but Papa Licht himself seemed to be doing rather well. Indeed, under the stern ægis of prohibition, a lot of people were doing rather well who had never done well before.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a boy who loves me. But we have different ideas, and I know we will never get along. PAPOOSIE."

If you're sure now that you are incompatible, why go on? But you'll learn that in any twosome one must refuse to quarrel.

Have Them Both for Friends.

"Dear Miss Blake: He cares for me, but I like his best friend. Should I continue to see him, or should I step out of the picture?

Why not have them both for good friends? If one of them wins you, the other will have to be a good loser.

IN THE MAIL: "I have just finished making sweet sliced pickles which required simmering in alum and vinegar water. Your article today advises, 'Never use alum.' Is it harmful? I would appreciate an answer in the column, as many others will want to clear this up, too."

Alum is a powerful astringent and its effect on the digestive system is by no means beneficial. I doubt there is much harm in the small amounts which are used in old-fashioned pickle recipes, but alum is certainly unnecessary in pickle making. If the pickles are properly cured, no foreign agent such as alum is needed to keep them crisp. No good modern pickle recipe recommends its use.

AN OLD GERMAN PUDDING: "When my mother passed away we were unable to locate a cookbook in which she had some very good recipes. We would appreciate it if you could help us remember the recipe for an old German pudding which she made. It calls for 1 dozen eggs, zweibach, and cardamon—and that's all we remember. She put it into a steamer and boiled it for several hours."

My department sent this reader a similar recipe, but I'm afraid it wasn't exactly the pudding she remembers. Can any other reader of the column send the right one?

THANKS, MR. GAILMARD: A gentleman comes to our rescue with information about that "23 year old" poached pears recipe we requested for a reader. Says he: "The recipe appeared not earlier than fifteen years ago. I clipped it from THE TRIBUNE about that time and pasted it in a book. I used the recipe often. One of the women of the family got hold of the book, and now both the book and recipe are among the missing. However, the recipe for the poached apples is, to the best of my memory, the same as that for the pears, with the exception that a small amount of vanilla was used instead of cinnamon.

"The regular eating pear was best to use, as it gave the finer flavor when cooked. I expect to try out pears with the recipe you outlined for poached apples, but will use vanilla instead of cinnamon. I don't blame your correspondent for wanting this recipe. The dessert is easily and quickly prepared, and is about the most delicious I've ever eaten."

VEGETABLE FIBER COFFEE FILTERS: These are the most sanitary type of fine filters. You use each one once, so of course there's no chance that deposits from former brews of coffee can spoil the flavor of the fresh potful. The filters are usable in drip pots, percolators, and glass brewers. For a dime you can filter twenty batches of coffee; for 50 cents, 120 batches. And the brew will be clear as can be.

There'll be many more warm days when you'll be wanting ideas for cool, summery lunches and suppers for family or guests. There are many delightful menus and recipes in a brand new booklet, "Cool Meals for Warm Days," 5 cents at either of the Tribune Public Service offices, Tribune Tower lobby and 1 South Dearborn street. Or send 7 cents in stamps and the booklet will be mailed to you.

By Evelyn Holmes

A good day for mental and literal house cleaning. Put ideas and possessions in order.

If this is your birthday, this year is an important one in a cycle of nine years. You have an 8-month and a 1-day [1 plus 9] as a birth date, and the universal year is a 4-year, or 22-year in the highest form, and your own year is a 4-year. This combination calls for concentration on constructive work and conservation of all your forces. Guard property and lay out your plans carefully and conservatively, sparing no effort. August is the only month in which you could let up a little on your close application to duty and constructive work.

Accents for Fall Costumes

WOMAN'S AND MISS' ACCESSORIES.

The two patterns today provide accents for your fall costumes. The heart shaped beret may be worn either back on the head or tilted forward. It is easy to make and requires a minimum of material.

The blouses are both tailored and dressy. At the top is sketched one that makes up well in sheer silks and cottons. It is beruffled but is cut on shirtwaist lines. The other topper is a fitted one, buttoned down the front. It has no collar and its sleeves are puffed moderately. Use cottons, lightweight woolens, and silks.

Style No. 2506 is designed for one headsize only, which you may adapt to your individual needs.

Style No. 2811 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 1¼ yards of 39 inch material for the collarless blouse and 1⅞ yards of 39 inch for the frilly one, with 2½ yards of lace.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Never reproach your partner if there is the slightest thing for which you can reproach yourself." I have quoted from my own Gold Book, as a preamble to a highly amusing and instructive hand reported by Dick Frey, internationally known master, in the current number of the Bridge World magazine.

West, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.
Rubber bridge.

| West | North | East | South |
|---|---|---|---|
| Pass | Pass | Pass | 1 spade |
| Pass | 1 no trump | 4 hearts | 6 diamonds |
| Pass | Pass | 6 hearts | 6 spades |
| Double | Redouble | Pass | Pass |
| Pass | | | |

Mr. Frey writes: "You are West. You doubled because your assets include four diamonds to the ace, and you hope to give partner a ruff. [North must have several diamonds, because he showed no preference for spades.] So you bang down the diamond ace. Better even than you hoped, your partner doesn't even follow! But his discard is the club jack. What now?"

What, indeed? If you, dear reader, were really West and, having laid down the diamond ace, received the "shouting" signal of the club jack from partner, wouldn't you [now, be honest!] say to yourself, "O ho! Partner hasn't any diamonds and hasn't any trumps, either. He wants me to lead a club—quickly!" And wouldn't you do just that? Then, after partner's club ace was neatly ruffed away by declarer, and it immediately developed that partner did have a trump, after all, with which he could have ruffed a diamond continuation, wouldn't you, dear sir or madam, feel like cutting your partner's throat for giving you that screaming club signal?

Of course you would! But although a homicidal yearning is often natural and in keeping with the facts, this time you would have picked the wrong victim! It should be yourself! I grant that East's club jack play was stupid, misleading, downright fathead if you like. But in "obeying" blindly, you were the real boob! Consider:

You had four diamonds, dummy showed three, East had none. That left declarer with six. South had started [presumably] with only thirteen cards. Six from thirteen leaves seven, which incidentally becomes the maximum number of trumps declarer could hold. So far, pretty simple? Well, if declarer had no more than seven trumps and you had two, and dummy three, where was the thirteenth trump, if not in your partner's hand? Possibly under the table, but it still would have been a good idea for you to have led a second diamond and, if partner didn't ruff, to insist that he crawl under the table and stay there until he came up with the missing trump!

Those Doting Relatives Can Do Great Harm

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

At first I tried to answer the following letter in detail in a personal reply. But the more time I spent on that answer, the more I shared the annoyance of the mother who had written it, and the more convinced I was that it might do some good to publish the letter.

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: Your article about first-born jealousy has 'hit the spot.'

"Two years ago Christmas day I was waiting to go to the hospital to have my first baby. For something to take my mind from my troubles I picked up the paper and read your article. I can never tell you how much it meant to me at that time. You spoke so comfortingly, if I can express it by such a word. The baby came and she was everything you said a baby could be. Every one loved her and made a big fuss over her.

"But now I have another just as sweet, a little girl 4 months old. I told Susan I was going to get her a nice baby and when I went to the hospital she was as happy as my husband and I that we were going to have another baby. When I came home she was the proudest little girl in the neighborhood because she had a baby sister. She still seems to love the baby and is grand with her. I can trust her alone with the baby any time and not be afraid that she will hit her or any such thing.

"But my relatives are causing me no end of trouble. The minute I walk in with the two of them the relatives go into 'dithers' over the baby, and Susan just stands and hangs on my skirt. Once after some one held the baby and goo-ed and gurgled over her Susan went over and hit the baby, the first and only time she ever did this.

"My mother and a few other people couldn't understand why I didn't spank Susan, but I just couldn't! If they were so tactless I don't see why she should be spanked. I've talked to them and asked them not to pay so much attention to the baby, but they just won't even try to understand.

"The result is that although Susan is still her own sweet self at home she is as bad as she can be when we are out. I give her as much attention as I can, but it doesn't seem to be enough.

"What can I do to make these people understand? I'm at the point now that I hate to go out anywhere and I feel for Susan when everybody talks to the baby and doesn't even say 'hello' to her. My little girl is getting the reputation of being a bad child with the relatives where formerly she was a very good one. And I'm supposed to be spoiling her because I don't punish her.

"I hope you can understand this rather disconnected letter I am writing in a hurry amidst many interruptions."

What help can I give her, this mother asks. My answer is: To use her letter in this column. For her greatest help lies in the understanding and coöperation of the now-foolish adults with whom Susan and the baby are brought in contact. If they can be made to see the light, the problem will be solved, since Susan's mother, herself, is so wise and loving.

If Susan were older she might be helped a little by being told that people acted just that way when she was a baby, and that some grownups do behave as if a baby were a toy, but that as soon as the baby gets bigger, they stop. Still, we shouldn't expect too much understanding and tolerance in a young child toward the very adults who exercise so little of both qualities themselves in relation to her.

As you know, I rarely scold in this column. It is not my way. But, since Susan's mother has already explained and explained to her relatives and they won't listen, perhaps what they need is a hearty, old-fashioned scolding and admonition to mend their ways!

Deep Breathing One Means of Gaining Poise

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Correct breathing will give you poise.

Is your voice high and shrill? Are your gestures quick and jerky? Do you dart here and there and bump into furniture? In cooking, do you burn yourself often? Do dishes slip from your hands and smash? Do you narrowly miss being run down by taxi cabs? Do you arrive wherever you are going in a state of breathlessness?

Then undoubtedly you lack poise. It is equally certain that you habitually breathe short, quick breaths from the upper part of your chest. Mental poise will deepen your breathing automatically, but deep, rhythmic breathing will restore your mental serenity automatically, too.

Instead of rushing down the street, breathe in as you take 7 steps and breathe out as you take 7. Make it 5 in and out if 7 seems to be too much at first. Immediately your walk grows more rythmic. It has a grace and ease that your impulsive haste didn't have. You will find yourself carrying yourself better.

As you wait in the anteroom for a crucial interview, breathe in 7 deep breaths and out again. When you speak your voice will have depth and assurance.

If your housework seems to be a series of disasters, stop and do a little deep breathing. It may seem to slow you up, but you won't have so many mistakes to correct.

If the world seems all wrong, breathe deeply. Your circulation will respond and give you a sense of poise and well being again.

North Shore Garden Club Will Hold 25th Flower Show Today

Miniature window boxes filled with midsummer flowers and wire figures dressed in autumn colors and fitted with corsages will add a gay touch to the Northmoor Country club in Highland Park this afternoon. The occasion will be the 25th annual flower show of the North Shore Garden club. A prize will be given for the box with the most harmonious arrangement.

Different rooms of the club will be devoted to table arrangements. Mothers and daughters will compete in settings of breakfast tables for two, informal porch and lunch tables for six, and sophisticated buffet settings for twelve or more.

Baptist Pastor from Riga to Speak Here Tomorrow

The Rev. August Korp, visiting pastor from the Agenskalnu Baptist church in Riga, Latvia, will speak tomorrow afternoon in the First Latvian Baptist church, 5000 Ohio street. Mr. Korp, before his conversion, served in the Red army from 1918 to 1921. He then studied for the ministry in London, and has been pastor in Riga for twelve years.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Since the thought of sitting under a hair dryer is so terrifying in hot weather, you'll probably welcome the news of a good shampoo—one that cleanses your hair and enhances its luster at the same time. Summer sun is hard on the highlights, and a shampoo that helps to restore them is a find.

We have been experimenting with an oil shampoo that has recently been made available for home use. It's a honey colored preparation of the consistency of quite a heavy oil, the kind that pours slowly. We're told that it is a combination of lanolin, castor oil, and olive oil, blended to produce a product that is a shampoo and can also be used for an oil treatment.

It's easy to use. A tablespoonful poured on a wet head can be worked into a rich, creamy lather, the kind that you can really get your fingers into and makes you feel that you really are getting at the dirt. A thorough rinsing and a repeated application with a second rinsing completes the operation. It isn't necessary to use any other kind of a rinse.

The oil treatment is equally simple. Steam your head for about two minutes by wrapping a hot, wet turkish towel around it. Massage a tablespoonful of the oil into your scalp and steam again. Rinse out and then shampoo, using another tablespoonful of oil. Then rinse this out.

We were pleased with the results. Our hair not only felt clean and silky, but had a little body to it, leaving it manageable and not a fly-away thatch that was impossible to cope with—the-can't-do-a-thing-with-it-kind. This preparation is not expensive.

Educator Declares Consistent High Marks Are Bad for Pupil

Teacher's pet—the boy or girl who gets high scholastic grades and enjoys the instructor's favor—will not find such easy going in future life, Dr. Daniel A. Prescott, professor of education at the University of Chicago, said yesterday.

"Too much early success in the artificial atmosphere of a school means that a child will grow up thinking the world is his personal oyster," Dr. Prescott declared. "Eventually he is bound to meet failure and the higher his expectations have gone, misled by A's in school work, the further he will fall.

"A child who is entirely successful with a normal amount of work should have more work piled on him so that an occasional failure will balance his success. Of course, consistent failure is as bad for the child as consistent success."

Norway Knits Extras for Our Sports Outfits

BY RHEA SEEGER.

BERGEN, Norway [By Mail].—No idle fingers here—knitting needles click merrily all day long. Mittens, sweaters, socks, scarfs, and hoods—all the fine smooth knitted things that have appeared in smart snow outfits in America. Generations of skilled knitters, nimble fingers trained from childhood, fly with fascinating speed to finish stuff scheduled for American sports clothes collections.

Mittens galore, in gorgeous coloring—pine green handsomely decorated with a plunging wild bull moose in white, or geometric designs of fir trees, gulls, or snow birds.

The many white mittens are riotously decorated in designs of vivid flowers and foliage. Entire landscapes are depicted in bright colored yarn on the backs of the wool knitted mittens and gloves. Every stitch perfect, miracles of smooth evenness and soft as velvet.

Sweaters are resplendent. No one but a genius could achieve such stunning effects and contrasts. Geometric designs a little like our Indian motifs, only much smoother and infinitely more detailed, make these hand knitted wonders. Good bait for the money.

Again the white sweaters with either flaming red or green contrast top the list for popularity but the stunning steel gray affairs dramatized with black, run the white finds a good race.

Sonja Henie, the patron saint of hoods, caused the success of knitted hoods. They are snug, anything but infantile and are decorative toppers for any occasion. Dozens of color combinations, all kinds of patterns, and many details of trim such as tassels, embroidered bands and similar extras make these hoods ideal finds. Old fashioned stocking caps, the kind that really look like long funnels of knitted wool and with a long tassel at the end are going over the headlines of appreciative winter sports enthusiasts. These can be worn in any number of formations, some using the long end as a muffler.

Other examples of Scandinavian knitting are the slightly gaudy waistcoats. They are sleeveless affairs in either snow white or flaming red—the entire front ablaze with color. Yarn embroidery, expertly worked in fat flowers, multicolored green leaves, and some figure patterns, dancing country people and sometimes elks, wild horses and goats provide plenty of snap for these heating units. Less decorative finds are of superfine fleecy white wool with fancy braid sewed around the edges.

Both men and women wear these waistcoats and the most masculine descendants of the Vikings are the men who wear the most flamboyantly colored and embroidered waistcoats. Miniatures, tiny replicas of the grown up models, give the youngsters a most festive eye appeal. Penetrating blue eyes, flaxen hair and fair smooth skin plus these red and white waistcoats—no wonder you can see them blocks away!

Sunday Paper to Have Story of New Party

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activites of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Another party announcement tomorrow, boys and girls!

We've had a lot of splendid parties this year, and some of them were such fun that you might think we'd find them hard to equal. But I'm very sure that the good news I have for you tomorrow will be something you'll like as well as any treat we've ever had. Just wait and see!

Tomorrow's TRIBUNE also will have very special news for the hundreds of boys and girls who wrote for invitations to our Oriental theater party. Next Thursday 100 boys and girls will come with me to see "Tarzan Finds a Son," and a vaudeville performance.

I had a hard time picking the winners because there were so many good letters, but I finally selected fifty boys and fifty girls as my guests. Their names will be printed in my column tomorrow, and personal invitations will be mailed to every winner.

Of course I can't take every one who wanted to come, and some youngsters will be disappointed. But when you see the announcement of our next party I know very well that you'll decide to try, try again.

in the Chicago area and one of the best examples of Victorian Gothic architecture in the middle west, will be the scene of Miss Nancy Caro Underwood's marriage to George Herman Adam today. The service will be read at 4 o'clock by the Rev. Hobart Millett, and will be followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scott Underwood of Wheaton.

The bride, whose gown will be of heirloom ivory Brussels lace, will carry an old purple velvet prayer book bound in brass which belonged to her great grandmother. She will be attended by Mrs. Robert N. Bennett of Philadelphia as matron of honor. Miss Sallie Underwood, the bride's sister, will be the maid of honor.

The bridesmaids will be Miss Elizabeth Fox of Madison, Wis., Miss Elizabeth Hill of Fulton, N. Y., Miss Jacqueline Soans of River Forest, Miss Martha Straw of Wheaton, and Miss Eleanor Willis of Chicago. Little Janis Hackbarth, niece of the bridegroom, will be flower girl.

Lawrence W. Hall of Madison, Wis., will be best man for Mr. Adam, the son of Mrs. George Adam of Madison. Ushering will be Dr. Lee Hawley and Albert G. Schmedeman, both of Madison; Edward Adam, brother of the bridegroom; John S. Best, Bentley Courtenay, William Prior, and Robert Shaw, all of Milwaukee.

William S. Monroe was on the dock in San Francisco yesterday to meet his sister, Mrs. William J. Calhoun, when she arrived from her home in China. It will be a week or more, probably, before he brings her to Chicago. She had written that she wanted to see some friends on the west coast and the fair before coming east. When she comes she will visit Mr. and Mrs. Monroe at their country place in Wayne.

No one can make head or tail of the "artistic" picture on the postcards Herman Lackner has sent out by way of invitations to a party tomorrow night. The message on the reverse side is clear enough, however. He will entertain for Mr. and Mrs. Howard T. Fisher.

Mr. Fisher and the former Marion Hall of Washington were married early this year and did not return from a honeymoon at his home in Mexico until this summer.

ALL-STARS PLAY GAME TODAY BEHIND LOCKED GATES

COACHES FEAR SCOUTS FROM GIANTS' CAMP

Collegians Battle for Positions.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The All-Stars worked diligently yesterday morning in Dyche stadium to smooth their offense, which will be tested by the New York Giants in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 30. For two hours the players went through their formations to eradicate the mistakes apparent in three previous days' scrimmages.

Then, as a reward for a week of arduous toil, Elmer Layden, head coach, granted a reprieve until this morning. In their half holiday the All-Stars scattered, some playing golf, others going sightseeing, but most of them met last evening in the loop to see the film "Winter Carnival" in the Roosevelt theater. A few decided to attend the baseball game in Comiskey park.

It's Back to Work Today.

At 10 o'clock this morning the boys will be back at work preparatory to mid term examinations in the afternoon. At 2:30 the squad will play a regulation game with at least four teams taking part. It will be secret, however. The gates will be locked at noon and the coaches last night asked the hundreds of fans who have seen the practices this week not to come out for this game.

The coaches do not wish to make it possible for any one to scout the All-Stars for benefit of the Giants. The New York club established precedent for secrecy in its scrimmage this week with the Chicago Cardinals when the gates of the Superior State Teachers athletic field were locked and Steve Owen, Giants' coach, took the key. Even the newspaper men were barred.

Films Help Coaches.

The All-Star coaches have had the aid of moving pictures of scrimmage in working out their plans for the Giants. Nearly 2,000 feet of film recorded Wednesday's scrimmage and this was previewed yesterday by the coaches. The company which films Northwestern's games shot the All-Star practice. Pictures also will be made of today's game.

Through this medium the coaches believe they will be better informed in directing the All-Stars, and certainly the boys, when they are shown the pictures, will have a better idea of the offense as designed by Coach Layden.

Today's double workout will emphasize the kickoff, a feature omitted this week. A morning practice will be held Monday. On Tuesday the All-Stars will resume the two-a-day practice program and will follow it until the coaches are satisfied the teams are rounding into proper condition.

Marshall Goldberg of Pittsburgh, who has been held out of scrimmage this week because of his fractured toe, expects to be able to enter competition Monday for the left half back position, to which he was elected by the fans of the nation. Goldberg hasn't missed a practice and yesterday he took part in signal practice.

Later next week the coaches plan to start work on the defensive formations to be used against the Giants. This phase of the training period has had to wait on the offense. Additional plays are added each day also, and as the All-Stars learn their assignments the répertoire is increased.

Yesterday emphasis was placed on passing, for if the ground attack fails the All-Stars still may threaten the Giants by virtue of the passes of Davey O'Brien of Texas Christian, Sid Luckman of Columbia, Johnny Pingel of Michigan State, and Billy Patterson of Baylor. With excellent pass receivers at the ends and at right back the college players also will be dangerous and may score from any position on the field.

With the shift in personnel, de-

A Star Returns to Be Honored by a Queen

Peggy Davis, a beauty queen from Purdue university, will present the Tribune All-Star trophy for the player of most value to the 1938 College All-Star team to Cecil Isbell, former Boilermaker, between halves of the 1939 game with the New York Giants in Soldiers' field Aug. 30.

This is Isbell, former great half back at Purdue, now a star for the Green Bay professional eleven. Isbell was voted the most valuable All-Star last year by newspaper men who covered the game.

Giants Get Brief Rest After 7 Days' Drill for All-Stars

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Superior, Wis., Aug. 18.—Seven days of intensive drill for the Chicago All-Star game on Aug. 30 earned the New York Giants a half a day's vacation today, but not before they had been sent through a thirty minute scrimmage at the conclusion of a long morning workout. Today's scrimmage was the third the champions have held since reporting here last Friday and it also was the most successful.

Various line units and back field combinations fashioned from the forty-six men in camp during the early part of the week showed the benefits of previous scrimmage sessions. Blocking was better, tackling more effective, and the raggedness Coach Steve Owen complained about after the clash with the Cardinals on Wednesday appeared to have been completely eliminated.

Regulars Work Together.

The back field combination of Ed Danowski, Hank Soar, Leland Shaffer, and Ward Cuff, which started nearly all the games last season, worked behind the regular line of Jim Poole and Jim Lee Howell, ends; Ed Widseth and Ox Parry, tackles; Mel Hein, center, and Orville Tuttle and Doug Oldershaw, guards.

Oldershaw's alignment with the regulars began as an emergency move when Johnny Dell Isola, all-National league guard who has first call on the job, and Ken Lunday were injured. It appears, however, that he may become a fixture there before the season is over. Oldershaw, a trim, athletic appearing Englishman, has been the outstanding performer in camp since scrimmage began. Earlier he attracted little or no attention. Six feet ½ inch in height and 195 pounds, he came to the Giants this summer from Santa Barbara State college in California where he had earned four football letters and a track monogram. Last year he coached at Santa Barbara. In appearance he resembles a half back, carrying himself lightly and with the loose elusiveness of a seasoned ball carrier. He has been particularly impressive on defense where a fast charge and surprising strength have made him most annoying to the offense.

Neilsen Stands Out.

Walt Neilsen, whom southwesterns insist was Arizona's football team for three years, despite the fact that Bronko Smilanich, a member of the All-Star squad, got the headlines, has been alternating with Soar on offense in the regular back field and Danowski

JUGO-SLAVS' CUP TEAM IN BOSTON; MEETS AUSTRALIA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Aug. 18.—Five bewildered Jugo-Slavs are here today, beset by the worries of insufficient practice and insufficient cash. They compose the Jugo-Slavian Davis cup team, surprise victor over Germany in the European zone final and supposed victim for the Australians in the interzone final at the Longwood Cricket club next Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

The challengers from Europe arrived in New York yesterday aboard the Europa. Nobody in an official capacity was on deck to meet them, so they took a midnight train to Boston.

"It is just as well this way," said Dr. Drago Cop, nonplaying captain. "We have not seen grass courts since Wimbledon, and we have only a very few days to prepare ourselves for the cup matches."

With Dr. Cop are Frajo Puncec and Franjo Kukuljevic, both of whom competed in this country last year, and two newcomers, Drago Mitic and Joseph Pallada. All of them are quite vague about their plans but endeavored to convey their perplexity by jingling coins in their pockets.

The Jugo-Slavs barely made the trip in the first place. They were shy of funds, but a last minute appeal produced 200,000 dinars, or $4,000, from the government and the tennis association.

PARKER, M'NEILL LOSE IN DOUBLES TO AUSTRALIANS

Crawford, Hopman Beat Top Seeded Pair.

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 18 (AP).—The men's national doubles tennis tournament appeared headed for the first all-foreign final in its fifty-eighth year history tonight after Jack Crawford and Harry Hopman of Australia disposed of the top ranking United States team, Frank Parker and Don McNeill, with consummate ease in the semi-finals.

All that is necessary to turn this competition into an Australian Davis cup team workout is to have Adrian Quist and Jack Bromwich triumph over Bobby Riggs and Elwood Cooke, the Wimbledon champions, tomorrow. The assignment is not regarded as difficult for the visiting stars.

Forced Into Errors.

Crawford and Hopman foiled Parker and McNeill at every turn as they swept to a 6-4, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2 victory.

The American youngsters, whose attack is more brainy than brawny, realized at the outset that they had to keep the Australians away from the net if they were to win. Their first attempt, driving back the opposition with volleys and lobs, failed because they were unable to keep the ball inside the baselines, and when they came to grips at close quarters, Crawford and Hopman generally managed to keep the ball in play until they sliced off a placement or forced an error.

Hopman was the star of the match. He not only was able to handle everything that came his way, but when Parker and McNeill tried to throw all of their pressure against Crawford, he came to the rescue and made up for a good share of the forty errors charged to Crawford. Hopman limited his miscues to twenty-nine, and they made fifty-one earned points, most of them angled placements.

Women Outlook Is Brighter.

Parker and McNeill piled up a total of eighty-one errors against thirty-nine earned points, but the latter's inability to hold more than five of his nine service games caused their downfall and with it, very likely, their hopes for a Davis cup appointment as a unit.

The outlook in the women's division, from a national viewpoint, was much brighter, for Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of Brookline and Alice Marble of Beverly Hills, Cal., winners for the past two years, gained the final with a 6-3, 6-1 conquest of Mrs. Dorothy Andrus of Stamford, Conn., and Mme. Sylvia Henrotin of France.

They are favorites to overcome the winners of the other semi-final between Kay Stammers and Mrs. Freda James Hammersley of England, and Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Cal., and Dorothy Workman of Los Angeles.

JOHNSTOWN IS 6 TO 5 CHOICE IN TRAVERS STAKE

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 18.—(AP)—For the first time since he came of age, there existed a betting doubt tonight on the eve of the ancient Travers stake as to Johnstown's right to the throne of the 3-year-old racing empire.

Until now every time William Woodward's Big John has gone to the post this year, betters were likely to get no more than 50 cents on the dollar from the bookies or the machines. But the presence of Eight Thirty, surprise package of the year's campaigning in tomorrow's seventieth running of the Travers, along with the question mark concerning Johnstown's condition, made the big handsome bay no better than co-choice at 6-5 tonight.

Only five entries were filed today for the mile and a quarter race. The others are Mrs. Payne Whitney's Hash, Conny Smythe's Sir Marlboro and Sun Lover, from the M. L. Emerich-Tony Pelleteri Millsdale stable.

Kreevich Drives In Deciding Run.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Edgar Smith.

The blond southpaw of the White Sox pitched eleven great innings to shut out Bob Feller and the Indians last night, then, after the Sox had been shut out on one hit for ten innings, scored the lone run of the night in the home eleventh. The 1 to 0 victory was almost too much for most of the 46,000 new night ball addicts who watched Smitty pitch himself out of several terrible jams before he, Jackie Hayes, and Mike Kreevich blew up the works in Comiskey park at one minute after 11 o'clock.

The Indians got seven hits off Smith. Feller held the Sox to three, while striking out eight.

The finish began to develop when Feller, for the second successive time, committed a most grievous mistake. He walked the opposing pitcher. He had walked Smith in the eighth and got away with it, Edgar perforce dying on third. But it was a different story in the eleventh.

Jackie Smashes One.

After the pass to Smith, Hayes, who had made the only hit off Feller, a single at the start of the third inning, doubled over Chapman's head. Smith, if he had cared to run when it became apparent that Hayes' smash was tagged for a safety, could have ended the game on Jackie's effort. But, out of respect for Chapman's speed, he played safe and stopped at third. Hayes pulled up easily at second.

Kuhel promptly was given an intentional pass to load the bases. Kreevich fouled off Feller's first pitch, but cuffed the second one. It sailed high out to center. Chapman ran until he became convinced he couldn't catch the ball or, if he did, that he couldn't keep Smith from scoring the winning run. So, before the ball plunked to earth Ben turned and started for the bathhouse. It was scored as a single under the rules becaues the winning run advanced only one base on the hit.

Only two of the Indians' seven hits caused any great consternation. Feller tripled with two out in the eighth and the swat went for naught when Luke Appling made a sterling play on Lou Boudreau's grounder to retire the side.

Smitty Passes the Test.

The real test came in the ninth. Bruce Campbell opened with a triple. Then Smitty did his stuff in magnificent style without even pausing to consider any intentional passes to set the scene for a double or triple play. He made Chapman lift a very short fly to Gee Walker. He made Trosky pop miserably to Kuhel, and he whiffed Odell Hale, batting for Jeff Heath, on three pitches.

And so the dauntless Sox stretched their winning streak to five straight, a streak which started with a shutout over the Indians in Cleveland Sunday. They fattened their lead over the fourth place Indians to three and one-half games and went four games ahead of the fifth place Tigers.

The Sox did all the threatening there was in the first three innings of the game, but they stopped at

TWO STAKES ON CARD TODAY AT WASHINGTON PK.

$5,000, $3,500 Purses Draw Fleet Fields.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Two stake events, the $5,000 Beverly handicap and the $3,500 Olympia Fields handicap, will be run this afternoon at Washington Park. Both C. H. Cleary's Flying Lill and Herbert M. Woolf's Unerring, which are scheduled to meet in a $5,000 winner take all match later in the meeting, are among the overnight entries in the Beverly, a race of a mile and seventy yards which has drawn some of the midwest's fleetest fillies and mares.

The Woolford farm's Joe Schenck, winner of a previous stake event during the present meeting, will run in the Olympia Fields, a six furlong sprint for 3 year olds and up. This event will mark the Chicago début of Allegro, highly regarded Dixiana performer, which lost to Johnstown by only a nose in one of Keeneland's stakes last fall.

Lightspur in Best Form.

Joe Schenck probably will have either Sherron Ann or Robert L. as a running mate. John Marsch's Lightspur, which has come up to his best form in recent weeks also is in the field of eleven. Others are Talked About, Star Boarder, Opera Star, Dusky Prince, Noble Boy, and Forever Prince.

Among the fillies and mares in the Beverly are Rude Awakening, Smart Trick, Buttermilk, Sumatra III., Busy Morn, and Rifted Clouds.

J. W. Parrish's Centuple was one of the big disappointments of yesterday's program. Based on the class of competition in which he has been running, the crowd figured him a standout in the five and a half furlong fourth race. He had been going to the post in stake events against Drury Lane, Rapid Way, Quenemo, and other good performers. At one stage of the betting he was 4 to 5, but eventually he closed at even money.

Swing Band Takes Lead.

In the early stages of the race he gave his backers no cause for worry. Getting away well, he ran side by side with Takitfrome as they came around the turn. Then Dixiana's Swing Band, which had been in close attendance to the leaders from the start, came around his rivals, took the lead on the swing into the stretch, and came on home to win by two lengths. The Emdale stable's Hard Loser, closing well, passed the tiring Centuple in midstretch to take second place, the favorite saving third.

Swing Band, which trainer Jimmy Smith had brought up to best form, returned $20.40 to win, $7.80 to place, and $3.60 to show.

Another strong favorite, Sonny John, failed in the six furlong fifth race, Jake Lowenstein's Commission winning by three lengths at odds of 4 to 1. Rose Pillar ran second and Wha Hae third while Sonny John dropped far out of it to finish sixth.

Giants Earn Rest After Hard Drill

on defense. Neilsen is the Giants' hope for a triple threat full back of the Clarke Hinkle type and is being given every opportunity to make good.

Danowski voluntarily adopted him as his protégé on defense and explains at length every situation and assignment in scrimmages, dummy and actual.

Neilsen, Oldershaw, Ed Miller, the New Mexico Aggie's mighty atom; Tom Roberts, De Paul tackle, and Alton Owen, the former Mercer half back who starred with the Cincinnati Bengals last year; Jiggs Kline, an end brought up from the Giants' Jersey City farm, and Jerry Ginney, Santa Clara guard, appear to have clinched appearances in the All-Star game.

Several may wind up in Jersey City when the Giants, under league rules, are forced to cut down to thirty men after their first championship contest.

Miller Fast, But Small.

Miller, a 166 pound Texan with winged feet and a rifle throwing arm, has met every test. There remains some doubt whether he is physically equipped to carry on through a season against burly National league lines. He played four years of varsity football at New Mexico A. and M. and is a professional baseball player with the Clovis, N. M., team. He literally ran away from the backs and ends in two 100 yard wind sprints in today's drill and is one of the three best kickers in camp.

Roberts has been set back some by the head injury which has kept him in bed two days now, but his showing against the Cardinals was impressive enough to assure him of a job either in New York or Jersey City.

ASKS $2,212 OF MRS. DENEMARK IN SUIT OVER HORSE

Mrs. Emil Denemark, race horse owner, was named defendant in a suit filed yesterday in Circuit court to collect $2,212 in connection with the sale of an allegedly unfit horse. The suit, filed by the law firm of Sidley, McPherson, Austin and Burgess, relates that Thomas Price, another race horse owner, purchased a gelding, Higher Cloud, from Mrs. Denemark on July 3 for $2,000 on her representation that it was in good condition and fit for racing.

According to the suit, the horse was found to be unfit, however, and was barred from the Arlington Park track. The bill states that Price returned the horse, but did not get his money back. Price also seeks $212 for transportation, training, and maintenance expense involved.

ALL-STARS' TEAM PLAY IMPRESSES PURDUE'S MIHAL

Joe Likes Spirit of the College Squad.

"The thing I like most about this squad is that everybody has a lot of pepper out there and every one is pulling for the other fellow. That's what counts in football."

Joe Mihal.

It was burly Joe Mihal, Purdue tackle, giving his impression of the College All-Star squad which will meet the New York Giants on Soldiers' field Aug. 30. The 230 pound, 6 foot 3 inch Boilermaker will be at left tackle in the collegians' starting lineup.

"Sure, there's a lot of great players out there," said Joe. "I never saw so many good football players before in my life. But the thing that impresses me is the way this gang works together.

"You take those chaps who never played the Notre Dame system before. Why man, they are stepping through that shift as if they had been doing it all their lives. Don't let anybody lose sleep over this outfit being able to take care of itself."

He Gets Around.

And it might be added that no one need be concerned over Joe's ability to take care of himself. As the iron man in the Purdue line last fall, "Bogey" Mihal was a veritable thunderbolt of power, possessing speed that belied his bulk.

Down at Lafayette they will tell you that Big Joe just about made the Purdue line that created so much havoc in the Big Ten last fall. In addition to his stonewall defensive tactics, Joe was one of the niftiest blockers on the squad.

Joe Paves the Way.

Joe stepped into the gap and went the full sixty minutes the following week when Indiana was beaten, 13 to 6, on Cecil Isbell's fourth quarter dash. On that touchdown sprint Mihal opened a hole in the Hoosier line which enabled Isbell to prance through unmolested.

Last year's Wisconsin game, which Purdue won, 13 to 7, was the hardest contest he ever played in. The most heartbreaking game of his career was the Northwestern game in 1937 when Fred Vanzo intercepted one of Isbell's passes in the fourth quarter and returned it to the 12 yard line where he fumbled when tackled and Nick Cutlich fell on the ball behind the goal line for the winning touchdown.

Named Most Valuable.

Although Mihal is best known for his football feats, he won recognition in both basketball and baseball, winning letters in both sports. At the close of last season he was named by his teammates as the most valuable player to the squad in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE contest. Last spring he was awarded the Big Ten medal at Purdue given each year to the player excelling in athletics and scholarship.

Upon graduation last spring he accepted a position as assistant manager of men's residence halls at Purdue. He plans to take graduate work toward an advanced degree in physical education.

signed to bolster the right half back and right end positions, the teams are being given balanced strength. Jimmy Coughlan, Santa Clara end, who was knocked unconscious in Thursday's scrimmage when he bumped into Waddy Young of Oklahoma, was held out of yesterday's drills. He may be able to take part in today's game. Coughlan is a left end. Prior to his injury the jinx which has taken toll of the ends had only incapacitated right ends. This accounted for shifting Frank Balasz of Iowa and Pug Manders of Drake, full backs, to the position.

After three scrimmages the coaching staff believes that development of the guards and tackles will determine success or failure. While Joe Mihal of Purdue and Bob Haak of Indiana, starting tackles, and Francis Twedell of Minnesota and Ralph Heikkinen of Michigan, guards, were demoted in the shakeup Thursday which left only four of the eleven players elected to the starting lineup on the first team, all have responded in the battle to regain their standing.

Center is well fortified. Charles Brock of Nebraska has maintained his ranking, but behind him are such stars as Ed Longhi, Notre Dame; Dan Hill, Duke; Ki Aldrich, Texas Christian; Jerry Dowd, St. Mary's; Jim McDonald, Illinois, and Tony Calvelli, Stanford.

CARDINALS HAND PIRATES TENTH DEFEAT IN ROW

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 18 (AP).—The St. Louis Cardinals won their 17th victory in 19 games today, 3 to 0, behind the airtight pitching of young Bob Bowman, who handed the Pittsburgh Pirates their tenth consecutive defeat, one less than the season's record made earlier by Philadelphia.

The Cards, who swept the four game series here in three days, left tonight, to open a series with the league leading Reds in Cincinnati, whose margin they have slashed to 5½ games.

Tony Willman Seeks 2d Victory in Fair Auto Race

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 18 (AP).—Auto race fans will have their day tomorrow at the Illinois state fair when eighteen drivers are scheduled to compete in a 100 mile dirt track event sanctioned by the American Automobile association. Tony Willman, Milwaukee driver who won last year's event, will seek to repeat against drivers from all sections of the country. ## Sox with Bonus Contracts Don't Mind Night Life

The 46,000 who sat in on last night's White Sox-Indian contest in Comiskey park gave the Chicagoans a total of approximately 80,000 spectators for the two contests played under the new lighting setup. Generous estimates placed the probable day attendance for the two games at 8,000.

Most avid counters of the house were Sox players given bonus contracts based on Sox attendance totals. These contracts were given before there was any thought of putting lights in Comiskey park, and probably will prove delightfully juicy documents.

There were no circus didoes such as feature night games in Brooklyn and Cincinnati. There was a band Monday night, but nary a toot last night.

The lights were turned on 16 minutes earlier than on opening night, a swell idea. It added to the carnival spirit of the pre-game crowd and promoted greater ease in handling the turnout.

Last night's engagement was the third under the lights for Bob Feller. The Indians' great kid star held the Tigers to one hit in one of his night games and was knocked out by the Red Sox in the other, though he was not charged with a loss.

Thornton Lee, who did a gorgeous job of pitching to shut out the Indians, 3 to 0, in Cleveland last Sunday, a performance in which he allowed only five singles, will pitch for the Sox this afternoon. He will be opposed by Johnny Allen.

White Sox Beat Indians, 1 to 0, in 11 Innings

third in each of the first two innings and at second in the third inning. Kuhel walked with one down in the first inning and reached second on a wild pitch. Joe got to third, but was sent back to second when the ball got caught in the backstop. He went to third on Kreevich's infield out and died when Walker struck out.

Appling walked at the start of the second inning, took second on Rosenthal's sacrifice and third on McNair's fly to Campbell. Tresh walked, but Smith was called out on strikes.

A Sacrifice Goes Awry.

Hayes opened the third inning with a single to right, but was forced on Kuhel's attempted sacrifice. Feller threw past Trosky in an attempt to catch Kuhel off first, Joe reaching second on the error. Then Kreevich fanned and Heath backed against the left field wall to pull down Walker's drive.

The Indians were held to a single during the first three innings. Mack got it with one out in the second inning. They did not get a runner to second in the span.

Hit and Run Play Falls.

Both teams went out in order in the fourth. Then Keltner led off the fifth with the second hit off Smith, a single to left. Keltner was thrown out, Tresh to Appling, when Mack failed to connect on a hit and run play and Mack was tossed out by McNair. Hemsley flied to Kreevich.

The Indians tried to stir up some excitement after two were out in the sixth but were nipped before they could do any harm. After Feller and Boudreau had been retired, Campbell singled to left for the third Cleveland hit. Bruce tried to race to third while Chapman was beating out a hit to McNair, but was speared six feet off third, McNair to Kuhel to Smith.

The Battle Rages On.

Smith walked with one out in the home eighth to become the first Chicago base occupant since the third inning. He took second on Feller's second wild pitch and third while Hayes was bouncing out to Mack. Kuhel grounded to Trosky, who fumbled momentarily, but recovered in time to toss to Feller to accomplish the third out.

Then came the heroic ninth. Campbell banged a perfect triple to the scoreboard in right center. Chapman followed with a short fly to Walker, on which Campbell didn't even fake a start for home. Trosky popped to Kuhel. Hale batted for Heath and struck out on three pitches. The crowd really became giddy. Scores of straw hats and hundreds of newspapers were tossed out on the field as the customers howled.

Denny Shute Is Second Generation Pro

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

[This is the twelfth of a series of sketches on the fifteen golf professionals who will join with Walter Hagen in the veteran's twenty-fifth anniversary tournament, opening next Thursday noon at the Midlothian Country club.]

Only two members of the field of sixteen players in the Hagen tournament are second generation professionals. They are Jimmy Thomson and a lean, quiet fellow whose full name is Hermon Densmore Shute, but who will answer to Denny. For all his reticence, Denny cannot conceal the proven facts that he is one of the greatest match players who ever lived and yields to few when it comes to smacking a long iron.

Denny Shute.

Son of a professional, Denny practically was raised on a golf course. Older Chicago golf fans may not recall it, but Shute played well enough as an amateur to qualify and win his first two matches in the 1923 national tournament at Flossmoor.

Denny was born in Cleveland, O., on Oct. 25, 1904. It was in Ohio that he first made his name as a professional, winning the state opens of 1929, 1930, and 1931. In 1930, he won $7,000. In 1931 he made his debut as a Ryder cup player, winning both his singles and foursomes matches, and in the same year went to the final of the national P. G. A. before losing to Tom Creavy.

Shute's record as a match player has often overshadowed his medal play talents. These are borne out in the report of the 1933 British open, which he won after a playoff with Craig Wood and this year's national open, where he tied Byron Nelson and Wood before losing in the first half of the double playoff.

But it is in man-to-man competition that Denny stands out. With the exception of Hagen, Leo Diegel, and Gene Sarazen, few national P. G. A. competitors can point to a record such as Shute boasts. He won fourteen straight matches in three of the tournaments—capturing the 1936 and 1937 titles and winning two matches last year before losing to Jimmy Hines.

Collins Leads Field with 74 in Roundup

High scoring featured the first eighteen holes in the twenty-fourth annual Round-Up yesterday at Glen Oak, where par held its dignity against the firing of 250 members and guests. E. J. Collins, unattached, one of the visitors, set the pace with 37—37—74, two over par, while George Dawson of the home ranch, 39—36—75, and Johnny Lehman, Olympia Fields, 38—37—75, tied for second place. The final round will be played today.

Other low gross shooters were Stan Crossland, Glen Oak, 38—40—78; Tom Franney, unattached, 39—39—78; Norman Morris, a former title winner at the club, 41—38—79; Don Armstrong, Aurora, 39—40—79; and Warren Dawson, Ed Kneip and Doug Tweedie, all from the home ranch, with 80.

Playing with an allowance of seven strokes, Collins also led in the net column with 74—7—67. Charley Irrgang, 85—15—70, and Leif Olson, 89—19—70, both Glen Oak cowboys, were next; W. P. Cox and Ed Kneip followed with nets of 71, while a flock were corralled at par 72. # N. Y. FEELS PINCH OF MILK STRIKE; SUPPLY CUT 40%

C. I. O. Is Boosting Tieup; Leaders Admit.

New York, Aug. 18 [Special].—New York City felt the pinch of the dairy farmers' milk strike tonight as curtailment of its huge milk supply reached about 40 per cent. It was estimated there would be a shortage tomorrow morning of 1,760,000 quarts out of the normal daily consumption of 4,400,000 quarts. The 4,400,000 quarts include 3,200,000 for household use and the remainder for processing.

Leaders of the Dairy Farmers' union, who called the strike Tuesday in behalf of their 15,000 members, admitted receiving substantial help from the C. I. O. in an effort to force distributors to pay higher prices.

A. C. I. O. representative, William Gandall of New York City, has established headquarters in the striking farmers' union offices at Utica. Gandall announced that all C. I. O. members in the state have been directed to boycott dealers who refused to sign up with the union.

C. I. O. Rule a Mystery.

The place of the C. I. O. in the strike has been somewhat of a mystery inasmuch as the farm union had disavowed an affiliation with it, or even any intention to affiliate with it. C. I. O. leaders also disclaimed any hope of bringing the farmers into their fold in the immediate future.

Strike leaders said, however, they are aware of John L. Lewis' long cherished dream to unite farmers and industrial workers into one big union. Up to this time the C. I. O. has made no effort to organize farmers, but it has organized workers in industries closely allied to farming, such as packing and canning plants.

Archie Wright, chairman of the farmers' union, said he regarded the C. I. O. move in offering aid to the dairy farmers a smart one. "Naturally a fellow doesn't go around slapping his friends," he remarked.

Predicts Victory Soon.

Wright predicted that the strike will be over in a few days. He announced that fifteen or twenty independent dealers already have met the demands of the union for a uniform base of $2.35 a hundred pounds [about forty-seven quarts] for August, September and October.

Under the federal-state milk marketing agreement, recently reinstated by the United States Supreme court, the present price is $2.25 a hundredweight. The farmers have been accused of trying to wreck that agreement and make necessary "a monthly strike to collect the money for their milk."

Striking farmers have now dried up so many plants in thirty counties that New York's 7,000,000 consumers are rapidly being reduced to a supply that may soon reach the acute stage.

Processing Is Curtailed.

The supply of milk for makers of ice cream, condensed milk, butter, and cheese was drastically curtailed. Bakeries and confectioneries were struck off the delivery list of the New York Milk Distributors Bargaining agency in an effort to insure adequate stocks for hospitals and other public institutions.

All interested parties—including the two largest New York dealers, Borden and Sheffield companies—have accepted Mayor Fiorello La Guardia's invitation to confer Monday on emergency plans to offset the shortage. The mayor stepped into the situation today to avert a health problem.

Meanwhile, more than 200 state policemen patroled upstate roads and convoyed milk trucks. There was isolated reports of milk dumping and of glass containers of gasoline being hurled at milk trucks, but police said they had the situation well under control.

ORVILLE WRIGHT, AT 68, DISCUSSES PLANE'S FUTURE

PENET ANGUISHENE, Ont., Aug. 18 [Canadian Press].—Orville Wright, airplane pioneer, who will be 68 years old tomorrow, would not talk about birthdays today, but he did speak about the future of airplanes.

"They will have to be much more compact and versatile before they will begin to replace cars," he said. As for the cost of planes, he added: "Only with the entrance of automobile production methods into the airplane business could a marked reduction be made."

A DISBELIEVER IN SANTA CLAUS ORDERED TO PAY

When Mrs. Anna Matten, 3716 Greenview avenue, asked yesterday for temporary alimony from her husband Emil, from whom she has been separated for six years, Master in Chancery Julius Miner, hearing the case, suggested a reconciliation.

"I don't think so," said Norman Becker, attorney for Mrs. Matten. "I tried once, and she handed me a list of grievances that astounded me. She says her husband doesn't believe in Christmas or Santa Claus, that he beat her no less than 100 times, and that he pulled her out of bed by her hair fifty times. When she protested he forced her head into the refrigerator and told her to cool off."

"That's right," said Mrs. Matten. "He even tore down my Christmas tree because he didn't like Christmas."

Master Miner ordered Matten to pay $5 a week temporary alimony pending settlement of her divorce suit, which charges cruelty, drunkenness, and desertion.

ANNENBERG FACES NEW INDICTMENT ON TRUST LAWS

District Attorney William J. Campbell said yesterday that additional indictments, charging conspiracy and violation of the anti-trust laws, probably would be returned by the federal grand jury next week against Moses L. Annenberg, wealthy publisher and New Deal critic. Annenberg already is under indictment for alleged evasion of income taxes. It was indicated that the anti-trust indictment would be in connection with allegations that Annenberg's racing news service is monopolistic. Campbell said that in the conspiracy indictment several persons charged with assisting in the preparation of income tax returns would be named.

MORROW WIDOW ACTING HEAD OF SMITH COLLEGE

New York, Aug. 18 [Special].—Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, widow of Senator Morrow of New Jersey and mother of Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, will become acting president of Smith college upon the retirement of Dr. William Allan Neilson on Aug. 31, it was learned tonight. Mrs. Morrow will serve until the board of trustees, of which she is a member, can find a successor to Dr. Neilson, who is 70 years old.

The appointment of Mrs. Morrow was made by the board of trustees in June. The action was contingent on the possibility that a new president might not be found before the opening of college on Sept. 19.

The trustees emphasized that Mrs. Morrow's designation was "a stop-gap measure," and that she never had been considered for a permanent appointment. One trustee said Mrs. Morrow would not consent to serve permanently. Mrs. Morrow could not be reached for comment at her summer home in North Haven, Me.

HE'D SHOULDER PART OF HEIR'S $45,000 BURDEN

Fred Sharpe, who has refused thus far to coöperate with police in learning details of his $45,000 legacy, will have plenty of takers if he can't decide what to do with the money. The detective bureau yesterday received a letter from Carl B. Sherrill of Beardstown, Ill., a disabled war veteran, who offered to take $5,000 as a loan.

"There will be a lot of other people writing in with similar ideas, or asking outright gifts," a detective said. "That Sharpe is a puzzle to me."

Sharpe, who is 55 years old, was willed the money by an uncle, George S. M. Hooff of Point Pleasant, W. Va., who died June 1. Last week police began a search for Sharpe, who had been living in a South State street hotel. He appeared at the Central station, was told to return for further details, but has not yet reappeared. Attorney Thomas Walpole, 77 West Washington street, who represents the Hooff estate, says, however, that he has been in contact with Sharpe and expects him to be present for probating of the estate early next year.

ICKES MAY LIFT 'HOT OIL' ACT TO ASSURE SUPPLY

Warns of 'Undue' Price Boosts.

Secretary of the Interior Ickes indicated in Washington yesterday that should the present shutdown of oil wells in the leading oil states work a hardship on the public he may suspend temporarily the Connally "hot oil" act which limits the shipment of petroleum in interstate commerce.

Secretary Ickes.

He said he may take this action should a shortage of gasoline develop or should gasoline prices be raised unduly. The Connally act prohibits the shipment of petroleum that has been illegally produced. The secretary explained that the act provides that the limitation on shipments may be lifted if "the supply of petroleum and petroleum products moving in interstate commerce becomes so limited as to cause a lack of parity between supply and consumptive demand."

Large Supplies Impounded.

Leading oil producing states have impounded large quantities of crude petroleum and gasoline which could be drawn upon should provisions of the Connally act be lifted, Ickes said. This would end the danger of any shortage in the near future, he added.

Ickes' warning was the major development yesterday in the nation's chaotic oil situation caused by a shutdown of wells in six major producing states as a protest against the cutting of crude oil prices by about 20 cents a barrel.

Other developments included:

An order issued by Chancellor W. A. Speer at El Dorado, Ark., restraining state police from keeping padlocks on fifty-two wells of the Lion Oil Refining company in the Shuler fields. The court sustained the contention of the oil company that the state oil and gas commission had no right to use the police as an enforcing agency.

Michigan Board Acts.

An order from the Michigan oil advisory board for the temporary limitation of the daily withdrawal from oil wells. Under this program the state's daily output of from 68,000 to 70,000 barrels would be cut by about 15,000 barrels.

A boost of one-eighth of a cent a gallon in the refinery price of gasoline at Tulsa, Okla. Retail prices remained unchanged.

An intimation that the department of justice may take legal action which will "raise the issue of the basing point system in the distribution of gasoline." However, any action will be held up pending a Supreme court decision on the government's appeal in the Madison oil case.

A statement by the Sinclair-Prairie Oil Marketing company in Tulsa, Okla., that it "would, until further notice, discontinue posting the price it would pay for crude oil" in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Kansas. Sinclair-Prairie precipitated the present situation when it cut oil prices 20 cents a barrel.

Lion Makes Second Demand.

The demand of the Lion Oil company for court protection was the second in as many days. State police padlocked the company's wells when officials refused to close them down. The company said that it had suffered damages of more than $10,000 as a result of the shutdown order.

P. J. Hoffmaster, Michigan state supervisor of wells, said in Lansing that the order for a reduction in oil withdrawals would be sent to oil operators early next week. He expected the order to remain in effect for twenty-one days unless action is taken to amend or extend it. Hoffmaster said the order was issued to put Michigan in line with the other states that have closed their wells.

Two small Tulsa oil buyers, Danciger Oil Refineries, Inc., and the Bell Oil and Gas company, had restored prices on Thursday. The Caddo Purchasing company cut 10 cents a barrel off the price at Shreveport.

Illinois Status Unchanged.

Meantime, the Illinois situation remained unchanged. Many of the oil producing states blame part of the chaotic situation on the fact that Illinois exerts no control over its fields.

Production at Illinois fields is in full swing. It is expected that last week's daily average production of 296,000 barrels will be exceeded this week. Two new pipe lines which were completed late last week are reported to be making available a substantial amount of the state's producing capacity not hitherto utilized.

BUILDING GAINS 30 PER CENT IN FIRST 7 MONTHS

New York, Aug. 18 (AP).—Building construction contracts awarded in the first seven months of 1939 aggregated $1,999,247,000 in 37 eastern states, a jump of 30 per cent over the corresponding 1938 period, the F. W. Dodge corporation reported today.

Residential contracts awarded in July totaled $2,566,000, a decline of 2 per cent under June, but a rise of 25 per cent over July last year.

Nonresidential building was placed at $88,501,000, a rise of 22 per cent over July a year ago. The nonresidential total included $17,404,000 of manufacturing buildings, which represented a rise of 80 per cent over factory contracts in July, 1938.

Stocks Slump as War Fears Grip Traders

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Trading totaled 836,590 shares, compared with 442,900 yesterday. Most of the volume came at midsession, when the selling onslaught reached its height. After this unloading there was a modest recovery from the day's lows, with trading stalling.

Fear that this week-end would bring about a showdown in the German-Polish dispute over Danzig was believed to have led the majority of traders to lighten their holdings.

A contributing factor, according to some observers, was the sharp weakness in aviation issues.

Fear Aviation Labor Dispute.

Rumors that the industry faces a labor campaign for higher wages served to frighten holders of those shares, it was said. Douglas broke 1¾ points. Sperry gave up 2⅛ points. United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Boeing, and Consolidated Aircraft lost a point or more.

Chrysler was one of the weakest spots, slumping 2½ points in most active supply of the day. General Motors lost a point. The drop in automobile production was rated an additional depressing influence on these shares.

Steels and rubbers were consistently lower. Losses of between 1 and 2 points were chalked up by United States Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, United States Rubber, Goodrich, and Goodyear. Oils closed mostly fractionally lower, as did copper shares.

Sears-Roebuck Slumps.

Sears-Roebuck was a weak spot in the merchandising section, losing nearly two points, while Montgomery Ward and Marshall Field each lost ⅞ of a point.

New York Central, Santa Fe, Southern railway, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Great Northern preferred were hard hit in the rails, each losing a point or so. Union Pacific slumped 2⅝.

Westinghouse in the electric equipments and Allied Chemical in the chemicals posted losses of 3¼ and 4½ points, respectively. American Telephone and American Can each lost more than a point.

London Market Irregular.

LONDON, Aug. 18 [Special].—British funds declined on the stock market here today under continental selling. Domestic rail issues again felt the depressing effect of wage disputes. Industrials declined narrowly. Firmness of the raw metal price aided copper shares. Rubbers recovered early losses following a boost in that commodity. Transatlantic issues were narrowly irregular.

In Paris, trading activity declined to almost a full stop. Price fluctuations flattened out. Mid-month carryover figures showed that brokers had a record low in long accounts. Short accounts were virtually unchanged.

OCTOBER EGGS SET NEW LOWS, THEN RECOVER

October egg futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange closed unchanged to 0.10 cent a dozen higher at 16.35 to 16.40 cents yesterday. Prices rallied after dropping to 16.15 cents earlier in the day to set a new record low for August trading in the delivery. The contract broke through the previous seasonal low points every day this week, with sales for the five sessions totaling 24,012,000 dozens.

The decline of cash current receipts to 12½ cents a dozen, the lowest in six years, and the action of the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation in pulling another cash market peg were factors behind the early selling. The FSCC allowed less than carlot graded firsts to drop ¼ cent to 15 cents a dozen, but heald carlots at 15½ cents with purchases of 48,000 dozens.

November butter futures moved up slightly in early trading, but later fell off to close at 23.30 cents a pound, down 0.25 cent from Thursday.

PLAN TO RE-ESTABLISH WEST COAST AIR LINE ROUTE ENDED IN 1934

Plans to reëstablish an air line between Los Angeles and San Francisco were announced yesterday by Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc. The line was set up in 1927 and operated until the cancellation of air mail contracts by the government in 1934.

T. B. Wilson to stop with TWA.

Jack Frye, president of T. W. A., said the company was filing an application before the civil aeronautics authority to reinstate the route as part of T. W. A.'s transcontinental system. Frye explained the original Los Angeles-San Francisco route was set up by T. W. A.'s predecessor companies, Western Air Express and Maddux Airlines, at a cost of about $1,000,000. It was not readvertised, he added, when air mail contracts were reinstated.

T. B. Wilson, former rail and shipping executive, will remain with T. W. A. as chairman of its board of directors, according to Frye. Wilson had announced his intention of resigning last April. Frye said Wilson has been in Europe in recent weeks developing agency contacts for the line.

Field Glore & Co., manager of an underwriting group that offered $25,000,000 of Central Power and Light company 3¾ per cent first mortgage bonds, reported that all but $250,000 were sold. The bonds were offered at 101.

A. F. of L. Asks Federal Aid to Boost Output

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18 (AP).—The American Federation of Labor called upon the Roosevelt administration today to take the lead in a cooperative effort by business, labor, farmers and other groups to increase the nation's production and raise living standards.

"If business does not expand substantially before next spring, we shall have a further demand for government spending, with its danger of inflation and consequent losses to wage earners," the federation said in its monthly survey of business.

"Action for business expansion on a sound basis is therefore urgent. Shall we advance on a coöperative basis, providing for the needs of all groups, or shall we accept government domination?"

Doubts Initiative by Business.

The organization said that business men were not likely to take the initiative in an expansion program because business risks were greater and profits smaller than in pre-depression years.

"The chance of succeeding in business is only about 50 per cent as great as in pre-depression years," the survey continued, "and the rewards of success are about 20 per cent less. Those who have succeeded are forced to give a larger part of their income to the government through increased income taxes.

"This explains why venture capital runs to shelter in safe and tax free investments like government bonds. Our great need today is to give business men the kind of assurance which will enable them to look to the future with confidence."

Congress Shifts Responsibility.

The federation said that congress, by defeating the administration's big lending-spending bill, had overruled the "pump priming" policy on which the government had relied to stimulate recovery, and had placed the responsibility of reviving business "squarely on the shoulders of business men."

But it added that, "although every one is concerned in this problem of expanding production," business men seemed "as helpless as any one else" in finding the way to achieve it.

The National Association of Manufacturers was not ready to accept the challenge of congress, the federation said, but appeared to be waiting for legislation "to weaken the national labor relations act."

HYMNS REPLACE COIN JINGLE; CHURCH BUYS CLOSED BANKING ROOM

The two story former quarters of the Capital State bank, which closed several years ago, are to be rebuilt into a church.

The building, at the northeast corner of North Clark street and Rascher avenue, 72 by 122 feet, was sold yesterday by Charles H. Albers, receiver for the bank, to the Philadelphia Swedish Pentecostal church for an undisclosed all cash consideration. Tom Leervig of Walter T. Larson's office was broker.

Heretofore most of the closed banks' quarters in Chicago have been converted into taverns or stores. This is the first time, it is said, that one has been sold for religious purposes.

SALES OF STORES IN MIDDLE WEST EXCEED YEAR AGO

Department store sales in the 7th federal reserve [Chicago] district increased 8.6 per cent in the week ended Aug. 12 as compared with the corresponding 1938 week, the Chicago Federal Reserve bank reported yesterday. Sales for the four weeks ended Aug. 12 gained 6 per cent.

The nation's department store sales were 6 per cent larger than in 1938 in the latest week. Stores in the Atlanta district reported the largest gain, of 14 per cent.

Sales in Chicago proper increased 6.2 per cent in the week ended Aug. 12. Detroit sales gained 19 per cent, the largest increase reported in the 7th district, and Indianapolis sales were 13.6 per cent larger than a year ago.

Court Orders Public Sale of Atlas Pipeline Assets

Shreveport, La., Aug. 18 (AP).—Federal Judge Ben C. Dawkins today authorized public sale of the Atlas Pipeline corporation assets at not less than $1,200,000 to satisfy holders of first mortgage bonds, chiefly the First Trust company of Philadelphia, Pa.

Assets listed include pipe lines from east Texas and El Dorado, Ark., to Shreveport, and refinery and office building here.

FEDERAL FARM CHECKS SHAVED BY 10 PER CENT

Affects Cotton, Rice and Tobacco.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18 [Special].—More than 4 million farmers who coöperated in the government's 1939 crop control program were notified today that they would receive smaller benefit checks than they had expected. The smaller checks will go to cotton, rice, and tobacco farmers. The payments soon to be made to corn and wheat farmers will not be cut, the announcement indicated.

The agricultural adjustment administration announced that 10 per cent will be shaved from benefit checks to be sent farmers in ten states designated as the north central region. The announcement said the reduction was necessary to give all complying farmers a share in the 500 million fund provided by congress under the soil conservation act.

Affects Cotton Planters.

The cuts will affect 2 million cotton planters, several thousand rice and tobacco growers, and 2 million or more other farmers.

More farmers participated than had been contemplated when the tentative rates were established last November, it was explained. Under the new schedule, cotton growers will be paid 1.8 cents a pound instead of 2 cents; rice growers 9 cents a hundred pounds instead of 10 cents, and growers of fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco 1.26 cents a pound instead of 1.4 cents. The soil conservation act provides for adjustments of 10 per cent up or down.

The payment rate per acre on "soil depleting" crops to farmers who adopted specified conservation practices will be 99 cents an acre instead of $1.10 in North Dakota, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, and portions of Arkansas, New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, and California.

Other Rates Unchanged.

It was announced that all other payment rates would be carried out as previously planned because the number of farmers complying with crop programs was about as anticipated. Reductions under the soil conservation section of the farm assistance program will not affect "price adjustment" checks which come from a separate fund of 212 million dollars, it was said.

However, an announcement from Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace foretold smaller payments for wheat producers next year.

Secretary Wallace offered to pay farmers 18 to 22 cents a bushel on next year's wheat crop if they comply with acreage limitations. This year's payments are about 22 cents a bushel. Explaining the smaller offer, farm officials said next year's wheat acreage allotment is larger, and more farmers are expected to participate in the government's program.

Guide to 1940 Planting.

The AAA said the 1940 payments were announced at this time so that "farmers making plans for 1940 seedings may know approximately what payments they can earn." The exact rate of benefit payments will be determined by wheat's share in avail-

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

New York, Aug. 18 (AP).—Bond prices dropped sharply today in a flood of selling orders which gave the exchange its biggest day of transactions since Aug. 3. Sales totaled $5,360,850, face value, compared with $3,378,000 yesterday.

Losses in the corporate list commonly ranged above a point, with United States government and foreign dollar bonds correspondingly weak.

The decline, even more marked than on Thursday, was attributed to reluctance on the part of investors to carry commitments over the weekend in view of the critical state of affairs in Europe.

United States governments declined as much as 13-32 points, but trading in these issues was comparatively slim. Similarly reduced volume, but larger declines, were registered for the foreign loans, with German and Italian issues the main sufferers. Even South American loans, which in the main have held up well, were lower at the end of the day.

Chicago Stocks.

Volume leaders on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday declined ⅛ to ⅝ point. Sales advanced to 31,000 shares with 111 issues changing hands, compared with 20,000 shares in eighty-seven issues the preceding day. Seventy-four of the 111 issues traded showed losses, fifteen gained, and twenty-two held steady.

Commonwealth Edison, trading favorite, lost ½ at 29⅝ on a turnover of 3,850 shares. Middle West dropped ¼ at 9¼. Other issues showing fractional losses were Zenith Radio, Marshall Field, Standard Oil, Central and South West Utilities, and Utah Radio. W. B. Jarvis and Swift closed unchanged.

Bank Stocks.

Continental Illinois shares were bid 1½ points lower in yesterday's Chicago bank stock trading. First National was bid 3 points lower, and bids 1 point lower were reported on City National and Northern Trust shares.

COTTON

Trading in cotton in American markets yesterday was limited. Prices held within a range of .05 cent a pound. The break in securities was ignored and prices averaged slightly higher as the result of buying by mills and a little demand attributed to Bombay, Liverpool, and Japan. Closing trades were .06 cents higher to .01 cent lower.

Hedging pressure was light due to continued rains in the eastern part of the belt and in Arkansas. Floods are reported to have caused heavy damage in parts of Alabama. One point in the latter parts of Alabama approximately 16 inches of rain in four days.

Spot cotton closed unchanged to .07 cent higher with New York at 9.32 cents; New Orleans, 8.92 cents; Galveston, 8.80 cents, and Houston at 8.78 cents a pound. Prices follow:

Downstate Townships Are Deeply in Debt.

Two million dollars worth of bonds may be substituted for an equal amount of debts incurred through over-spending for relief by 386 townships in the state, the Illinois Emergency Relief commission disclosed yesterday. The debtor townships constitute more than a fourth of the 1,455 relief administering units in the state.

The law allowing the sale of bonds to pay off the relief debts was passed last June by the state legislature. The statute provides that each of the 386 townships may issue their own bonds maturing within ten years, provided they do it before Oct. 1.

Obligations Unpaid.

In addition to the deficits to be met through the probable bonding program, authorities say there are hundreds of thousands of dollars in downstate relief obligations which have not yet been liquidated from relief tax levies. The townships which owe this money are reluctant to issue tax anticipation warants on which they would have to pay interest.

Downstate orders for relief are in the hands of local grocerymen, landlords, and other vendors of relief goods; and in the hands of some of wholesale and chain store offices throughout the state. Tax experts expect these debts to be paid from tax collections, but meanwhile the vendors have to wait for their money.

Besides the 1,437 township relief units in the state, there are the Chicago Relief administration and seventeen counties with commission form of government. The C. R. A. and the commission counties are not involved in the proposed bonding program.

Issue Disbursing Orders.

Most of the downstate units issue disbursing orders which call for groceries, rent, and similar items needed by recipients of relief. [The C. R. A. gives them cash.] The vendors accept

The vendors have no way of knowing whether or not the township supervisor has issued more disbursing orders than he can pay for. Until last summer the supervisor could issue such orders as long as the vendors would accept them and in any amount he chose. Since then, however, the supervisors have been restrained from issuing orders to a total greater than 100 per cent of their tax levy plus the relief money they get from the state.

Debts Far Exceed Levy.

In one instance uncovered by the I. E. R. C. a township has outstanding debts that are 3.6 times the total amount of its relief levy for 1939. This is one of the townships which is permitted to participate in the bonding program.

Under this over spending system a fourth of the townships in the state kept going deeper and deeper in the hole. The legislature passed the bonding law and the restriction on issuance of disbursing orders to let the townships pay up and then keep from over spending.

The restriction on spending over 100 per cent of the tax levy, however, does not prevent over spending and the possible necessity for further authorizations of bond issues, in the opinion of officials.

Fear Freezing of Debts.

The law is based on the presumption that all townships will collect 100 per cent of their levies. Tax officials agree that many townships cannot do this. Thus the township which spends all of its levy and then doesn't collect all of it from the taxpayers will be heading into new frozen debts.

The legislature can continue to allow bond issues in the future, but tax officials say that the ability to float the issues is limited in many areas. They add that this places an extra burden of interest on the money spent for relief.

Mendelssohn Firm Files Claim on Late Head's Estate

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 18 (AP). — The banking firm of Mendelssohn & Co., which suspended payments Aug. 11 after the death in Paris of its president, Fritz Mannheimer, presented a bankruptcy petition today against his estate. Personal fortunes of the partners are liable in the event the company is adjudged bankrupt since the bank is not a corporation.

SEEK TO TAX PIPE LINE FIRM.

The Iowa secretary of state's office asked the attorney general for an opinion on whether the Natural Gas Pipe Line Company of America is liable for $11,889 franchise tax on capital investment in Iowa. The company operated a pipe line through Iowa.

MOTOR OUTPUT FALLS; PREPARE FOR NEW MODELS

Production This Week Only 12,955 Units.

With production of 1939 automobiles about to end, the current week's output of the automobile plants totaled only 12,955 cars and trucks, Ward's Automotive Reports, Inc., reported yesterday. Production last week totaled 24,875 units and in the corresponding 1938 week the total was 23,940.

Ward's said production next week will show a decided rise, as several manufacturers start turning out their 1940 models in larger volume.

Output of Chief Companies.

General Motors' assemblies this week totaled 1,215 units, compared with 1,030 last week; Chrysler produced 2,450, compared with 2,140, and Ford produced 2,025, compared with 17,000.

The Chevrolet division of General Motors is to start preliminary production in its sheet metal and motors plans at Flint on Monday. Employés will be recalled gradually to all other basic Chevrolet parts plants and it is expected that by Aug. 28 the normal working force of 12,000 at Flint will be at work.

Will Resume Assembling.

Final assembly operations at Flint and at the company's branch assembly plants will be resumed, it was said, as soon as a backlog of parts can be built up. The final assembly date is expected to be about or shortly after Labor day.

SPECIAL, EXTRA DIVIDENDS VOTED BY 2 COMPANIES

Utility Makes Payments Against Arrears.

Directors of the International Cellucotton Products company yesterday declared a special dividend of 37½ cents a share on the common stock in addition to the regular quarterly payment of 37½ cents. Both are payable Oct. 2 to stockholders of record Sept. 15. The company distributed 12½ cents extra on July 1.

Pacific Indemnity company continued extra dividends of 10 cents and voted the usual quarterly payment of 40 cents, both payable Oct. 1. The same disbursements were made in the three preceding quarters, and on April 1 the company paid a special dividend of 15 cents.

Utility Reduces Arrears.

Wisconsin Public Service corporation declared usual quarterly dividends of $1.75 on the 7 per cent A preferred stock, $1.62½ on the 6½ per cent B preferred, and $1.50 on the 6 per cent C preferred, all payable Sept. 20 to holders of record Aug. 31. In addition payments of similar amounts were authorized against the arrears on each issue, payable Sept. 30 to holders of record Aug. 31. This reduces the arrearage on each issue by one-third, leaving $3.50 due on the A stock, $3.25 on the B stock, and $3 on the C stock.

J. P. Pulliam, president, said the remaining delinquent amount of $431,493 due on all three issues will be paid as soon as the finances of the corporation permit.

Common Without Dividends.

No dividends have been paid since 1933 on the common stock, all of which is held by Standard Gas and Electric company.

Scranton Lace company voted 75 cents, payable on the common stock Sept. 30, against 25 cents paid in six preceding quarters.

PLENTY OF BEEF, PORK, HAM AND LAMB; YOU MAY EAT ALL YOU CAN

Washington, D. C., Aug. 18 (AP).—Plenty of beefsteak, pork chops, ham, and lamb will be available for the public the rest of this year and the first part of 1940, the agriculture department reported today.

In a general summary of the nation's live stock situation, the bureau of agricultural economics predicted that marketings of live stock in the next few months would be larger than a year earlier. Most of the increase will be in hogs and grainfed cattle, it was said, because of the large corn crop this year and the surplus corn carried over from last year's crop.

Drouth conditions in the northeast and western range areas also are expected to affect marketing. Cattle, sheep, and lambs normally fed in these regions will be marketed in larger numbers. The bureau predicted, however, that the total number of hogs, cattle, sheep, and other live stock on farms at the start of the new year would be larger than a year earlier.

WHEAT FIRMER; TRADERS AWAIT SUBSIDY EFFECT

Speculative operations in American wheat markets were at a minimum yesterday. Traders are awaiting the effect of the government export subsidy on the market before taking a decided stand on either side, brokers said. The subsidy will go into effect at noon today.

Wheat futures held within a range of about ¾ cent a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade and closed ⅛ to ¼ cent higher. Prices were slightly lower in the early trading in sympathy with the Liverpool market, where the future contracts sold at the lowest level in English money since trading was inaugurated in June, 1883. The English market closed ½ to 1 cent lower. October wheat sold at 49¾ cent a bushel at one time.

Corn followed wheat and closed ⅛ to ¼ cent lower. September oats showed relative strength in the early trading and are selling at a premium over the May delivery. This is the first time this condition has existed in August since 1907. Oat futures closed ¼ cent higher to ⅛ cent lower.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Hog prices continued to climb at the Chicago stockyards yesterday, making the fourth consecutive session that rates have been on the upgrade. This was the longest uninterrupted advance of the year. Gains for the day ranged from 10 to 20 cents, with prices unevenly 25 to 70 cents above last week's close.

Lamb prices recovered from the 1939 lows of the preceding session when supplies fell and local demand increased. Most sales were fully steady to strong, with some top loads up 10 cents. Only a few loads of cattle were offered and these brought steady to strong rates.

Wallace Appoints Two Regional Directors.

The experiment of the department of agriculture in distributing surplus farm products to relief and low-income families through the new food stamp plan is being extended throughout the nation, it was revealed yesterday. Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace has appointed regional directors for the middle west and the west coast-Rocky mountain area, and will name others for the south, east and other sections, it was announced.

The food stamp method was placed on trial several months ago, beginning in Rochester, N. Y., as a substitute for direct federal distributions through state relief agencies. Under the new plan the relief family trades at the corner grocery.

Get Some Foods Free.

Under the Rochester plan persons on relief purchase orange-colored stamps and also receive 50 cents' worth of free blue stamps which can be redeemed only in surplus foods. The grocer cashes the stamps at his bank which, in turn, collects from the federal treasury. The orange stamps are used for ordinary purchases.

Similar experiments are being tried in Seattle, Wash.; Dayton, O., and Shawnee, Okla. Another tryout will be started soon in Des Moines, Ia.

Department of agriculture officials said that retail costs of the food-stamp method of distributing surplus commodities are no greater than those of direct buying and doling out by the government.

Doubts Sufficiency of Funds.

Secretary Wallace said he had between 50 and 60 million dollars to spend on the stamp scheme, but doubted if the funds were sufficient to permit adoption of the plan by all the cities which have applied for it.

Foods now on the surplus list include butter, eggs, corn meal, dried prunes, dry beans, wheat and whole wheat flour, oranges, grapefruit, rice, cabbage, fresh peaches, fresh green peas, fresh tomatoes, onions, lard and vegetable shortening. The list will vary with the seasons.

ELECTROGRAPHIC.

Please give me information about Electrographic corporation, listed on the New York Curb.—W. K.

Answer: Earnings of Electrographic corporation have been fairly satisfactory since the years of severest depression. While the company had losses in 1932 and 1933, net income in each year since then has been equal to more than $1 a share on each share of common stock.

| 1935 | *$ 90,906 | *$1.34 | $..... |
| 1933 | *16,782 | *.67 | ..... |
| 1934 | 248,975 | 1.65 | ..... |
| 1935 | 258,581 | 1.81 | .50 |
| 1936 | 221,446 | 1.49 | 1.65 |
| 1937 | 282,997 | 2.03 | 1.85 |
| 1938 | 197,524 | 1.32 | 1.00 |

*Deficit.

The company has no funded debt. Preceding the common in the capitalization are 5,931 outstanding shares of 7 per cent $100 par cumulative preferred stock. Dividends on this stock were deferred in 1932 and 1933, were made up in 1934 and 1935, and payments at the regular rate have continued since that time. There are 118,022 shares of $1 par common outstanding.

Financial position is satisfactory. At Dec. 31, 1938, current assets were $318,038 and current liabilities $212,465, leaving indicated working capital of $705,573. Net income for the first six months this year was $223,805, or $1.72 a common share, against $134,395, or 96 cents a common share in the same period last year.

Electrographic plans commercial advertising campaigns, manufactures electrotypes and stereotypes used in production of advertisments, and provides similar services pertaining to advertising and promotion.

MORE ABOUT ARMOUR.

Do the recent remarks in your column on dividend arrears on the 7 per cent preferred stock of Armour of Illinois apply also to the 7 per cent preferred of Armour of Delaware? Is the Delaware company an independent organization? Are the profits of the Delaware company turned over to the Illinois company?

Answer:

1. Dividends on the 7 per cent preferred stock of Armour of Delaware are guaranteed by Armour of Illinois. Payments on this stock are prior to payments on the Illinois company stocks.

2. All the common stock of the Delaware company is owned by the Illinois company. Officers and management of both companies are the same.

3. Income of the Delaware company is combined in the consolidated net income account of the Illinois company and its subsidiaries. Dividends on the Delaware company's common naturally are all paid to the Illinois company. In the last fiscal year there was no payment, but in the 1937 fiscal year this totaled $8,000,000 and in the 1936 fiscal year $2,000,000.
